Truman Takes Issue With GOP Savings Claims

President Orders Study Of His Own

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. — (AP) — President Truman today challenged the economy claims of the Republican Congress and announced "a detailed and exhaustive study" of his own.

When that is completed, he declared, he will give his own version of what Congress did about economy—an issue that promises to figure in next year's presidential campaign.

The President read a statement to his news conference saying that "none of the predictions I have seen" give any proper picture of federal spending in the new fiscal year.

He took a stand against "any hasty predictions on the amount of so-called 'savings' effected by the Congress in the 1948 budget until all the facts are in."

Republican economy claims, disputed by the Democrats, range variously to as high as $6,600,000,000 for the fiscal year, which began July 1.

Mr. Truman cited a number of "shifts and changes" voted by Congress in his budget plans for spending $37,500,000,000 in the fiscal year, and continued:

"What is most important, however, is the fact that none of the predictions I have seen properly related congressional changes in appropriations to estimated expenditures for 1948.

"In the last analysis, the American people are more interested in how much their government will actually spend during this fiscal year than they are in shifts and changes in the appropriations structure.

"For these reasons, I have ordered a detailed and exhaustive study of all the facts. When this is completed, I shall issue a review and analysis, supported by detailed tables and summaries, which will bring up-to-date revised estimates of receipts and expenditures for this fiscal year."

Truman Names Ching To Head Labor Agency

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. — (AP) — President Truman today appointed Cyrus Stuart Ching, a Republican, to head the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service — the new agency created by the Taft-Hartley Labor Act to ward off work stoppages in labor-management disputes.

It comes into existence August 22. Independent of the Labor Department, it will replace the department's United States Conciliation Service which has operated under Edgar L. Warren.

Ching is a 71-year-old industrial relations expert of New York City. He has been director of industrial and public relations for the United States Rubber Company since 1929. His selection for the post was widely rumored beforehand.

The Taft-Hartley law says the personnel of the present conciliation service shall be transferred to the new agency. Ching will have authority to make such changes as he wishes. He will be subject to orders from no one except President Truman. His salary will be $22,000 a year.

R. And O. Loan Inquiry Report To Be Withheld

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said tonight a Senate Banking Subcommittee has decided to withhold a report of an inquiry into an $80,000,000 RPC loan to the Baltimore and Ohio Railway pending a full investigation of the RPC.

McCarthy so informed Sen. Tobey (R-N.H.), chairman of the full committee, who had protested against "supressing" any report. Tobey last weekend raised the question of "unethical influence" behind suppression.

McCarthy said the group felt it would be wiser to make "a complete report" on the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Congress appropriated $50,000 for this RFC inquiry.

U. Of Md. Report Sees U.S. Overwhelmed By "Russian Europe," Industrial Asia

America Weakened By Luxury Forecast

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 7 (AP) — A grim forecast of a United States weakened by luxury and a declining birth rate overwhelmed within a century by reborn, Russian-dominated Europe and an industrialized Asia was published today by the University of Maryland.

The pamphlet, entitled "The Population Prospect in Relation to the World's Agricultural Resources," was written by O. E. Baker, former Agriculture Department authority on population trends and now a geography professor at the university.

This is the way he foresees the future:

The United States will be facing, within a century, an Orient doubled in population, largely industrialized, youthful in age distribution, vigorous and probably no less resentful than now of a United States immigration policy that excludes Orientals.

United Europe Seen

Across the Atlantic, this country probably will be facing a united Europe having a population perhaps 10 times our own, perhaps nationalized under Russian leadership, youthful and probably as resentful against the immigration policy as the Orientals.

The United States, "weakened by the love of luxury and ease and by a decline in the integrity of the family as an institution for the reproduction of the race," may have fewer people than today.

"Can 100,000,000 people, let us say, living in relative luxury and with an abnormally high proportion of aged persons, keep out one to two billion people in the Orient possessing an industrial power many times greater than at present?" Baker asks. "On the other hand, across the Atlantic, a new Europe, probably consolidated by that time under one government, may well have a billion people, half or more Russian."

Hopes For "Peaceful" Change

Baker answered thus:

"A people who do not care to have children will gradually cease to exist and other peoples with greater love of life and children, with more thought to the future and greater sense of responsibility, cannot be blamed if they press into a partial vacuum."

Baker expressed hope that "this penetration will be peaceful." He added:

"Perhaps by that time it will be welcomed, as it was a century ago."

KODIAK-BASED NAVY PLANE CARRYING 20 IS REPORTED MISSING

KODIAK, Alaska, Aug. 7 (AP)—Army and Navy planes and surface craft joined today in a wide search for a Navy PBY-5-A which has been missing with 20 persons since last night on a flight to Dutch Harbor, 600 miles to the west.

The Kodiak-based plane carried 15 passengers and a crew of five.

Hopes for a safe water landing were dimmed by reports of heavy seas along the route. Stormy weather handicapped today's search.

Navy headquarters reported that the plane last reported it was on the beam 150 miles from Dutch Harbor, at the eastward end of the Aleutian chain, at 10:45 p. m. with six hours gasoline supply. The ceiling was low and there was about a mile's visibility.

Party Chieftains Take To Airwaves

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—GOP Chairman Carroll Reece said tonight the record of the 80th Congress proves the Republican Party "will keep faith with the American people."

On the other hand, Gael Sullivan, executive director of the Democratic National Committee, said the Republicans in Congress "played horse-and-buggy politics in the age of the atom bomb."

Sullivan argued: "Republicans feel that any program for the mass of people should be deferred until next year so that it will have some sort of weighted effect on voters."

The two party chieftains took to the airwaves an hour apart on different networks. Reece, in a speech for the ABC network said it took a Republican Congress to bring about unification of the armed forces.

He declared that "for years" the Democrats "have talked about unification" but it was not until the last session, when the GOP was in control, that "a Republican Congress translated that talk into action."

Sullivan, in his speech for broadcast over CBS, said the Republi-

Law Interrupts Romance Between Divorced Mother, 16-Year-Old Boy

DETROIT, Aug. 7 (AP) — Red-haired Mrs. Dolly Cox, 24, a divorced mother, and a 16-year-old Dayton, Ohio, high school boy were held by police today as the law interrupted a romance.

Police Sgt. Edward Crimmins said that Mrs. Cox, former Tennessean, described the youth, Louis Kotonis, as her intended bridegroom, and that both declared their love for each other. Mrs. Cox has a three-year-old daughter.

"He's my man," Crimmins said Mrs. Cox remarked. "I love him and I am going to have him, one way or another, even if I have to wait until he's 21."

Detained in the women's police division lockup, Mrs. Cox was held on an Ohio warrant charging her with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Officers at the juvenile detention home, where Louis was held, reported the boy expressed hope of going to Tennessee or Kentucky with Mrs. Cox so they "wouldn't have any trouble getting married."

The two were arrested here at the home of the relatives of Mrs. Cox. Officers said Mrs. Cox had agreed to waive extradition to Ohio and that she and Louis would be returned after signing of her court waiver tomorrow.

Mrs. Cox and Louis were said to have met in Dayton after the young woman had moved there from Greenville, Tenn. "Family objections," police said, interfered with their marriage plans in Dayton and they came here by bus from Dayton yesterday.

Louis, a high school freshman, was held without charge.

Midwest's Heat Wave Broken; Death Toll 133

[By The Associated Press]

The Midwest's longest and most severe heat wave was virtually broken Thursday as deaths attributed to the heat and humidity rose to 133 across the country.

Cool, dry air from Canada provided the relief, however, and the sun-baked corn belt still was in need of general, soaking rains.

The cool air had spread from the Great Plains States to Central Illinois and Northern Indiana Thursday and forecasters said it still was moving southward and eastward.

Mind Found Unsound

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP) — Clifton Spires, 39, who was seized with a pistol in his pocket at the Capitol July 23 just after President Truman visited the Senate chamber, was found of unsound mind by a Municipal Court jury today and ordered to a hospital for treatment.

Odom Heads For Paris On Round-World Flight

WANT TO TALK TO ODOM ON HIS WORLD FLIGHT? JUST USE TELEPHONE

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP) — Anyone in the United States can talk to Bill Odom on his globe-circling flight.

All you have to do is telephone long distance, ask for the overseas operator, and tell her you want the Reynold's Bombshell, which is Odom's plane.

Telephone calls to the plane are handled by the Bell System's ship-to-shore relay at New York.

Of course, it might be a good idea before placing the call to ask the operator how much it will cost.

Chicago-To-Gander Lap Takes 5 Hours

GANDER, Nfld., Friday Aug. 8 (AP)—Terse message—"Flying at 19,000 feet, everything OK"—was received early today from William P. Odom, speeding over the North Atlantic in his twin-engined Bombshell in an effort to cut the round-the-world solo flight record set in 1933 by the late Wiley Post.

The message was relayed here from an American Overseas Airways plane which picked up Odom's message in mid-Atlantic. It was timed 1.01 a. m. ADT (10:31 p. m. EST) and if Odom had maintained his speed it would put him more than 1,500 miles from Gander en route to Paris.

GANDER, Nfld, Aug. 7 (AP)—William U. Odom headed across the Atlantic in his twin-engined Bombshell tonight on the second lap of his effort to cut in half the round-the-world flight record set in 1933 by the late Wiley Post.

Taking off from Gander at 7:11 p. m., E. S. T., after a five hour and 18-minute flight from Chicago and an hour's stopover, Odom said his next stop would be Paris.

Flies 325 Miles An Hour

En route from Chicago, the Bombshell flew 325 miles an hour at 19,000 feet.

The 27-year-old former British Ferry Command officer established a world's non-solo globe-circling record of 78 hours and 55½ minutes in the same plane last April with Milton Reynolds, Chicago pen manufacturer, as a passenger and T. Carroll Sallee as flight engineer. He hopes to complete his solo flight in 90 to 94 hours. Post's record is 186 hours.

His flight plan calls for stops at Paris, Cairo, Karachi, Calcutta, Shanghai, Tokyo, Anchorage, Alaska, or Adak in the Aleutians; Edmonton and Alberta, Can., and return to Chicago.

Plane Ground Tested

The Bombshell had 1,500 gallons of fuel at the departure from Chicago. Its maximum fuel load is 2,460 gallons.

As Odom set his aircraft down at this huge base in the northeastern corner of Newfoundland, ground crews rushed out to refuel the plane and make a complete ground test.

Odom grabbed a hasty meal and checked over his aircraft himself before roaring down the runway exactly one hour after landing.

Churchill Urges Defeat Of Attlee "Crisis Measure"

Test Vote Indicates Motion's Rejection

LONDON, Aug. 7 (AP) — Winston Churchill gave notice tonight that his Conservatives will try to throw out the Labor government's request for what he called "unlimited and undefined powers" to deal with Britain's economic difficulties.

The big Labor majority overrode Conservative criticism of the government's emergency program tonight in a test vote, 318 to 170, however, which apparently foreshadowed defeat of the Churchill motion. The vote came on a routine adjournment motion.

The Churchill motion to reject the government-proposed legislation was brought forward at the height of a crucial House of Commons debate on Prime Minister Attlee's rigorous strength-through-sacrifice program. It was followed by disclosure that the ailing former Prime Minister, who had intended to take no active part in the debate, would assail the Attlee measures personally tomorrow.

Adjournment Postponed

Parliament's scheduled adjournment for a summer recess was postponed from tomorrow until next Wednesday, however, to allow time for passage of the "crisis bill," and it seemed certain to pass. Although Conservative spokesmen said their party would vote solidly against it, Labor's large majority seemed sufficient despite some left-wing criticism that the program was "too little and too late." The bill would reinforce and extend the government's power — retained from war time — to direct labor into "necessary" industries, intervene in "inefficient" industries and otherwise take steps deemed necessary for the national good.

Attlee yesterday described his plan as involving "some measure" of labor control and "some sacrifice" of personal liberty in order to win a "second battle of Britain."

Churchill's counter-move came along with three significant developments in the government's struggle against an intensifying crisis.

Further Cut In Armed Forces

1. Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton announced in the House of Commons a further cut in the armed forces. Service personnel will be reduced to 870,000 by the end of 1948, he said.

2. The British Treasury announced that 75 per cent of the earnings of foreign films — most of them produced in Hollywood — would be taken by the government in the form of taxes, not merely "frozen" as Attlee's speech indicated yesterday.

3. The executive of the National Union of Mine Workers recommended that miners, on a five-day week since spring after the government took over the pits, work at least two Saturdays a month.

"Mrs. Maryland" Contest

BALTIMORE, Aug. 7 (AP) — "Mrs. Maryland," the ideal Free State housewife, will be crowned during the Maryland Better Homes Exposition September 19-28, B. Franklin Hearn, president of the Real Estate Board of Baltimore, announced today.

Jealous Admirer Kills Widow, Takes Own Life

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Aug. 7 (AP)—A jealous admirer accosted Mrs. Olive Abbey Bradley on the street as she was on her way to work this morning, shot the 41-year-old widow to death and killed himself.

State's Attorney Charles Edmondson identified the suitor as Henry H. Collins, 57-year-old operator of an automobile repair shop in the nearby village of Secretary.

Dr. Joseph K. Shriver, Dorchester County medical examiner, issued a certificate of murder and suicide.

Mrs. Bradley was on her way to work at about 8 a. m. at a shirt factory, the state's attorney said, when Collins crossed the street from his garage, spoke to her for a few moments, then produced the pistol and shot her twice in the arm, knocking her to the ground.

Collins fired twice more, Edmondson reported, shooting the woman in the head. He then crossed the street, shot himself once, and fell dead in front of his garage.

Controls Restored

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP) —The Commerce Department tonight announced restoration of wartime export controls on 40 to 50 steel products effective October 1.

Named To Atom Post

Niece Of Boston Braves Baseball Club President Missing From Her Home

Girl's Father Scoffs At Kidnaping Theory

FALMOUTH, Mass., Aug. 7, (AP)—Four-year-old Nancy Perini, niece of President Lou Perini of the Boston Braves baseball club, disappeared from her home late today—but her father, Charles Perini, scoffed at suggestions she might have been kidnaped.

"I can't understand why anybody would do a thing like that," Perini himself a stockholder in the Braves, told newsmen as National Guardsmen from Camp Edwards joined police, Boy Scouts and volunteers in a search party.

A state police automatic printer message said the youngsters, one of four children in the Charles Perini family, "either wandered away or was taken in an automobile."

Darkness Halts Search

Two truckloads of troops from the 43rd Infantry Division—a National Guard outfit made up of men from Connecticut, Rhode Island, Maine and Vermont——came over the road to help search, but Police Chief Harold L. Baker called off the hunt about 9:30 p. m. when increasing darkness made further search impossible.

The child's father, rejecting any suggestion of kidnaping and preferring not to think the youngster had drowned, appeared to believe, in talks with reporters, that she had wandered off into woods behind the Perini summer home.

Father's Story

The father gave this account of the disappearance:

"The lady that takes care of her saw her playing out in the backyard. She had seen her out there about 10 minutes previously. But when she went out to call her, Nancy wasn't there.

"Somebody told us they saw her walking up the street, but you know how kids are—you can't tell."

Perini said the family's summer home is "right on the water" at Buzzard's Bay but added——"I can't believe she's in the water."

Army Promotion System Placed On Merit Basis

President Signs Bill For Reforms

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — (AP) — All Army officers will have to prove their right to be promoted, rather than rely on seniority to advance them, under a new law signed today by President Truman.

The promotion-by-merit law also covers Admirals. The system already was in effect for other grades in the Navy.

The law is intended to weed out the less fit and replace them with the better qualified.

The legislation, in the words of the House Armed Services Committee, "will offer careers satisfactory enough to attract capable men, promising enough to hold in service the capable men already in uniform."

Boards To Recommend Promotions

It provides for promotion of Army officers based upon the recommendations of boards of officers passing on their qualifications.

Officers in the grades of first lieutenant, captain, major and lieutenant colonel heretofore have been promoted automatically, after specified length of service and finally to the rank of colonel as vacancies occurred.

Now any officer through the rank of major who fails twice in a row of winning recommendation for promotion will be dropped from service.

Selection boards will recommend the "best qualified officers" from among officers in the next lower grade to be colonels, brigadier generals and major generals. Those who fail of recommendation for promotion after specific periods of service in these grades would be retired.

James A. Kilian Case

An illustration of how the old promotion system worked was afforded in the case of James A. Kilian, who was court-martialed and fined on charges involving cruelty to American prisoners by men under his command at Lichfield, England.

Because of his length of service, Kilian was automatically up for promotion to the permanent rank of colonel along with others of like seniority. However, the Senate balked at confirming the list so long as Kilian's name was there and President Truman removed it.

Kidnaping Warrant For Negro Sworn Out

EASTON, Md., Aug. 7 (AP) — County authorities swore out a kidnaping warrant today and asked police between here and New York to look for a 39-year-old negro tenant farmer and a 15-year-old white girl who disappeared with him.

Deputy Sheriff Tom Stewart said Cornelius Ellsworth Whiting and the girl were seen last night heading here from the nearby town of Wye Mills. Stewart said he learned the man's wife left him recently because of his attentions to the girl.

The search was extended to New York when police learned Whiting formerly lived there.

Agree To Let Sworn Charge, Denial Stand

Committee Rules Matter Is Closed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7, (AP)—The Hughes-Brewster battle came to a stormy, inconclusive close tonight after Howard Hughes flung out fresh accusations of "lies" and "ulterior motives" in a Senate investigation of his war contracts.

Sen. Brewster (R-Me), chairman of the Senate War Investigating Committee, stood on his denial that he had offered to call off the inquiry if Hughes would agree to merge his Trans World Airline with Pan American Airways.

And by agreement of the two antagonists, the committee closed that phase of its inquiry after two tense days — the sworn charge and its sworn denial standing on the record.

The agreement followed half an hour's wrangling at the close of the day over what the committee should do about the conflict.

"I don't have the strength to go on," said Hughes, complaining he got only two hours' sleep last night. "I feel that Sen. Brewster is not telling the truth. I think that if I had the opportunity to cross-examine him, I could prove it."

He advanced two alternatives:

1. That the particular issue — the truth or falsity of their contrasting statements — be dropped without further questions.

2. That Brewster be required to give a yes-or-no answer to questions Hughes raised about the Senator's previous testimony.

Matter Is Ruled Closed

Brewster said he was "quite willing" to do whatever the committee decided.

Sen. Pepper (D-Fla), finally turned to Hughes and asked:

"Sen. Brewster says he is willing to let this issue stand on the record as it now is. Is that agreeable to you?"

Hughes said it was, and Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of the subcommittee, announced:

"The chair will now rule this matter is now closed."

Ferguson said that the committee will turn tomorrow morning to the investigation of Hughes' $18,000,000 cargo plane contract, and then go into the $22,000,000 photo reconnaissance plane contract.

One of Hughes' parting shots was the accusation of "ulterior motives" in the inquiry. He quoted a Senate agent as having said, "We're out to get Elliott Roosevelt."

The agent he mentioned, Francis Flanagan, investigator for the Senate War Investigating Committee, flung back a denial.

Like "Blackmail" Hughes Says

Hughes testified that "I feel I was being blackmailed" by Sen. Brewster as chairman of the full committee and called Brewster's disclaimer "a pack of lies."

He has said, and Brewster has denied, that the Senator offered to call off the inquiry if Hughes would merge his Trans World Airline with Pan American Airways and support a bill to set up a single American line in overseas operations.

This also happened in a day that produced threats to clear the hear-

Over 80,000 Of Nation's Auto Workers Are Idle

DETROIT, Aug. 7 (AP)—More than 80,000 of the nation's automotive workers were idle today as the result of a combination of labor disputes, materials shortages and absenteeism, the latter ascribed somewhat broadly to excessive heat.

Meanwhile production fell off sharply from last week, figures compiled by the trade paper Automotive News showing 79,647 units this week compared with last week's 95,711.

Layoffs for 55,500 Ford, Mercury and Lincoln plant workers and 10,000 Studebaker Corporation hourly-rated employes have been attributed by management spokesmen to a strike of 7,000 Murray Corporation of America production men.

Bonus, Baltimore Stadium Issues Brought Up At Legion Convention

BALTIMORE, Aug. 7—(AP)—Cash bonuses for war veterans were injected as an issue when delegates to the 29th annual convention of the Maryland American Legion got down to business today.

The resolutions committee also got a proposal from a Baltimore post that the convention go on record regarding a site for Baltimore's new stadium and another asking the Veterans Administration to establish three new hospitals in Maryland.

The hospital resolution, submitted by Charles M. Sinclair, of Baltimore, said there is an "urgent need" for institutions at or near Baltimore with 1,000 beds and others on the Eastern Shore and in Western Maryland, each with 200 to 300 beds.

Samuel J. Cohen, 52-year-old Hagerstown businessman and World War I veteran who has been commander of the Western Maryland district for the past year and is campaigning for the state commander's post, said he would introduce a bonus resolution.

It would propose that the Legion sponsor a bill at the next session of the General Assembly for a cash payment.

Cohen said he also favors a proposal that veterans of World War I be paid a pension when they reach 55 or 60.

The stadium question was brought up by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Post, largest in Baltimore. It suggested that the convention back the present location of Baltimore's Municipal Stadium as the site for a new athletic plant.

A Baltimore stadium committee has proposed that the state and city join in the erection of a giant stadium as a memorial to war veterans and there has been some talk of moving at least to the edge of the city.

Tonight's contests at the stadium for junior and senior drum and bugle corps was an entertainment high spot of the four-day program which winds up with the election of new officers Sunday.

Truman Takes Issue With GOP Savings Claims

President Orders Study Of His Own

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. — (AP) — President Truman today challenged the economy claims of the Republican Congress and announced "a detailed and exhaustive study" of his own.

When that is completed, he declared, he will give his own version of what Congress did about economy—an issue that promises to figure in next year's presidential campaign.

The President read a statement to his news conference saying that "none of the predictions I have seen" give any proper picture of federal spending in the new fiscal year.

He took a stand against "any hasty predictions on the amount of so-called 'savings' effected by the Congress in the 1948 budget until all the facts are in."

Republican economy claims, disputed by the Democrats, range variously to as high as $6,600,000,000 for the fiscal year, which began July 1.

Mr. Truman cited a number of "shifts and changes" voted by Congress in his budget plans for spending $37,500,000,000 in the fiscal year, and continued:

"What is most important, however, is the fact that none of the predictions I have seen properly related congressional changes in appropriations to estimated expenditures for 1948.

"In the last analysis, the American people are more interested in how much their government will actually spend during this fiscal year than they are in shifts and changes in the appropriations structure.

"For these reasons, I have ordered a detailed and exhaustive study of all the facts. When this is completed, I shall issue a review and analysis, supported by detailed tables and summaries, which will bring up-to-date revised estimates of receipts and expenditures for this fiscal year."

Truman Names Ching To Head Labor Agency

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. — (AP) — President Truman today appointed Cyrus Stuart Ching, a Republican, to head the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service — the new agency created by the Taft-Hartley Labor Act to ward off work stoppages in labor-management disputes.

It comes into existence August 22. Independent of the Labor Department, it will replace the department's United States Conciliation Service which has operated under Edgar L. Warren.

Ching is a 71-year-old industrial relations expert of New York City. He has been director of industrial and public relations for the United States Rubber Company since 1929. His selection for the post was widely rumored beforehand.

The Taft-Hartley law says the personnel of the present conciliation service shall be transferred to the new agency. Ching will have authority to make such changes as he wishes. He will be subject to orders from no one except President Truman. His salary will be $12,000 a year.

S. And O. Loan Inquiry Report To Be Withheld

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said tonight a Senate Banking Subcommittee has decided to withhold a report of an inquiry into an $80,000,000 RFC loan to the Baltimore and Ohio Railway pending a full investigation of the RFC.

McCarthy so informed Sen. Tobey (R-N.H.), chairman of the full committee, who had protested against "supressing" any report. Tobey last weekend raised the question of "unethical influence" behind suppression.

McCarthy said the group felt it would be wiser to make "a complete report" on the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Congress appropriated $50,000 for this RFC inquiry.

U. Of Md. Report Sees U.S. Overwhelmed By "Russian Europe," Industrial Asia

America Weakened By Luxury Forecast

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 7 (AP) — A grim forecast of a United States weakened by luxury and a declining birth rate overwhelmed within a century by reborn, Russian-dominated Europe and an industrialized Asia was published today by the University of Maryland.

The pamphlet, entitled "The Population Prospect in Relation to the World's Agricultural Resources," was written by O. E. Baker, former Agriculture Department authority on population trends and now a geography professor at the university.

This is the way he foresees the future:

The United States will be facing, within a century, an Orient doubled in population, largely industrialized, youthful in age distribution, vigorous and probably no less resentful than now of a United States immigration policy that excludes Orientals.

United Europe Seen

Across the Atlantic, this country probably will be facing a united Europe having a population perhaps 10 times our own, perhaps nationalized under Russian leadership, youthful and probably as resentful against the immigration policy as the Orientals.

The United States, "weakened by the love of luxury and ease and by a decline in the integrity of the family as an institution for the reproduction of the race," may have fewer people than today.

"Can 100,000,000 people, let us say, living in relative luxury and with an abnormally high proportion of aged persons, keep out one to two billion people in the Orient possessing an industrial power many times greater than at present?" Baker asks. "On the other hand, across the Atlantic, a new Europe, probably consolidated by that time under one government, may well have a billion people, half or more Russian."

Hopes For "Peaceful" Change

Baker answered thus:

"A people who do not care to have children will gradually cease to exist and other peoples with greater love of life and children, with more thought to the future and greater sense of responsibility, cannot be blamed if they press into a partial vacuum."

Baker expressed hope that "this penetration will be peaceful." He added:

"Perhaps by that time it will be welcomed, as it was a century ago."

KODIAK-BASED NAVY PLANE CARRYING 20 IS REPORTED MISSING

KODIAK, Alaska, Aug. 7 (AP)—Army and Navy planes and surface craft joined today in a wide search for a Navy PBY-5-A which has been missing with 20 persons since last night on a flight to Dutch Harbor, 600 miles to the west.

The Kodiak-based plane carried 15 passengers and a crew of five.

Hopes for a safe water landing were dimmed by reports of heavy seas along the route. Stormy weather handicapped today's search.

Navy headquarters reported that the plane last reported it was on the beam 150 miles from Dutch Harbor, at the eastward end of the Aleutian chain, at 10:45 p. m. with six hours gasoline supply. The ceiling was low and there was about a mile's visibility.

Party Chieftains Take To Airwaves

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—GOP Chairman Carroll Reece said tonight the record of the 80th Congress proves the Republican Party "will keep faith with the American people."

On the other hand, Gael Sullivan, executive director of the Democratic National Committee, said the Republicans in Congress "played horse-and-buggy politics in the age of the atom bomb."

Sullivan argued: "Republicans feel that any program for the mass of people should be deferred until next year so that it will have some sort of weighted effect on voters."

The two party chieftains took to the airwaves an hour apart on different networks. Reece, in a speech for the ABC network said it took a Republican Congress to bring about unification of the armed forces.

He declared that "for years" the Democrats "have talked about unification" but it was not until the last session, when the GOP was in control, that "a Republican Congress translated that talk into action."

Sullivan, in his speech for broadcast over CBS, said the Republi-

Law Interrupts Romance Between Divorced Mother, 16-Year-Old Boy

DETROIT, Aug. 7 (AP) — Redhaired Mrs. Dolly Cox, 24, a divorced mother, and a 16-year-old Dayton, Ohio, high school boy were held by police today as the law interrupted a romance.

Police Sgt. Edward Crimmins said that Mrs. Cox, former Tennessean, described the youth, Louis Totonis, as her intended bridegroom, and that both declared their love for each other. Mrs. Cox has a three-year-old daughter.

"He's my man," Crimmins said Mrs. Cox remarked. "I love him and I am going to have him, one day or another, even if I have to wait until he's 21."

Detained in the women's police division lockup, Mrs. Cox was held on an Ohio warrant charging her with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Officers at the juvenile detention home, where Louis was held, reported the boy expressed hope of going to Tennessee or Kentucky with Mrs. Cox so they "wouldn't have any trouble getting married."

The two were arrested here at the home of the relatives of Mrs. Cox. Officers said Mrs. Cox had agreed to waive extradition to Ohio and that she and Louis would be returned after signing of her court waiver tomorrow.

Mrs. Cox and Louis were said to have met in Dayton after the young woman had moved there from Greenville, Tenn. "Family objections," police said, interfered with their marriage plans in Dayton and they came here by bus from Dayton yesterday.

Midwest's Heat Wave Broken; Death Toll 133

[By The Associated Press]

The Midwest's longest and most severe heat wave was virtually broken Thursday as deaths attributed to the heat and humidity rose to 133 across the country.

Cool, dry air from Canada provided the relief, however, and the sun-baked corn belt still was in need of general, soaking rains.

The cool air had spread from the Great Plains States to Central Illinois and Northern Indiana Thursday and forecasters said it still was moving southward and eastward.

Mind Found Unsound

Odom Heads For Paris On Round-World Flight

WANT TO TALK TO ODOM ON HIS WORLD FLIGHT? JUST USE TELEPHONE

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP) — Anyone in the United States can talk to Bill Odom on his globe-circling flight.

All you have to do is telephone long distance, ask for the overseas operator, and tell her you want the Reynold's Bombshell, which is Odom's plane.

Telephone calls to the plane are handled by the Bell System's ship-to-shore relay at New York.

Of course, it might be a good idea before placing the call to ask the operator how much it will cost.

Chicago-To-Gander Lap Takes 5 Hours

GANDER, Nfld., Friday Aug. 8 (AP)—Terse message—"Flying at 19,000 feet, everything OK"—was received early today from William P. Odom, speeding over the North Atlantic in his twin-engined Bombshell in an effort to cut the round-the-world solo flight record set in 1933 by the late Wiley Post.

The message was relayed here from an American Overseas Airways plane which picked up Odom's message in mid-Atlantic. It was timed 1.01 a. m. ADT (10:31 p. m. EST) and if Odom had maintained his speed it would put him more than 1,500 miles from Gander en route to Paris.

GANDER, Nfld, Aug. 7 (AP)—William U. Odom headed across the Atlantic in his twin-engined Bombshell tonight on the second lap of his effort to cut in half the round-the-world flight record set in 1933 by the late Wiley Post.

Taking off from Gander at 7:11 p. m., E. S. T., after a five hour and 18-minute flight from Chicago and an hour's stopover, Odom said his next stop would be Paris.

Flies 325 Miles An Hour

En route from Chicago, the Bombshell flew 325 miles an hour at 19,000 feet.

The 27-year-old former British Ferry Command officer established a world's non-solo globe-circling record of 78 hours and 55½ minutes in the same plane last April with Milton Reynolds, Chicago pen manufacturer, as a passenger and T. Carroll Sallee as flight engineer. He hopes to complete his solo flight in 90 to 94 hours. Post's record is 186 hours.

His flight plan calls for stops at Paris, Cairo, Karachi, Calcutta, Shanghai, Tokyo, Anchorage, Alaska, or Adak in the Aleutians; Edmonton and Alberta, Can., and return to Chicago.

Plane Ground Tested

The Bombshell had 1,500 gallons of fuel at the departure from Chicago. Its maximum fuel load is 2,460 gallons.

As Odom set his aircraft down at this huge base in the northeastern corner of Newfoundland, ground crews rushed out to refuel the plane and make a complete ground test.

Test Vote Indicates Motion's Rejection

LONDON, Aug. 7 (AP) — Winston Churchill gave notice tonight that his Conservatives will try to throw out the Labor government's request for what he called "unlimited and undefined powers" to deal with Britain's economic difficulties.

The big Labor majority overrode Conservative criticism of the government's emergency program tonight in a test vote, 318 to 170, however, which apparently foreshadowed defeat of the Churchill motion. The vote came on a routine adjournment motion.

The Churchill motion to reject the government-proposed legislation was brought forward at the height of a crucial House of Commons debate on Prime Minister Attlee's rigorous strength-through-sacrifice program. It was followed by disclosure that the ailing former Prime Minister, who had intended to take no active part in the debate, would assail the Attlee measures personally tomorrow.

Adjournment Postponed

Parliament's scheduled adjournment for a summer recess was postponed from tomorrow until next Wednesday, however, to allow time for passage of the "crisis bill," and it seemed certain to pass. Although Conservative spokesmen said their party would vote solidly against it, Labor's large majority seemed sufficient despite some left-wing criticism that the program was "too little and too late." The bill would reinforce and extend the government's power — retained from war time — to direct labor into "necessary" industries, intervene in "inefficient" industries and otherwise take steps deemed necessary for the national good.

Attlee yesterday described his plan as involving "some measure" of labor control and "some sacrifice" of personal liberty in order to win a "second battle of Britain."

Churchill's counter-move came along with three significant developments in the government's struggle against an intensifying crisis.

Further Cut In Armed Forces

1. Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton announced in the House of Commons a further cut in the armed forces. Service personnel will be reduced to 870,000 by the end of 1948, he said.

2. The British Treasury announced that 75 per cent of the earnings of foreign films — most of them produced in Hollywood — would be taken by the government in the form of taxes, not merely "frozen" as Attlee's speech indicated yesterday.

3. The executive of the National Union of Mine Workers recommended that miners, on a five-day week since spring after the government took over the pits, work at least two Saturdays a month.

"Mrs. Maryland" Contest

Jealous Admirer Kills Widow, Takes Own Life

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Aug. 7 (AP)—A jealous admirer accosted Mrs. Olive Abbey Bradley on the street as she was on her way to work this morning, shot the 41-year-old widow to death and killed himself.

State's Attorney Charles Edmondson identified the suitor as Henry H. Collins, 57-year-old operator of an automobile repair shop in the nearby village of Secretary.

Dr. Joseph K. Shriver, Dorchester County medical examiner, issued a certificate of murder and suicide.

Mrs. Bradley was on her way to work at about 8 a. m. at a shirt factory, the state's attorney said, when Collins crossed the street from his garage, spoke to her for a few moments, then produced the pistol and shot her twice in the arm, knocking her to the ground.

Collins fired twice more, Edmondson reported, shooting the woman in the head. He then crossed the street, shot himself once, and fell dead in front of his garage.

Niece Of Boston Braves Baseball Club President Missing From Her Home

Girl's Father Scoffs At Kidnaping Theory

FALMOUTH, Mass., Aug. 7, (AP)—Four-year-old Nancy Perini, niece of President Lou Perini of the Boston Braves baseball club, disappeared from her home late today—but her father, Charles Perini, scoffed at suggestions she might have been kidnaped.

"I can't understand why anybody would do a thing like that," Perini himself a stockholder in the Braves, told newsmen as National Guardsmen from Camp Edwards joined police, Boy Scouts and volunteers in a search party.

A state police automatic printer message said the youngsters, one of four children in the Charles Perini family, "either wandered away or was taken in an automobile."

Darkness Halts Search

Two truckloads of troops from the 43rd Infantry Division—a National Guard outfit made up of men from Connecticut, Rhode Island, Maine and Vermont——came over the road to help search, but Police Chief Harold L. Baker called off the hunt about 9:30 p. m. when increasing darkness made further search impossible.

The child's father, rejecting any suggestion of kidnaping and preferring not to think the youngster had drowned, appeared to believe, in talks with reporters, that she had wandered off into woods behind the Perini summer home.

Father's Story

The father gave this account of the disappearance:

"The lady that takes care of her saw her playing out in the backyard. She had seen her out there about 10 minutes previously. But when she went out to call her, Nancy wasn't there.

"Somebody told us they saw her walking up the street, but you know how kids are—you can't tell."

Perini said the family's summer home is "right on the water" at Buzzard's Bay but added——"I can't believe she's in the water."

Army Promotion System Placed On Merit Basis

President Signs Bill For Reforms

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — (AP) — All Army officers will have to prove their right to be promoted, rather than rely on seniority to advance them, under a new law signed today by President Truman.

The promotion-by-merit law also covers Admirals. The system already was in effect for other grades in the Navy.

The law is intended to weed out the less fit and replace them with the better qualified.

The legislation, in the words of the House Armed Services Committee, "will offer careers satisfactory enough to attract capable men, promising enough to hold in service the capable men already in uniform."

Boards To Recommend Promotions

It provides for promotion of Army officers based upon the recommendations of boards of officers passing on their qualifications.

Officers in the grades of first lieutenant, captain, major and lieutenant colonel heretofore have been promoted automatically, after specified length of service and finally to the rank of colonel as vacancies occurred.

Now any officer through the rank of major who fails twice in a row of winning recommendation for promotion will be dropped from service.

Selection boards will recommend the "best qualified officers" from among officers in the next lower grade to be colonels, brigadier generals and major generals. Those who fail of recommendation for promotion after specific periods of service in these grades would be retired.

James A. Kilian Case

An illustration of how the old promotion system worked was afforded in the case of James A. Kilian, who was court-martialed and fined on charges involving cruelty to American prisoners by men under his command at Lichfield, England.

Because of his length of service, Kilian was automatically up for promotion to the permanent rank of colonel along with others of like seniority. However, the Senate balked at confirming the list so long as Kilian's name was there and President Truman removed it.

Kidnaping Warrant For Negro Sworn Out

EASTON, Md., Aug. 7 (AP) — County authorities swore out a kidnaping warrant today and asked police between here and New York to look for a 39-year-old negro tenant farmer and a 15-year-old white girl who disappeared with him.

Deputy Sheriff Tom Stewart said Cornelius Ellsworth Whiting and the girl were seen last night heading here from the nearby town of Wye Mills. Stewart said he learned the man's wife left him recently because of his attentions to the girl.

Committee Rules Matter Is Closed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7, (AP)—The Hughes-Brewster battle came to a stormy, inconclusive close tonight after Howard Hughes flung out fresh accusations of "lies" and "ulterior motives" in a Senate investigation of his war contracts.

Sen. Brewster (R-Me), chairman of the Senate War Investigating Committee, stood on his denial that he had offered to call off the inquiry if Hughes would agre to merge his Trans World Airline with Pan American Airways.

And by agreement of the two antagonists, the committee closed that phase of its inquiry after two tense days — the sworn charge and its sworn denial standing on the record.

The agreement followed half an hour's wrangling at the close of the day over what the committee should do about the conflict.

"I don't have the strength to go on," said Hughes, complaining he got only two hours' sleep last night. "I feel that Sen. Brewster is not telling the truth. I think that if I had the opportunity to cross-examine him, I could prove it."

He advanced two alternatives:

1. That the particular issue — the truth or falsity of their contrasting statements — be dropped without further questions.

2. That Brewster be required to give a yes-or-no answer to questions Hughes raised about the Senator's previous testimony.

Matter Is Ruled Closed

Brewster said he was "quite willing" to do whatever the committee decided.

Sen. Pepper (D-Fla), finally turned to Hughes and asked:

"Sen. Brewster says he is willing to let this issue stand on the record as it now is. Is that agreeable to you?"

Hughes said it was, and Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of the subcommittee, announced:

"The chair will now rule this matter is now closed."

Ferguson said that the committee will turn tomorrow morning to the investigation of Hughes' $18,000,000 cargo plane contract, and then go into the $22,000,000 photo reconnaissance plane contract.

One of Hughes' parting shots was the accusation of "ulterior motives" in the inquiry. He quoted a Senate agent as having said, "We're out to get Elliott Roosevelt."

The agent he mentioned, Francis Flanagan, investigator for the Senate War Investigating Committee, flung back a denial.

Like "Blackmail" Hughes Says

Hughes testified that "I feel I was being blackmailed" by Sen. Brewster as chairman of the full committee and called Brewster's disclaimer "a pack of lies."

He has said, and Brewster has denied, that the Senator offered to call off the inquiry if Hughes would merge his Trans World Airline with Pan American Airways and support a bill to set up a single American line in overseas operations.

This also happened in a day that produced threats to clear the hear-

Over 80,000 Of Nation's Auto Workers Are Idle

DETROIT, Aug. 7 (AP)—More than 80,000 of the nation's automotive workers were idle today as the result of a combination of labor disputes, materials shortages and absenteeism, the latter ascribed somewhat broadly to excessive heat.

Meanwhile production fell off sharply from last week, figures complied by the trade paper Automotive News showing 79,647 units this week compared with last week's 95,711.

Layoffs for 55,500 Ford, Mercury and Lincoln plant workers and 10,000 Studebaker Corporation hourly-rated employes have been attributed by management spokesmen to a strike of 7,000 Murray Corporation of America production men.

Bonus, Baltimore Stadium Issues Brought Up At Legion Convention

BALTIMORE, Aug. 7—(AP)—Cash bonuses for war veterans were injected as an issue when delegates to the 29th annual convention of the Maryland American Legion got down to business today.

The resolutions committee also got a proposal from a Baltimore post that the convention go on record regarding a site for Baltimore's new stadium and another asking the Veterans Administration to establish three new hospitals in Maryland.

The hospital resolution, submitted by Charles M. Sinclair, of Baltimore, said there is an "urgent need" for institutions at or near Baltimore with 1,000 beds and others on the Eastern Shore and in Western Maryland, each with 200 to 300 beds.

Samuel J. Cohen, 52-year-old Hagerstown businessman and World War I veteran who has been commander of the Western Maryland district for the past year and is campaigning for the state commander's post, said he would introduce a bonus resolution.

It would propose that the Legion sponsor a bill at the next session of the General Assembly for a cash payment.

Cohen said he also favors a proposal that veterans of World War I be paid a pension when they reach 55 or 60.

The stadium question was brought up by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Post, largest in Baltimore. It suggested that the convention back the present location of Baltimore's Municipal Stadium as the site for a new athletic plant.

A Baltimore stadium committee has proposed that the state and city join in the erection of a giant stadium as a memorial to war veterans and there has been some talk of moving at least to the edge of the city.

Tonight's contests at the stadium for junior and senior drum and bugle corps was an entertainment high spot of the four-day program which winds up with the election of new officers Sunday.

VFW Drum Corps Gets Eight New Members

Eight new members have enrolled in the drum and bugle corps of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, according to Carl Ryan, president.

They include, Robert Herstine, 218 Walnut Place; James H. Lewis, Frostburg; Edward M. Twigg, La-Vale; Cornelius Dye, 204 Columbia Avenue; Thomas McAteer, 25 Blair Street, Frostburg; Ralph Winner, 713 Glenmore Street; J. P. Bowman, 1305 Frederick Street; and R. W. Blake, 420 Grand Avenue.

The corps unit of 20 majorettes have begun rehearsals, Ryan said, and are showing continued progress in twirling and marching.

From 1900 through 1946 the American auto industry produced 92,073,643 vehicles.

House Takes Hand In Our Foreign Policy; Eaton Speaks

Representative Eaton, chairman of the special House committee that will study world economic problems this Summer, is entirely right in saying that this group reflects a "significant change" from the process by which American foreign policy has been formulated in the past. It is a change, however, that has come about because the United States now finds itself facing unprecedented problems.

World economic rehabilitation, as Mr. Eaton points out, must depend largely on this country—because no other nation has the necessary resources. The funds required will have to be voted by Congress. And, since money bills must originate in the House, that body is entitled to gather the facts needed in order to act intelligently.

This means that the House will mold the nation's foreign policy to a much greater degree than ever before. But it should be noted that this committee was created to study two questions raised by the initiative of the President—the way in which the "Truman doctrine" is being carried out and to what extent American aid should be provided under the Marshall Plan.

If the Administration considers that the prerogative of the Executive Department has been invaded, there has been no hint of it. As a matter of fact, it should welcome this innovation, for a study by this group should be valuable—all the more so because it will be carried out on the ground. The House will certainly act with greater confidence on a report of its own committee than on recommendations from some outside source.

Further, Rep. Eaton has spoken out bluntly and frankly about the United Nations and mentions Russia by name.

Writing in the American Magazine, he calls for a showdown with Russia within the United Nations. The United States, in his opinion, either must stop Russian expansion immediately, or fight her later.

"We can stop her," he writes, "by asserting our leadership of the Big Five group and of the smaller nations who aspire to our democratic ideals.

"We must tell the world what we stand for, and that we mean to insure the freedom of people everywhere. And invite others who believe as we do to join us in a combination against all totalitarianism in whatever form it emerges, voting out the United Nations any member who practices it.

"We must implement these high-sounding promises with action. Then it will be up to Russia. She can go along with us, and I rather think she will. . . . If she doesn't give in and behave like a civilized nation, we must read Russia out of the United Nations and proceed without her.

"I think we can still block Russia with psychology; if we don't, we must defeat her by force of arms. It time we told her so. . . . Our freedom and security are in jeopardy. Why must we wait until virtually all is lost before we resist?"

Such a statement by one of the most respected members of Congress points up Senator Taft's more judicial appraisal of American foreign policy. It presents in a nutshell the stark realism of the Russian question.

Surely it cannot be said that the Republican leadership in Congress is showing any disposition to ignore the hard facts of international life.

Because this world situation is so tense and so complicated that only the utmost frankness—both with Congress and the people—such as Mr. Eaton uses can lead to a sound and united foreign policy.

Legislative Council Pays Visit To Allegany County

Since Wednesday night, and for the remainder of this week, the Legislative Council of Maryland has been, and will be, the guest of Allegany and Garrett counties. It is the second time the Council has come to this county for its meeting, but the first time for such an extended stay.

The Council, as it is generally known, was created to make studies, between sessions of the General Assembly of Maryland, of problems confronting various sections of the state and, when possible, to gather on-the-scene data in addition to listening to the views of those appearing personally before the Council, at scheduled hearings. Information so gathered aids the group in making recommendations, or preparing and submitting measures to the Legislature covering such matters.

The members found a jam-full program awaiting them here. In addition to visits to our major industries, they are being afforded an opportunity to secure a clearer prospectus of some of the pressing problems of Allageny and Garrett counties for legislation to either correct existing situations or to provide the legislative authority to initiate what might be considered necessary undertakings.

Members of municipal governments and officials of the county have been invited to discuss problems with the Council, and to place before it a clear picture of those things in which they seek cooperation. These officials should take advantage of this opportunity in the hope of avoiding misunderstandings on proposed legislation and to prevent, as much as possible, delays in getting legislation before the General Assembly.

The coming of the members of the Council to Allegany county was at the solicitation of Senator Robert B. Kimble, a member of the Council and Republican floor leader in the Senate. He has received the hearty co-operation of many of our citizens in providing social activities to give relief from the grind of official matters.

We extend a warm welcome to the Council members and hope their coming will not prove an enjoyable visit but that they will be compensated for their time by the gained knowledge and the opportunities a close scrutiny of our county problems will afford.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

PROTECTION AGAINST UNDULANT FEVER

WHENEVER an individual suffers from a vague illness, exhibiting aching in the joints and fever, a medical examination is in order. Among the various diagnostic tests available is one for undulant fever. Unless this condition is suspected, it is frequently overlooked.

The disease, known also as "brucellosis," is acquired from our four-footed friends — cows, hogs, goats, and occasionally mares. On the farm, the disorder is called "Bang's disease" and is a common cause for miscarriages in animals. Since 15 to 20 per cent of herds are infected, it presents as serious a problem to farmers as to health authorities. Transmission to humans occurs thru unpasteurized milk and handling the flesh, as is done in slaughter houses.

Records reveal that between three to four thousand persons become afflicted each year but 10 times more probably go unrecognized or do not come to the attention of medical officers. At any rate, symptoms begin from five to 20 days after exposure. All have fever but the effect on the patient varies, depending upon the form that exists. Some are merely indisposed; others become exceedingly ill.

In the typical case, the temperature increases in a stairway fashion. The thermometer registers a little higher each day until a peak of 103 to 105 degrees F. is reached. The maximum reading takes less time than a week to develop and, thereafter, begins to subside. This constitutes one cycle and, after a short period of grace, another bout can be anticipated. Some victims have two to seven such episodes. Meanwhile, the sufferer feels irritable, cannot sleep, is achy, and sweats profusely. Many look comfortable despite a high temperature, which is in contrast to other types of fevers.

About 40 per cent encounter arthritic symptoms, especially in the knee, shoulder, or ankle joints. Sometimes these changes are the most prominent manifestations and may be misdiagnosed. By doing a blood or skin test, the cause can be determined.

There is no specific treatment but every one usually recovers in time. Fever disappears gradually altho months or years may elapse before the feeling of well-being returns. Nevertheless, certain medicines often hasten recovery and should be tried. These include brucellin (a vaccine), the sulfonamides, and streptomycin. Sometimes a combination of these preparations is of value. Experiments are continuing on various remedies and the most recent is a penicillinlike substance prepared from a mold of the aspergillus family. This antibiotic worked well in the test tube stage but so did streptomycin. Hence we must keep our fingers crossed.

The greatest amount of activity against the malady is now being waged at its source. Attempts are being made to immunize the calves and purge the herds of infected animals. This campaign resembles the one carried out 20 or 30 years ago against tuberculosis in cattle. Meanwhile, those who handle animals must protect themselves against contamination. The public can help by insisting upon pasteurized milk. If the vicinity offers only raw milk, the consumer must be assured that the cows are not diseased.

DON'T FUSS

Mrs. S. V. writes: My son runs an evening temperature of one degree or less. He apparently has nothing wrong as all tests are normal. His tonsils are out, the patch test for tuberculosis is negative, and he shows no signs of rheumatic fever. He is extremely highstrung and nervous. Could this be responsible?

REPLY

It is possible. If he is healthy, and competent physicians are satisfied that no abnormality exists, I would suggest that you stop taking his temperature and treat him like a normal boy. All this monkeying around sometimes fosters nervousness and undue anxiety in children.

LITTLE DIFFERENCE

M. Z. writes: Is a strong, healthy person just as susceptible to heart trouble as one who has never been husky?

REPLY

Yes, as there are many types of heart disease, some of which cannot be prevented by health alone.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Two firemen in Seattle, Wash., were really "eager beavers" on their job. They were in such a hurry to slide down the emergency pole they got bruised heels. I won't say they caused a lot of friction, but it took the chief two days to put the firemen out.

I really think people are taking their jobs too seriously these days. Now take the case of the small town lawyer who was picked up by the police in Los Angeles. Not merely because he chased an ambulance. He was wearing track shorts.

Then there was the overworked heart specialist who spent all day long listening to heart beats. When he got home one night and his wife tuned in Gene Krupa and his drums on the radio, he stood up, shook his head and said "That man won't live another ten years."

Of course, the two really sad cases were the guys who paid for being too enthusiastic in their work. One was an undertaker who threw himself into his work, the other a sailor who went overboard for his captain.

And spenking of sad cases, the worst of all was that of the actor.

He visited the Griffith Park Zoo and when the seals started slapping their fins together he went on and did five encores. What a waste of time. The only laugh I was getting was from the hyenas.

Secretary Of War Patterson Retires Without Promoting Faithful Aide; Utah Senators Arthur Watkins And Elbert Thomas Divided Over Abe Murdock

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—There was one thing Secretary of War Patterson did not do before he retired which a lot of people around the War Department hoped he would do—give. Col. Bob Ginsburgh the promotion long overdue him.

Colonel Ginsburgh not only fought in two world wars, but did something almost more difficult—served as assistant to various secretaries of war and undersecretaries. His last job was as executive assistant to Patterson.

When Ginsburgh took over this job, Patterson's public relations had reached rock bottom. Interviewed by GI's on Guam, shortly after V-J Day, Patterson had shown he knew absolutely nothing about demobilization, and every enlisted man in the Army seethed in protest. Morale sank to a new low.

Ginsburgh, then attached to General MacArthur in Japan, immediately was transferred to the staff of the Secretary of War. Almost immediately the change began. Not only did Patterson's press relations improve, but he became more human, more tolerant, made fewer mistakes.

Some years before, Ginsburgh had worked for Patterson, then Undersecretary of War, in boosting worker morale in war plants. Addressing thousands of meetings, Ginsburgh told workers how their product was being used, how essential it was to the war, sent labor leaders to Fort Knox to ride in jeeps and tanks, so they could go back and tell fellow workers how important their job was.

It was a great stimulus to war production.

Later Ginsburgh went to the Pacific, where MacArthur three times recommended him for promotion to Brigadier General. But the brass hats back home blocked it. Promotions to others were given out a dime a dozen.

Ginsburgh, a regular Army officer, has thirty years' service. But he began the war as a colonel, ended as a colonel. And when Patterson finally stepped out as Secretary of War, he left behind his faithful aide—without promotion.

Reason: For some religious groups, top promotions seldom occur in the regular Army.

Utah Doesn't Stick Together

The sparsely populated state of Utah doesn't get too many top jobs in Washington, so it isn't often that two Utah Senators will wrangle over the appointment of a fellow Utahn to an important post. This is exactly what happened, however, when President Truman appointed former Senator Abe Murdock to the National Labor Relations Board.

GOP Senator Arthur Watkins, who defeated Murdock in the last election, rushed in to attack Murdock's pro-labor record and succeeded in delaying Senate confirmation.

But what the public doesn't know is that Truman almost yielded to the Republicans. And it was only last-minute intervention of the other Utah Senator, Elbert Thomas, Democrat, that kept the President from giving up the fight.

Truman had taken the attitude that the Taft-Hartley Bill was the Republicans' worry. If they insisted on igoring both his veto messager and, later, his appointees, they could take the consequences. Therefore, he had planned to drop the Murdock appointment to the Labor Board.

When Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman informed Senator Thomas of this decision, the philosophical Utahn reflected for a moment, then inquired:

"Have you read Senator Watkins' statement?"

"No," Steelman admitted.

"Did you know it is an attack on President Truman, an attack on myself, an attack on labor?" Thomas continued. "Did you know that the Taft-Hartley Bill did not amend the findings and policies of the original Labor Relations Act? So the present act in theory rests on the original act. It is for us to respect the Democratic labor program."

Thomas also pointed out that the Democrats had successfully blocked a move by Senator Joe Ball, Minnesota Republican, to foist a clause in the Supplemental Appropriations Bill, taking away the President's right to make interim appointments.

"We saved this authority for the President. He ought to take advantage of it," Thomas observed.

He also reminded Steelman that Murdock was a former Senator and a good Democrat, that the President was morally obligated to stand by him.

Senator Thomas ended by pleading: "Utah is a small state. We cannot afford to divide and fight each other on a national line. You must help us unite the state on this issue."

In the end Truman agreed.

Note—Some time ago another Utahn, Republican Edgar Brossard, was up for reappointment to the Tariff Commission. Franklin Roosevelt was President then. And it was Senator Thomas who went directly to the President to fight for his fellow Utahin, even though a Republican.

Truman's Old Committee

One man who isn't enthusiastic about the Senate War Investigating Committee's bizarre handling of the Howard Hughes case is the former Chairman of the Committee—President Harry S. Truman.

When hardworking Rep. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee jokingly referred to the publicity which the old Truman Committee is getting under its new management, the President snorted: "It turned out to be a different animal than when I was running things. I am sorry to see politics getting mixed up in it."

Hitler And Mussolini Actions Are Compared To Truman's

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Hitler said: "Parties were in the way of my program. They have disappeared. Parliament objected to my reforms. It has disappeared also."

Mussolini said: "The Chamber of Deputies does not please me . . . It is an institution extraneous . . . to our feelings as Fascists."

These men vetoed not only legislation but legislatures. Their words should be read in connection with the President's veto on the tax bill.

Is America going to continue to move toward one-man rule? Hitler taxed Germany by personal decree. When Mr. Truman refused to permit Congress to reduce taxes, he, in effect, taxed America by personal decree.

For the first time in history, a President has overruled Congress on a tax bill. No respect was paid to what has been the unwritten law of this Republic for 158 years, that only the representatives of the people shall tax the people. The Boston Ttea Party said so in 1773. If we had "tea in our shoes" we would also do something equally dramatic and effective. It would have been a heartening thing if the leaders of Congress had met this challenge by boldly refusing to pass a single appropriations bill until Mr. Truman had agreed to abide by the unwritten law. Congress might then have had a place in history such as that of Hampden and Pym who threw down the tax gauntlet to Charles 1.

Blackstone said that the common law consisted of "those usages and customs which have prevailed . . . since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary." Usage and custom had left the taxing power wholly in Congress' hands. Time and again our courts have read the unwritten law into the Constitution itself.

Anglo-Saxon liberty was won when the power of the king to tax was ended. Now we are told that existing taxes can never be reduced against the will of a President and one-third of one House of Congress. Of course, Americans will not long stand for "one-third" government. They will either change Presidents or Senators. Or, if the President continues to abuse his veto power, Congress will write more and more laws that expire on a certain date so that no veto could keep them alive. Such laws could then be continued only if a majority of both Houses agree. Congress has always been forced to do this very thing.

The power to tax is the greatest power in government. It should be left in the hands of the representatives of the people.

Congressman Knutson, Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, just before the House voted 299 to 108 to override the veto, quoted in the Congressional Record the following statement by the Committee for Constitutional Government:

"To Members of Congress:

"After centuries of struggle during which English liberty had been established by parliaments wresting the taxing power from the king the founding fathers wrote into our Constitution the wise provision that taxing power and tax policy should rest in the Congress and not in the executive.

"Now the representatives of the American people, in both Houses of Congress, have twice voted overwhelmingly to reduce income taxes. This reduction is essential to provide incentive and to permit the capital accumulation needed to finance new enterprises and to expand old ones, thus providing a broader base for taxes and greater assurance of continuing employment. More important a great constitutional question is at stake.

"The President alone is the obstacle to the fulfillment of the people's will. Do you believe that the decision should rest, as provided for in the Constitution, with the people's representatives or with one man?"

Congressman Knutson said: "The points raised by this statement are unanswerable."

Labor Seeks To Avoid Not Evade Clause In Taft-Hartley Law

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—A distinct disservice is being done labor-union leaders by press dispatches which loosely refer to attempts to "evade" the provisions of the Taft-Hartley law.

An "evasion" of a tax law, for example, is criminal but an "avoidance" is legitimate, because a taxpayer may take certain deductions. When he discloses the facts concerning them in his return, he is not guilty of "evasion."

Labor-union leaders are not to be accused of seeking to "evade" the penalties of the Taft-Hartley law simply because they are seeking to "avoid" being penalized.

One of the basic purposes of any good law in the field of industrial relations is to encourage direct and intimate contact between employers and employes. To the extent that the Taft-Hartley law has been encouraging union representatives and employers to agree on procedures for the settlement of grievances or for the prevention of wildcat strikes, both sides should be applauded for a legitimate action in avoidance of litigation. There is a difference between "avoidance" and "evasion."

Thus, damage suits in themselves are not preventives of wrongful action. They are the result of unsettled disagreements in which both parties have exhausted remedies by negotiation. To set up a procedure in which both parties will avoid becoming entangled in the meshes of a penalty imposed by the law for wrongdoing is to be commended and not deplored.

Contrary to some published reports, John L. Lewis, in negotiating the coal contract, did not secure an agreement that "evaded" the law. He did rightly seek to avoid the very things on which the law would allow either party to sue for damages. To write contracts in such a way as to avoid siuts for damages is the goal of businessmen in numerous transactions every day. Again and again where one party feels damage can result from circumstances beyond his control, provisions are inserted to indemnify one or the other of the parties or both against loss.

There seems to be a good deal of incorrect reporting and comment on the provisions of the Taft-Hartley law. Some of its emanates from those who do not want to see the law succeed and who are reflecting some of the hysterical protests that arose from unions and their supporters when the new statute was passed.

Thus, there is a widespread impression, for example, that the coal miners' contract somehow "evades" the provisions of the Taft-Hartley law because the contract says the miners shall work only when they are "able and willing." Much misrepresentation on this point has been circulated throughout the country. The fact is that the "able and willing" statement is a sheer piece of propaganda implying that only by means of this stipulation in the contract can workers be saved from "involuntary servitude."

The argument about "involuntary serviture" is, of course, a fabrication. From the very first bills out of which the Taft-Hartley measure was drawn till the day it was enacted there was always a clause safeguarding the right to strike. The law as passed contains language which is a far greater protection to the worker than a thousand "able and willing" clauses that can be written in private contracts. The provision in the Taft-Hartley law says:

"Nothing in this act shall be so construed to require an individual employe to render labor or service without his consent, nor shall anything in this act be construed to make the quitting of his labor by an individual employe an illegal act; nor shall any court isssue any process to compel the performance by an individual employe of such labor or service, without his consent; nor shall the quitting of labor by an employe or employes in good faith because of abnormally dangerous conditions for work at the place of employment of such employe or employes be deemed a strike under this act."

No Basis for "Evasion" Charge

Why, in view of the foregoing language, should Mr. Lewis or the coal miners' union be accused of "evading" the provisions of the Taft-Hartley law when the coal contract refers to miners who are "able and willing to work"? The only explanation is that those who have been doing the commenting never really read the text of the law for themselves.

The only inhibition imposed by the new law is against concerted action by unions or concerted action by individuals in work stoppages which are really not individual actions at all but the result of organized discipline. Even these do not come under the ban of the Taft-Hartley law unless the unions fail to give the proper 60-day notices of the intention to strike.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

BREWSTER-HUGHES CONTROVERSY

IT REALLY makes no difference whether Senator Brewster got a free ride in Howard Hughes' airplane or whether in private conversation Brewster said this or that to Hughes. The issue is not personal. It is not between Brewster and Hughes. It is not over which one is a liar. If Senator Brewster has betrayed his oath of office, he should be investigated by the Senate, as the law provides and as the Senator has oproposed, offering to waive all immunities. But Mr. Hughes must file his charges under oath, not as press-agented stories in newspapers.

Howard Hughes pulled a clever and ingenious publicity stunt when, under attack himself, he hit out at Senator Brewster. It had all the earmarks of the professional who had Anna Held bathe in an advertised tub of milk. It was skillful public relations but it was not germane to the subject. It was a total and complete shifting from what is the public interest and concern to a high-lighted private feud.

The issue is simple: Some war contracts were not sound. Which were they? Why were they let? Who insisted upon them? Were they in the public interest, perhaps as an experimental project? If such contracts were not in the public interest, was there corruption and fraud—and by whom? That is the issue.

Only one accusation has been made against Senator Brewster which is important: Namely, that he offered to squelch the investigation. That accusation at the moment of writing has not been made under oath, either on the witness stand or in the form of an affidavit. It is either true or untrue and that should be discovered.

The Hughes-Kaiser set-up was first investigated by the Truman committee. It was allowed to die when Senator Mead of New York succeeded Senator Truman to the chairmanship of the committee in charge. When the Republicans took over the organization of the Senate, Senator Owen Brewster of Maine succeeded Senator Mead. The Hughes-Kaiser investigation, however, was not initiated by Senator Brewster. It was initiated by Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan, the most talented investigator in the Senate today. Senator Ferguson was then appointed chairman of a subcommittee to go into this contract, which he has done.

The interest of the American people can only be served by the facts. It may be true that Howard Hughes is a charming and delightful gentleman, an ingenious inventor and a patriotic capitalist. All this has nothing to do with the matter in hand. This is an investigation into war contracts. It is similar to the investigation of the Garssons. There will be many more. In fact, the entire conduct of the war ought to be investigated. It has been a costly war. How much of the cost was essential to the rational defense? How much was due to negligence and waste?

A people who cannot get an income tax cut from their government have a right to know that their money is not being wasted.

Let us call Howard Hughes, Mr. X; let us call Henry Kaiser, Mr. Y. And let us from that point on proceed with the facts without the red-herring of personalities and personal abuse. Rich men and rich firms can hire public relations counsel to abuse the public confidence, and, in my opinion, Senator Ferguson ought to make public the names of such counsel as the names of legal counsel are generally made known to the people. There would be fewer leaks of untruths, fewer tricky shenanigans if that were made a general practice.

At any rate, the people are entitled to the facts no matter who is involved. Many things were done during the war years which were wrong. Many of the wrongs were committed with the best of intentions in the hope of shortening the war and saving lives. Many wrongs were committed by criminals abusing the public confidence.

No man should be pilloried until the facts are on the record under oath. He who seeks to avoid testimony under oath acknowledges his lack of confidence in his own conduct. But the facts must come out—and no one should be protected in the search for facts.

Diversity Of Interests

A wide diversity of interests not only keep us alert and healthy, but they do more to give us genuine happiness than anything else. We were put into the world to be of use, and to be used. If we idle and drone, we are apt to fall apart, in more senses than one.

The many-sided diamond sparkles. So does the many-sided man or woman. We cannot have a single interest that does not, in some way, contribute to all other interests, so that all the elementes become so intermixed as to give a balanced character.

The most uninteresting person is the one with but a single dominant idea, or interest. Such a one soon becomes a bore, interesting no one. On the other hand the person of a dozen, or more, interests, is able to draw the undivided attention of a large number of people, and is the one welcomed by the many.

This mind of ours needs constant stimulation. A diversity of ideas and interests does this. Just as we need a variety of friends, so do we need this variety of interests to keep us alive and warmed to the reception of everything of beauty, and of everything ennobling to the mind and spirit.

Too few take time out to play. A little wholesome loafing helps to season and spark up a person. Periodic vacations are often the means of discovering many a new pleasure and many a new diversion that is taken home and made a regular part of our lives.

The more interests the mind taps the wider becomes its horizon. All the world's knowledge becomes a camping ground, where intellectual and spiritual relaxation is enjoyed, and where the ripest fruit are plucked to feed the soul.

We need a variety of contacts, too, in fact we can never have too many. Contacts with people, with towns, cities, and countries. Contacts with a variety of minds, both in life and in books. Some books are so alive!

By becoming a part of everything we meet, and by making every experience a stepping stone to a better understanding of ourselves, of other people and of all life, every interest that we acquire is woven into the very fabric of our lives, giving it solidity and worthy character.

House Takes Hand In Our Foreign Policy; Eaton Speaks

Representative Eaton, chairman of the special House committee that will study world economic problems this Summer, is entirely right in saying that this group reflects a "significant change" from the process by which American foreign policy has been formulated in the past. It is a change, however, that has come about because the United States now finds itself facing unprecedented problems.

World economic rehabilitation, as Mr. Eaton points out, must depend largely on this country—because no other nation has the necessary resources. The funds required will have to be voted by Congress. And, since money bills must originate in the House, that body is entitled to gather the facts needed in order to act intelligently.

This means that the House will mold the nation's foreign policy to a much greater degree than ever before. But it should be noted that this committee was created to study two questions raised by the initiative of the President—the way in which the "Truman doctrine" is being carried out and to what extent American aid should be provided under the Marshall Plan.

If the Administration considers that the prerogative of the Executive Department has been invaded, there has been no hint of it. As a matter of fact, it should welcome this innovation, for a study by this group should be valuable—all the more so because it will be carried out on the ground. The House will certainly act with greater confidence on a report of its own committee than on recommendations from some outside source.

Further, Rep. Eaton has spoken out bluntly and frankly about the United Nations and mentions Russia by name.

Writing in the American Magazine, he calls for a showdown with Russia within the United Nations. The United States, in his opinion, either must stop Russian expansion immediately, or fight her later.

"We can stop her," he writes, "by asserting our leadership of the Big Five group and of the smaller nations who aspire to our democratic ideals.

"We must tell the world what we stand for, and that we mean to insure the freedom of people everywhere. And invite others who believe as we do to join us in a combination against all totalitarianism in whatever form it emerges, voting out the United Nations any member who practices it.

"We must implement these high-sounding promises with action. Then it will be up to Russia. She can go along with us, and I rather think she will. . . . If she doesn't give in and behave like a civilized nation, we must read Russia out of the United Nations and proceed without her.

"I think we can still block Russia with psychology; if we don't, we must defeat her by force of arms. It time we told her so. . . . Our freedom and security are in jeopardy. Why must we wait until virtually all is lost before we resist?"

Such a statement by one of the most respected members of Congress points up Senator Taft's more judicial appraisal of American foreign policy. It presents in a nutshell the stark realism of the Russian question.

Surely it cannot be said that the Republican leadership in Congress is showing any disposition to ignore the hard facts of international life.

Because this world situation is so tense and so complicated that only the utmost frankness—both with Congress and the people—such as Mr. Eaton uses can lead to a sound and united foreign policy.

Legislative Council Pays Visit To Allegany County

Since Wednesday night, and for the remainder of this week, the Legislative Council of Maryland has been, and will be, the guest of Allegany and Garrett counties. It is the second time the Council has come to this county for its meeting, but the first time for such an extended stay.

The Council, as it is generally known, was created to make studies, between sessions of the General Assembly of Maryland, of problems confronting various sections of the state and, when possible, to gather on-the-scene data in addition to listening to the views of those appearing personally before the Council, at scheduled hearings. Information so gathered aids the group in making recommendations, or preparing and submitting measures to the Legislature covering such matters.

The members found a jam-full program awaiting them here. In addition to visits to our major industries, they are being afforded an opportunity to secure a clearer prospectus of some of the pressing problems of Allageny and Garrett counties for legislation to either correct existing situations or to provide the legislative authority to initiate what might be considered necessary undertakings.

Members of municipal governments and officials of the county have been invited to discuss problems with the Council, and to place before it a clear picture of those things in which they seek cooperation. These officials should take advantage of this opportunity in the hope of avoiding misunderstandings on proposed legislation and to prevent, as much as possible, delays in getting legislation before the General Assembly.

The coming of the members of the Council to Allegany county was at the solicitation of Senator Robert B. Kimble, a member of the Council and Republican floor leader in the Senate. He has received the hearty co-operation of many of our citizens in providing social activities to give relief from the grind of official matters.

We extend a warm welcome to the Council members and hope their coming will not prove an enjoyable visit but that they will be compensated for their time by the gained knowledge and the opportunities a close scrutiny of our county problems will afford.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

PROTECTION AGAINST UNDULANT FEVER

WHENEVER an individual suffers from a vague illness, exhibiting aching in the joints and fever, a medical examination is in order. Among the various diagnostic tests available is one for undulant fever. Unless this condition is suspected, it is frequently overlooked.

The disease, known also as "brucellosis," is acquired from our four-footed friends — cows, hogs, goats, and occasionally mares. On the farm, the disorder is called "Bang's disease" and is a common cause for miscarriages in animals. Since 15 to 20 per cent of herds are infected, it presents as serious a problem to farmers as to health authorities. Transmission to humans occurs thru unpasteurized milk and handling the flesh, as is done in slaughter houses.

Records reveal that between three to four thousand persons become afflicted each year but 10 times more probably go unrecognized or do not come to the attention of medical officers. At any rate, symptoms begin from five to 20 days after exposure. All have fever but the effect on the patient varies, depending upon the form that exists. Some are merely indisposed; others become exceedingly ill.

In the typical case, the temperature increases in a stairway fashion. The thermometer registers a little higher each day until a peak of 103 to 105 degrees F. is reached. The maximum reading takes less time than a week to develop and, thereafter, begins to subside. This constitutes one cycle and, after a short period of grace, another bout can be anticipated. Some victims have two to seven such episodes. Meanwhile, the sufferer feels irritable, cannot sleep, is achy, and sweats profusely. Many look comfortable despite a high temperature, which is in contrast to other types of fevers.

About 40 per cent encounter arthritic symptoms, especially in the knee, shoulder, or ankle joints. Sometimes these changes are the most prominent manifestations and may be misdiagnosed. By doing a blood or skin test, the cause can be determined.

There is no specific treatment but every one usually recovers in time. Fever disappears gradually altho months or years may elapse before the feeling of well-being returns. Nevertheless, certain medicines often hasten recovery and should be tried. These include brucellin (a vaccine), the sulfonamides, and streptomycin. Sometimes a combination of these preparations is of value. Experiments are continuing on various remedies and the most recent is a penicillinlike substance prepared from a mold of the aspergillus family. This antibiotic worked well in the test tube stage but so did streptomycin. Hence we must keep our fingers crossed.

The greatest amount of activity against the malady is now being waged at its source. Attempts are being made to immunize the calves and purge the herds of infected animals. This campaign resembles the one carried out 20 or 30 years ago against tuberculosis in cattle. Meanwhile, those who handle animals must protect themselves against contamination. The public can help by insisting upon pasteurized milk. If the vicinity offers only raw milk, the consumer must be assured that the cows are not diseased.

DON'T FUSS

Mrs. S. V. writes: My son runs an evening temperature of one degree or less. He apparently has nothing wrong as all tests are normal. His tonsils are out, the patch test for tuberculosis is negative, and he shows no signs of rheumatic fever. He is extremely highstrung and nervous. Could this be responsible?

REPLY

It is possible. If he is healthy, and competent physicians are satisfied that no abnormality exists, I would suggest that you stop taking his temperature and treat him like a normal boy. All this monkeying around sometimes fosters nervousness and undue anxiety in children.

LITTLE DIFFERENCE

M. Z. writes: Is a strong, healthy person just as susceptible to heart trouble as one who has never been husky?

REPLY

Yes, as there are many types of heart disease, some of which cannot be prevented by health alone.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Two firemen in Seattle, Wash., were really "eager beavers" on their job. They were in such a hurry to slide down the emergency pole they got bruised heels. I won't say they caused a lot of friction, but it took the chief two days to put the firemen out.

I really think people are taking their jobs too seriously these days. Now take the case of the small town lawyer who was picked up by the police in Los Angeles. Not merely because he chased an ambulance. He was wearing track shorts.

Then there was the overworked heart specialist who spent all day long listening to heart beats. When he got home one night and his wife tuned in Gene Krupa and his drums on the radio, he stood up, shook his head and said "That man won't live another ten years."

Of course, the two really sad cases were the guys who paid for being too enthusiastic in their work. One was an undertaker who threw himself into his work, the other a sailor who went overboard for his captain.

And spenking of sad cases, the worst of all was that of the actor. He visited the Griffith Park Zoo and when the seals started slapping their fins together he went on and did five encores. What a waste of time. The only laugh I was getting was from the hyenas.

Secretary Of War Patterson Retires Without Promoting Faithful Aide; Utah Senators Arthur Watkins And Elbert Thomas Divided Over Abe Murdock

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—There was one thing Secretary of War Patterson did not do before he retired which a lot of people around the War Department hoped he would do—give. Col. Bob Ginsburgh the promotion long overdue him.

Colonel Ginsburgh not only fought in two world wars, but did something almost more difficult—served as assistant to various secretaries of war and undersecretaries. His last job was as executive assistant to Patterson.

When Ginsburgh took over this job, Patterson's public relations had reached rock bottom. Interviewed by GI's on Guam, shortly after V-J Day, Patterson had shown he knew absolutely nothing about demobilization, and every enlisted man in the Army seethed in protest. Morale sank to a new low.

Ginsburgh, then attached to General MacArthur in Japan, immediately was transferred to the staff of the Secretary of War. Almost immediately the change began. Not only did Patterson's press relations improve, but he became more human, more tolerant, made fewer mistakes.

Some years before, Ginsburgh had worked for Patterson, then Undersecretary of War, in boosting worker morale in war plants. Addressing thousands of meetings, Ginsburgh told workers how their product was being used, how essential it was to the war, sent labor leaders to Fort Knox to ride in jeeps and tanks, so they could go back and tell fellow workers how important their job was.

It was a great stimulus to war production.

Later Ginsburgh went to the Pacific, where MacArthur three times recommended him for promotion to Brigadier General. But the brass hats back home blocked it. Promotions to others were given out a dime a dozen.

Ginsburgh, a regular Army officer, has thirty years' service. But he began the war as a colonel, ended as a colonel. And when Patterson finally stepped out as Secretary of War, he left behind his faithful aide—without promotion.

Reason: For some religious groups, top promotions seldom occur in the regular Army.

Utah Doesn't Stick Together

The sparsely populated state of Utah doesn't get too many top jobs in Washington, so it isn't often that two Utah Senators will wrangle over the appointment of a fellow Utahn to an important post. This is exactly what happened, however, when President Truman appointed former Senator Abe Murdock to the National Labor Relations Board.

GOP Senator Arthur Watkins, who defeated Murdock in the last election, rushed in to attack Murdock's pro-labor record and succeeded in delaying Senate confirmation.

But what the public doesn't know is that Truman almost yielded to the Republicans. And it was only last-minute intervention of the other Utah Senator, Elbert Thomas, Democrat, that kept the President from giving up the fight.

Truman had taken the attitude that the Taft-Hartley Bill was the Republicans' worry. If they insisted on igoring both his veto messager and, later, his appointees, they could take the consequences. Therefore, he had planned to drop the Murdock appointment to the Labor Board.

When Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman informed Senator Thomas of this decision, the philosophical Utahn reflected for a moment, then inquired:

"Have you read Senator Watkins' statement?"

"No," Steelman admitted.

"Did you know it is an attack on President Truman, an attack on myself, an attack on labor?" Thomas continued. "Did you know that the Taft-Hartley Bill did not amend the findings and policies of the original Labor Relations Act? So the present act in theory rests on the original act. It is for us to respect the Democratic labor program."

Thomas also pointed out that the Democrats had successfully blocked a move by Senator Joe Ball, Minnesota Republican, to foist a clause in the Supplemental Appropriations Bill, taking away the President's right to make interim appointments.

"We saved this authority for the President. He ought to take advantage of it," Thomas observed.

He also reminded Steelman that Murdock was a former Senator and a good Democrat, that the President was morally obligated to stand by him.

Senator Thomas ended by pleading: "Utah is a small state. We cannot afford to divide and fight each other on a national line. You must help us unite the state on this issue."

In the end Truman agreed.

Note—Some time ago another Utahn, Republican Edgar Brossard, was up for reappointment to the Tariff Commission. Franklin Roosevelt was President then. And it was Senator Thomas who went directly to the President to fight for his fellow Utahin, even though a Republican.

Truman's Old Committee

One man who isn't enthusiastic about the Senate War Innvestigating Committee's bizarre handling of the Howard Hughes case is the former Chairman of the Committee—President Harry S. Truman.

When hardworking Rep. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee jokingly referred to the publicity which the old Truman Committee is getting under its new management, the President snorted: "It turned out to be a different animal than when I was running things. I am sorry to see politics getting mixed up in it."

Hitler And Mussolini Actions Are Compared To Truman's

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Hitler said: "Parties were in the way of my program. They have disappeared. Parliament objected to my reforms. It has disappeared also."

Mussolini said: "The Chamber of Deputies does not please me . . . It is an institution extraneous . . . to our feelings as Fascists."

These men vetoed not only legislation but legislatures. Their words should be read in connection with the President's veto on the tax bill.

Is America going to continue to move toward one-man rule? Hitler taxed Germany by personal decree. When Mr. Truman refused to permit Congress to reduce taxes, he, in effect, taxed America by personal decree.

For the first time in history, a President has overruled Congress on a tax bill. No respect was paid to what has been the unwritten law of this Republic for 158 years, that only the representatives of the people shall tax the people. The Boston Ttea Party said so in 1773. If we had "tea in our shoes" we would also do something equally dramatic and effective. It would have been a heartening thing if the leaders of Congress had met this challenge by boldly refusing to pass a single appropriations bill until Mr. Truman had agreed to abide by the unwritten law. Congress might then have had a place in history such as that of Hampden and Pym who threw down the tax gauntlet to Charles 1.

Blackstone said that the common law consisted of "those usages and customs which have prevailed . . . since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary." Usage and custom had left the taxing power wholly in Congress' hands. Time and again our courts have read the unwritten law into the Constitution itself.

Anglo-Saxon liberty was won when the power of the king to tax was ended. Now we are told that existing taxes can never be reduced against the will of a President and one-third of one House of Congress. Of course, Americans will not long stand for "one-third" government. They will either change Presidents or Senators. Or, if the President continues to abuse his veto power, Congress will write more and more laws that expire on a certain date so that no veto could keep them alive. Such laws could then be continued only if a majority of both Houses agree. Congress has always been forced to do this very thing.

The power to tax is the greatest power in government. It should be left in the hands of the representatives of the people.

Congressman Knutson, Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, just before the House voted 299 to 108 to override the veto, quoted in the Congressional Record the following statement by the Committee for Constitutional Government:

"To Members of Congress:

"After centuries of struggle during which English liberty had been established by parliaments wresting the taxing power from the king the founding fathers wrote into our Constitution the wise provision that taxing power and tax policy should rest in the Congress and not in the executive.

"Now the representatives of the American people, in both Houses of Congress, have twice voted overwhelmingly to reduce income taxes. This reduction is essential to provide incentive and to permit the capital accumulation needed to finance new enterprises and to expand old ones, thus providing a broader base for taxes and greater assurance of continuing employment. More important a great constitutional question is at stake.

"The President alone is the obstacle to the fulfillment of the people's will. Do you believe that the decision should rest, as provided for in the Constitution, with the people's representatives or with one man?"

Congressman Knutson said: "The points raised by this statement are unanswerable."

Labor Seeks To Avoid Not Evade Clause In Taft-Hartley Law

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—A distinct disservice is being done labor-union leaders by press dispatches which loosely refer to attempts to "evade" the provisions of the Taft-Hartley law.

An "evasion" of a tax law, for example, is criminal but an "avoidance" is legitimate, because a taxpayer may take certain deductions. When he discloses the facts concerning them in his return, he is not guilty of "evasion."

Labor-union leaders are not to be accused of seeking to "evade" the penalties of the Taft-Hartley law simply because they are seeking to "avoid" being penalized.

One of the basic purposes of any good law in the field of industrial relations is to encourage direct and intimate contact between employers and employes. To the extent that the Taft-Hartley law has been encouraging union representatives and employers to agree on procedures for the settlement of grievances or for the prevention of wildcat strikes, both sides should be applauded for a legitimate action in avoidance of litigation. There is a difference between "avoidance" and "evasion."

Thus, damage suits in themselves are not preventives of wrongful action. They are the result of unsettled disagreements in which both parties have exhausted remedies by negotiation. To set up a procedure in which both parties will avoid becoming entangled in the meshes of a penalty imposed by the law for wrongdoing is to be commended and not deplored.

Contrary to some published reports, John L. Lewis, in negotiating the coal contract, did not secure an agreement that "evaded" the law. He did rightly seek to avoid the very things on which the law would allow either party to sue for damages. To write contracts in such a way as to avoid siuts for damages is the goal of businessmen in numerous transactions every day. Again and again where one party feels damage can result from circumstances beyond his control, provisions are inserted to indemnify one or the other of the parties or both against loss.

There seems to be a good deal of incorrect reporting and comment on the provisions of the Taft-Hartley law. Some of its emanates from those who do not want to see the law succeed and who are reflecting some of the hysterical protests that arose from unions and their supporters when the new statute was passed.

Thus, there is a widespread impression, for example, that the coal miners' contract somehow "evades" the provisions of the Taft-Hartley law because the contract says the miners shall work only when they are "able and willing." Much misrepresentation on this point has been circulated throughout the country. The fact is that the "able and willing" statement is a sheer piece of propaganda implying that only by means of this stipulation in the contract can workers be saved from "involuntary servitude."

The argument about "involuntary serviture" is, of course, a fabrication. From the very first bills out of which the Taft-Hartley measure was drawn till the day it was enacted there was always a clause safeguarding the right to strike. The law as passed contains language which is a far greater protection to the worker than a thousand "able and willing" clauses that can be written in private contracts. The provision in the Taft-Hartley law says:

"Nothing in this act shall be so construed to require an individual employe to render labor or service without his consent, nor shall anything in this act be construed to make the quitting of his labor by an individual employe an illegal act; nor shall any court issue any process to compel the performance by an individual employe of such labor or service, without his consent; nor shall the quitting of labor by an employe or employes in good faith because of abnormally dangerous conditions for work at the place of employment of such employe or employes be deemed a strike under this act."

No Basis for "Evasion" Charge

Why, in view of the foregoing language, should Mr. Lewis or the coal miners' union be accused of "evading" the provisions of the Taft-Hartley law when the coal contract refers to miners who are "able and willing to work"? The only explanation is that those who have been doing the commenting never really read the text of the law for themselves.

The only inhibition imposed by the new law is against concerted action by unions or concerted action by individuals in work stoppages which are really not individual actions at all but the result of organized discipline. Even these do not come under the ban of the Taft-Hartley law unless the unions fail to give the proper 60-day notices of the intention to strike.

BREWSTER-HUGHES CONTROVERSY

IT REALLY makes no difference whether Senator Brewster got a free ride in Howard Hughes' airplane or whether in private conversation Brewster said this or that to Hughes. The issue is not personal. It is not between Brewster and Hughes. It is not over which one is a liar. If Senator Brewster has betrayed his oath of office, he should be investigated by the Senate, as the law provides and as the Senator has oroposed, offering to waive all immunities. But Mr. Hughes must file his charges under oath, not as press-agented stories in newspapers.

Howard Hughes pulled a clever and ingenious publicity stunt when, under attack himself, he hit out at Senator Brewster. It had all the earmarks of the professional who had Anna Held bathe in an advertised tub of milk. It was skillful public relations but it was not germane to the subject. It was a total and complete shifting from what is the public interest and concern to a high-lighted private feud.

The issue is simple: Some war contracts were not sound. Which were they? Why were they let? Who insisted upon them? Were they in the public interest, perhaps as an experimental project? If such contracts were not in the public interest, was there corruption and fraud—and by whom? That is the issue.

Only one accusation has been made against Senator Brewster which is important: Namely, that he offered to squelch the investigation. That accusation at the moment of writing has not been made under oath, either on the witness stand or in the form of an affidavit. It is either true or untrue and that should be discovered.

The Hughes-Kaiser set-up was first investigated by the Truman committee. It was allowed to die when Senator Mead of New York succeeded Senator Truman to the chairmanship of the committee in charge. When the Republicans took over the organization of the Senate, Senator Owen Brewster of Maine succeeded Senator Mead. The Hughes-Kaiser investigation, however, was not initiated by Senator Brewster. It was initiated by Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan, the most talented investigator in the Senate today. Senator Ferguson was then appointed chairman of a subcommittee to go into this contract, which he has done.

The interest of the American people can only be served by the facts. It may be true that Howard Hughes is a charming and delightful gentleman, an ingenious inventor and a patriotic capitalist. All this has nothing to do with the matter in hand. This is an investigation into war contracts. It is similar to the investigation of the Garssons. There will be many more. In fact, the entire conduct of the war ought to be investigated. It has been a costly war. How much of the cost was essential to the rational defense? How much was due to negligence and waste?

A people who cannot get an income tax cut from their government have a right to know that their money is not being wasted.

Let us call Howard Hughes, Mr. X; let us call Henry Kaiser, Mr. Y. And let us from that point on proceed with the facts without the red-herring of personalities and personal abuse. Rich men and rich firms can hire public relations counsel to abuse the public confidence, and, in my opinion, Senator Ferguson ought to make public the names of such counsel as the names of legal counsel are generally made known to the people. There would be fewer leaks of untruths, fewer tricky shenanigans if that were made a general practice.

At any rate, the people are entitled to the facts no matter who is involved. Many things were done during the war years which were wrong. Many of the wrongs were committed with the best of intentions in the hope of shortening the war and saving lives. Many wrongs were committed by criminals abusing the public confidence.

No man should be pilloried until the facts are on the record under oath. He who seeks to avoid testimony under oath acknowledges his lack of confidence in his own conduct. But the facts must come out—and no one should be protected in the search for facts.

Diversity Of Interests

A wide diversity of interests not only keep us alert and healthy, but they do more to give us genuine happiness than anything else. We were put into the world to be of use, and to be used. If we idle and drone, we are apt to fall apart, in more senses than one.

The many-sided diamond sparkles. So does the many-sided man or woman. We cannot have a single interest that does not, in some way, contribute to all other interests, so that all the elementes become so intermixed as to give a balanced character.

The most uninteresting person is the one with but a single dominant idea, or interest. Such a one soon becomes a bore, interesting no one. On the other hand the person of a dozen, or more, interests, is able to draw the undivided attention of a large number of people, and is the one welcomed by the many.

This mind of ours needs constant stimulation. A diversity of ideas and interests does this. Just as we need a variety of friends, so do we need this variety of interests to keep us alive and warmed to the reception of everything of beauty, and of everything ennobling to the mind and spirit.

Too few take time out to play. A little wholesome loafing helps to season and spark up a person. Periodic vacations are often the means of discovering many a new pleasure and many a new diversion that is taken home and made a regular part of our lives.

The more interests the mind taps the wider becomes its horizon. All the world's knowledge becomes a camping ground, where intellectual and spiritual relaxation is enjoyed, and where the ripest fruit are plucked to feed the soul.

We need a variety of contacts, too, in fact we can never have too many. Contacts with people, with towns, cities, and countries. Contacts with a variety of minds, both in life and in books. Some books are so alive!

By becoming a part of everything we meet, and by making every experience a stepping stone to a better understanding of ourselves, of other people and of all life, every interest that we acquire is woven into the very fabric of our lives, giving it solidity and worthy character.

Former Local Girl Is Married In Somerset

Dronenburg-Zehner Wedding Announced

Miss Lydia Alverta Zehner, former Cumberland resident, daughter of Mrs. Harry Maurer, Sipesville, Pa., and the late Charles Zehner, and Robert Clifton Dronenburg, son of Mrs. Clifton Dronenburg, Rockville Md., and the late Dr. Dronenburg, were married Saturday, August 2, in Christ Lutheran Church, Somerset.

Rev. Walter D. Guss, pastor of the church, officiated at the ceremony. Miss Margaret Neely, Washington was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Dronenburg and Miss Patricia Anderson. Charles Dronenburg was best man for his brother and Dawson Watton Robert Zehner and Buford Mariz were ushers. Lana Jean Maurer was flower girl and John Edward Zehner, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, Harry Maurer, the bride was attired in a gown of white eyelet chiffon, the full skirt of which ended in a short train. Her fingertip veil was caught with a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a white prayer book with a white orchid marker from which fell a shower of white satin riboons. Her only ornament was a single strand pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor wore a lavender taffeta gown with a peplum and carried an old fashioned bouquet.

The bridesmaids were attired in identical gowns of pink and aqua and carried old-fashioned bouquets. The little flower girl wore a long yellow gown.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Walter D. Guss gave an organ recital and during the service she played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Miss Arlene Thompson, Dalton, Ohio, cousin of the bride, who sang, "Because" and "Just For Today".

Following the church ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. The table centerpiece was a tiered wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom. After the reception the couple left on a wedding trip to Canada and, upon returning, will reside in Rockville, Md.

The bride is a graduate of Grantsville High School and of Allegany Hospital School of Nurses' Training. She took a post graduate course at Catholic University, Washington, and is employed at the public health center in Silver Spring. The bridegroom, a veteran of World War II, is engaged in business in Rockville.

Elks Will Hold Picnic Sunday

Members of Cumberland Lodge No. 633, B. P. O. Elks, will hold their annual picnic Sunday afternoon from 12 o'clock until 6, at Smouses' Beach.

A softball game between the Frostburg and Cumberland Elks will be held at 12:30 o'clock and a program of games and contests for men and women will be held continuously during the afternoon.

The picnic will conclude with a dance at the Elks' Home, South Centre Street, Sunday night from 8 until 11:30. The committee in charge of arrangements includes Walter A. Fraley, chairman; Russell Campbell, Harry Tracy, A. Bergeron and John Oliver.

Chairman Named By University Women's Board

The executive board of the Cumberland Branch of the American Association of University Women met for luncheon and an afternoon of preparatory planning for the year's activities, Thursday, at the home of Mrs. John Hafer, Happy Hills Farm, Frostburg.

Russell, Jr., international relations; Miss Ruby Adams, legislation; Mrs. Joseph M. Miller, membership; Miss Elizabeth Wilton Jenkins, social; Mrs. James Weber, social studies; Mrs. Robert L. Ebert, family relations, and Mrs. Robert Troxell, program.

Nine members of the board were present at the meeting. A theme, "Looking to the Future" was chosen for the year's program.

Announcement was made of a workshop meeting to be held in Bethesda Chevy Chase, September 6, for officers and committee chairmen of local branches throughout the state.

Shower Is Given In Honor Of Mary C. Dick

Mrs. Gregory Connelly entertained with a miscellaneous shower Wednesday night at the home of her mother, Mrs. Douglas T. Ferguson, LaVale, in honor of her sister, Miss Mary Catherine Dick, who will become the bride of James Pitzer Walton this evening at 7 o'clock in St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed Church.

The bride-elect, who is the daughter of the late Rudolph Dick, is a graduate of Allegany High School and is employed in the office of Rosenbaum Brothers' Department Store.

Mr. Walton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harold Walton, 834 Gephart Drive, attended Allegany High School and spent 58 months in the navy during World War II. He is employed by the Celanese Corporation of America.

The color scheme for the shower was yellow and white and the table centerpiece was a tiered wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom. A program of bridal games was arranged. The guest of honor received many gifts.

Those who attended were Miss Helene Knittenburg, Miss Lorraine Smith, Miss Helen Lewis, Miss Josephine Lewis, Miss Hilda McMillan, Miss Joan Taxier, Miss Toby Taxier, Miss Ruth Walton, Miss Margaret Ann Walton, Miss Mary Jane Walton, Miss Ann Fisher, Miss Marianne Skelly, Mrs. Martha Walton, Mrs. Harold Walton, Mrs. Jean Likens, and Mrs. Douglas Ferguson.

Over 700 Attend Picnic Of B. & O. Veterans

Program Presented At Terra Alta

Over 700 members and guests of the Baltimore and Ohio Veterans' Association and the Ladies Auxiliary attended the annual picnic of the organization Wednesday in Terra Alta, W. Va., and were welcomed at the train by Mayor W. H. Turley, the city council and the high school band.

Automobiles were furnished by the citizens of Terra Alta to take the picnic group to the park, where a concert was given by the band. Members from Keyser, Piedmont, Brunswick and Martinsburg, as well as those from the local area, were present.

During the afternoon a special program was held in the park auditorium, with W. E. Freedland, president of the Cumberland Veterans, as toastmaster. Myers G. Light was master of ceremonies, and after giving a brief talk introduced Mayor Turley, who greeted the guests and welcomed them to the city.

Roy E. Collins, grand president of the B. and O. Veterans Association, from Staten Island, N. Y., was main speaker. He discussed various activities of the organization and concluded by thanking the citizens of Terra Alta for their hospitality. Other speakers included Mrs. Roy E. Collins, Mrs. G. A. Crass, president of the Cumberland Auxiliary, and Mrs. George W. Wenrick, chairman of the ladies' committee.

H. W. Bloss, general chairman of the picnic was introduced by Light and complimented on his work of making the picnic a success. The train crew of the special picnic train was also thanked for their service and courtesy. Prizes were awarded to the contest winners after the speaking program.

Entertainment for the afternoon included dancing, swimming and games. Dinner was served by the Ladies Group of the Brethren Church and special tables were reserved for the guests and committees sponsoring the affairs.

Two birthday cakes were used as table decorations in honor of the 19th birthday of H. W. Bloss, general chairman. A gift was also presented Bloss by the group.

The committee in charge of arrangements included H. W. Bloss, chairman; Meyers G. Light, Charles Hardy, F. A. Hartell, T. E. Simon, W. W. Seel, W. E. Freedland, Mrs. G. A. Crass, Mrs. G. Wenrich, Mrs. Hardy, Mrs. Wagner, Mrs. Seel, Mrs. Lindell and Mrs. Tracy.

The Workers Council of the Sunday School of the First Baptist Church will meet tonight at 7 o'clock at the church.

St. Luke's Church To Hold Annual Picnic Tuesday

The annual basket picnic of St. Luke's Lutheran Church will be held Tuesday, August 12, at the picnic grove of the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Buses will leave the church at 1 o'clock to take the party to the grounds.

A program of children's games will be held during the afternoon under the supervision of Mrs. Harold R. Smith and Mrs. Jack Palmer.

The basket lunch will be served at 5:30 o'clock, after which adult games have been scheduled. During the evening an entertainment program, consisting of music and community singing, will be presented under the direction of Fred Beck.

Arrangements for the picnic are being made by the Young Men's Bible Class of St. Luke's Lutheran Church. The buses will return to Cumberland at 8:30 Tuesday evening.

Hanna's Helpers Meet

Hanna's Helpers, a girls' organization of the Pinto Mennonite Church met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Isaac Metzler, Maryland Avenue. Mrs. Robert Blough was in charge of the meeting.

The group worked on a sewing project, making clothes for poor families. Three boxes of clothes were packed at the meeting and will be distributed among local families.

Plans were made for a stork shower to be held for two of the members, Friday evening, August 22, at the home of Mrs. Metzler.

Following the meeting a social was held and refreshments served. Eleven members were present.

Mock Wedding Is Feature Of Party For Miss Ayer

Barton Auxiliary Will Have Picnic

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Barton Post No. 189, American Legion, will hold a picnic Sunday, August 24, at Pleasant Valley, near New Germany, Mrs. Russell Kiddy, president, announced following the meeting of the group last night at the Legion home.

A special meeting will be held Monday, August 18, at 7:45 p. m., to make additional plans, Mrs. Kiddy stated.

Mrs. Esther O'Rourke was appointed secretary, succeeding Mrs. Madeline Miller, who resigned.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. William Stalder and children, Akron, Ohio, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Kyle.

Australian Flocks Get Dog's Goat

SYDNEY, Australia—(AP)—On some Queensland (Australia) sheep stations small herds of goats are run with the sheep to fight off attacks by dingoes (native dogs). When dingoes attack the flock, belligerent billygoats charge the dogs. The native dog long ago crossed with the domestic dog and the cross-bred wild dog is a greater menace than the dingo to pastoralists.

Nearly five million children in the United States ride school buses daily.

Mirrors For Relief

GENEVA, Switzerland — (AP) — Among unusual contributions received here by the Department of Reconstruction of the World Council of Churches was a shipment of pocket mirrors. An insurance company gave the mirrors after having to pay for them under an insurance claim because they were slightly damaged.

Polish Potatoes

WARSAW, Poland — (AP) — Poland rapidly is outstripping Soviet Russia and Germany as one of the biggest producers of potatoes in Europe, says the journal Economic Daily. Poland is expected to be able to make substantial exports of potatoes to the United Kingdom, Denmark, Austria, Switzerland and other countries.

GETTING UP NIGHTS GETTING YOU DOWN?

• Here's good news for you folk who have to get up at night to pass water, have backache, too, because of minor functional kidney disorders.

Three generations ago, a famous doctor developed a medicine for this very trouble. Now millions have used it, often with amazingly fast, effective results. The medicine is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, made of 16 herbs, roots, vegetables, and balsams — truly nature's own way to help. Instantly you take it, it starts to work flushing out kidneys . . . increases flow of urine, helping to relieve excess acidity . . . so irritated bladder gets good flushing out, too. Caution: Take as directed. You'll say it's marvelous.

William H. Deeter Dies In Hospital As Result Of Fall

By W. A. SHOEMAKER

MEYERSDALE, Pa., August 7.—William Henry Deeter, 89, died yesterday afternoon in Hazel McGillery Hospital here where he had been a patient for several days undergoing treatment for injuries suffered in a fall in the bathroom of his home.

Mr. Deeter was born March 7, 1858, in Allegheny Township, a son of the late Unus and Katherine Boyer Deeter. He was engaged in the livery business in Rockwood until he and the late Congressman S. A. Kendall formed a partnership known as the Kendall-Deeter Lumber Company, with offices in Meyersdale.

Mr. Deeter was a Republican and an enthusiastic party worker. He was a member of the borough council of Allegheny Township for a number of terms. He was a member of the Reformed Church and was a member of Meyersdale Lodge 554, Free and Accepted Masons; Johnstown Lodge 175, B. P. O. E. Elks, and the Royal Arcanum.

Mr. Deeter was married July 10, 1881, to Miss Sadie Ware, Allegheny Township, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Ware, who died several years ago. Surviving children are Mrs. Effie Seese, Johnstown; Mrs. Ollie Boyer, Ware Deeter and Miss Ida Deeter, Meyersdale; Mrs. William Appel, Somerset; Mrs. George Pfeiffer, New Castle; Mrs. Joseph Shultz, Flint, Mich.; William Bunn Deeter, Los Angeles, Calif.; Warden Deeter, Gary, Ind., 17 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

A funeral service will be held Saturday at 1 p. m. at the Deeter home on North Street by Rev. Nelson C. Brown, pastor of Amity Evangelical and Reformed Church. Interment will be in Union Cemetery.

Octogenarian Succumbs

George Brick, 81, died yesterday morning at the family home, Glencoe. He was a son of the late Peter and Mary Brant Brick, and was born in Somerset County May 26, 1866.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Rebecca Keefer Brick; a son, Edison Brick; and a daughter, Miss Lottie Brick, at home; five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren; a brother, Wilson Brick, Berlin, and a sister, Miss Katherine Brick, Meyersdale.

A funeral service will be held tomorrow at the Johnson Funeral Home, Berlin, with Rev. Charles Raley, officiating. Interment will be in Mount Lebanon Cemetery.

John W. Maul Dies

John W. Maul, 75, son of the late John Maul, pioneer tailor in Meyersdale, died Tuesday night at his home on Center Street. A sister, Miss Sue Maul, is the only survivor of the family.

Funeral rites will be held at the Maul home tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., with Rev. H. K. Hilner, pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, officiating. Interment will be in Union Cemetery.

Three Teachers Appointed

At the meeting of the Meyersdale school board Tuesday evening three new teachers were appointed and the vacation schedule for the coming term was adopted. The new instructors are Mrs. Lois Hartley Beynon, Meyersdale, junior high reading and history; Dick Broeseker, Berlin, industrial arts, and Anthony Damico, assistant coach and teacher of mathematics. A vacancy still exists in the instrumental music department since Hugh L. Morrison has accepted a similar position at Salem, N. H. Prof. Ernest H. Stuempfle was retained as supervising principal, and William F. Phennice as assistance.

Brief Mention

Steve Dickey and son, John, Indianapolis, Ind., are visiting the former's sister, Mrs. John Sherman, at the Colonial Hotel. Another brother of Mrs. Sherman, who had been here for the past several weeks, departed yesterday for his home in Indianapolis.

Paul William Mort, Salisbury, is being held in the county jail at Somerset on the charge of desertion and non-support. Mort was committed by Squire H. S. Whipperman yesterday.

Improvement is reported in the condition of Burgess J. E. Leckemby, who was stricken last Saturday in his office in the municipal building.

County Detective William P. Dively, Somerset, spent last evening with his family at their home on Lincoln Avenue.

DON'T MISS THIS

August Sale of Furs...

This year's August Fur Sale at Martin's will be a remembered event! Not since 1943 have prices been so low, never before has styling and workmanship been so luxurious. There's fashion news in the voluminous sleeves of breath-taking width, the ease and grace of the softer shoulder lines, the trend towards wrist-hugging cuffs or wide, turned back cuffs, the drama of a sweep of fullness in the swirling backs, the lengthened hemline. The new fullness, the softer couturier lines require more skins, but the prices have taken a flash-back to 1943, giving you the perfect combination of more fashion-value for less money. Martin's August Fur collection includes a wide selection of luxury furs: Northern Muskrats, Squirrel, Mouton, Persian Lamb, China Mink, Arabian Lamb, Leopard Cat, Ocelot, South American Lamb, Mutation Muskrats, Central Muskrats . . . Truly, if this is your year to buy a Fur Coat, don't miss this August Sale.

Croatian Statue Stirs Argument

AP Newsfeatures

BELGRADE—"The last signs of the difficult past of Croatian peoples" may disappear from Republic square in Zagreb if the City Peoples Committee accepts a decision of two organizations of Zagreb to remove the statue of an old national hero and replace it with a "statue of liberty."

The statue is that of what the Peoples Front Committee of Zagreb called the "reactionary Austrian black-yellow general and duke, Josip Jelachich," who in 1848 saved the Hapsburgs' monarchy from the Hungarians. It is a huge equestrian statue of a dashing soldier pointing his sabre toward Hungary to the north. At present, however, it is covered by a wooden structure symbolic of industrialization, which was erected for the Zagreb International Fair. The proposal to remove the statue was brought simultaneously by a member of the Peoples Front Committee and by a member of the City Committee of the Anti-fascist Women's Front. Both bodies accepted the proposal with great acclaim and transmitted a unanimous request to the City Committee.

The sahuaro or "giant cactus" of Arizona is especially fitted to survive with a limited water supply. Its extensive root system spreads in all directions from the main trunk for as many as 50 feet. The roots are close to the surface so that rainfall is easily assimilated and stored in the pulpy interior of the main plant.

It has long been possible to install a television set in combination with telephone so that each speaker can see the other, but the devices are too costly for general use.

There is a Jordan river in the United States. It heads at the northern end of Utah Lake and flows northward in a winding course of about 40 miles to Great Salt Lake.

Croatian Statue Stirs Argument

AP Newsfeatures

BELGRADE—"The last signs of the difficult past of Croatian peoples" may disappear from Republic square in Zagreb if the City Peoples Committee accepts a decision of two organizations of Zagreb to remove the statue of an old national hero and replace it with a "statue of liberty."

The statue is that of what the Peoples Front Committee of Zagreb called the "reactionary Austrian black-yellow general and duke, Josip Jelachich," who in 1848 saved the Hapsburgs' monarchy from the Hungarians. It is a huge equestrian statue of a dashing soldier pointing his sabre toward Hungary to the north. At present, however, it is covered by a wooden structure symbolic of industrialization, which was erected for the Zagreb International Fair. The proposal to remove the statue was brought simultaneously by a member of the Peoples Front Committee and by a member of the City Committee of the Anti-fascist Women's Front. Both bodies accepted the proposal with great acclaim and transmitted a unanimous request to the City Committee.

The sahuaro or "giant cactus" of Arizona is especially fitted to survive with a limited water supply. Its extensive root system spreads in all directions from the main trunk for as many as 50 feet. The roots are close to the surface so that rainfall is easily assimilated and stored in the pulpy interior of the main plant.

It has long been possible to install a television set in combination with telephone so that each speaker can see the other, but the devices are too costly for general use.

Plane Carries 4 To Fiery Death

Plunges Into Huge Oil And Gas Burner

EVERETT, Mass., Aug. 7 (AP) — Swooping out of a murky early morning sky, a small chartered Montreal-to-Boston plane plunged into the flaming chimney-mouth of a monster oil and gas furnace today—carrying the aircraft's four socially-prominent riders to a fiery death—as the pilot apparently attempted an emergency landing.

Investigators said that Pilot Nelson Pell, 32-year-old veteran flier and member of a prominent Long Island, N. Y., family, apparently mistook glowing lights atop explosive-filled tanks in the giant manufacturing plant of the Colonial Beacon Oil Company for those of an airport.

Burned to death with Pell in the inferno were Thomas Proctor Mandell, 46-year-old Boston businessman and son of the late publisher of the now-defunct Boston Transcript, and Mandell's two post-debutante daughters, Ann, 22, and Harriot, 19.

Just before the crash and terrific explosion, the light plane—a three-passenger Stinson—was heard and seen groping low through a peasoup fog over Greater Boston, skimming tops of several buildings.

The wings of the plane were sheared off as the craft rammed the top of the squat 30-foot chimney and then plummeted through the shaft into the blazing furnace, which is used as an incinerator for burning waste gases.

Within minutes, workers shut off gas lines feeding the fire and, after the burner cooled, fished out the bodies with hooks and poles through emergency doors — but they were burned beyond recognition.

Income Hits New High

THREE DOGS THREATEN SUCCESS OF TURKEY BREEDING EXPERIMENT

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 7 (AP) — Three small dogs, running wild in a turkey flock, killed or maimed 75 birds, threatening success of a nine-year-old turkey breeding experiment at the University of Maryland.

One of the dogs was killed by university policemen as it hid beneath a turkey pen. The others escaped.

The flock of 125 birds had been developed by Dr. Morley Jull, of the university's poultry department in an attempt to breed a low-weight turkey for use by a small family.

Judges Will Pick "Prize" Babies Today

The parents of 318 children ranging from infancy to 6-years-of-age will present the babies in a Prize Baby Show parade today at 3 p. m. in the Central Y.M.C.A. where out-of-town judges will select the prettiest girl and most handsome boy.

The contest is being sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign War Auxiliary, which will announce the judges' choices at a Victory pageant Monday night at 8 p. m. in the Y.M.C.A.

Yesterday the children were examined by two county health nurses who will also announce their selection of the most nearly physical perfect child in the contest at the pageant.

Sherry Will Take Police Examination

Desk Sgt. John Sherry, Cumberland Police Department, yesterday applied at the office of the city clerk for application to take the civil service examination for appointment as chief of police or acting chief of police.

Sherry's makes five who have indicated they will take the examination August 15 for the two positions. The openings were created recently by the retirement of Chief of Police Oscar Eyerman and assistant Chief of Police John J. Triber. R. Emmet Flynn is acting chief of police, while B. Frank Gaffney is acting assistant chief.

Bulgaria Blasts Britain, Greece

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 7 (AP) — Bulgaria today accused Britain of starting a civil war in Greece and indirectly labeled Greece a satellite of "certain big powers."

Assailing Greek Ambassador Vassili Dendramis for telling the United Nations Security Council that Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Albania were Russian satellites, Bulgarian Representative Nissin Mevorah declared to the council there was much more reason to call Greece a satellite in view of "the political and economic dependence of Greece on certain big powers."

Then lashing out at Britain specifically in the midst of heated debate on Balkan disorders, the Bulgar added:

"It is well known that Britain established the present regime in Greece. They gave the signal for the civil war which has bathed Greece in blood for almost three years and transformed Greek independence into a myth."

The undiplomatic name-calling in the somber council chamber was touched off by Dendramis' speech yesterday in which he warned that Greece was being engulfed by Russia and her satellites and the council should act fast to save her.

Casey Jones Memorial Marker Is Unveiled

JACKSON, Tenn., Aug. 7, (AP) — A 14-year-old bobby soxer, the granddaughter of famed Casey Jones, stepped forward with quiet dignity today to unveil a memorial marker at the grave of the brave engineer.

The tug of a cord on an American flag exposed a bronze plaque of famed engine No. 382—the likeness of the locomotive Casey drove to his death near Vaughn, Miss., in April, 1900.

It rested on a four and a half foot slab of granite reflecting the rays of a blistering sun that had the 100 or so friends of the famous engineer sweltering.

Party Girl Virginia Hill Flying From Paris To U.S.

PARIS, Aug. 7—(AP)—Virginia Hill, weeping forlornly and sobbing that "I'd just as soon jump off the airplane," left Paris by air tonight for the United States where American police have indicated the underworld might put the pretty California party girl's life in jeopardy.

Ending a hectic two-month stay in Paris and swank Mediterranean resorts, during which the late Benjamin (Bugsy) Siegel was shot to death in her California home June 20, the raven-haired Miss Hill took off for New York on a Trans World Airlines plane from Orly Field at 10:30 p. m., GMT (5:30 p. m., EST). The plane's first scheduled stop in the United States was Boston.

Bitter, frequently incoherent and verging on hysteria as she talked with a reporter just before boarding the plane, Miss Hill said she would set things right with the press when she arrived in the United States.

As she arrived at the airfield and walked to the customs office she was approached by the reporter. Flopping her three silver fox furs about her shoulders, she pouted, "Why don't you leave me alone?"

"I'm going home because I want to go home," Miss Hill said between sobs. "I'm going home to answer all those nasty stories about me. I'm not going to talk to anyone until I see my lawyer."

Then, as an afterthought, she added, "I can take care of myself." "I've been doing it for 30 years and I can keep on."

ing room, a protest from a youthful spectator, and hints of contempt action against Hughes that never blossomed:

1. The man who makes and flies planes and produces tools and movies said he had been called a "playboy" and "eccentric" but never a liar. He stacked his reputation against Brewster's on that score, saying the Senator has a reputation as a "trick shot artist."

2. Hughes challenged Brewster to repeat under oath that a TWA hostess had confided she was afraid to be on a plane alone with Hughes.

3. Brewster vigorously disclaimed any "improprieties." He said he never tried to accelerate or retard the Hughes inquiry and never lobbied with Hughes for a single overseas airline.

No Interest In Pan American

4. Brewster declared he "absolutely" has "no interest of any character" in Pan American. He told of accepting some trips, breakfasts and a football ticket.

The Senator acknowledged familiarity with a residence in Washington he said Pan American maintains for its executives and guests. He said he had had three breakfasts there in the past six months—bacon and eggs.

Brewster took exception to Hughes' description of it as a Pan American "palace." He said it is rather modest compared with a 20-room mansion he said TWA maintains in nearby Arlington County, Va., with eight bars, swimming pool and cabana.

Near the afternoon windup, Hughes said Flanagan had made the "get Elliott" remark to Noah Dietrich, vice president of the Hughes Tool Company. That, he testified, was when Flanagan went to the West Coast last March to check records and get information for the inquiry.

Dietrich took over to give details. The Hughes vice president said he told Flanagan he believed there were "political motives behind this thing," that the amounts involved were small, and there was "no fraud or corruption."

cans "did take some action," as follows:

"They helped the real estate lobby with a mock rent control law which gave tenants a gun-point 15 per cent rise.

U. Of Md. Building Plan Strikes Snag

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 7 (AP) — The University of Maryland's special building program, which includes a sports stadium, ran into a new delay today when the Board of Public Works decided Attorney General Hall Hammond would have to pass on its financial aspects.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, university president, presented the plan to the board June 23, saying it wouldn't cost the state one cent.

The overall program cost he set at $2,350,000 with $800,000 for the stadium.

The financing scheme included funds held by the university's athletic board, G.I. student fees, increased general students fees for two years, and a loan to be floated by the board and paid off with athletic receipts.

Gov. Lane said the Attorney General had called into question the use of carry-over funds and students fees in the financing, and the Board of Public Works agreed that the Attorney General should give the program an O.K. before it would

The program includes besides the stadium a $900,000 physical education building, a $350,000 chapel and a $300,000 swimming pool.

Salesman Is Convicted Of Girl's Knife Murder

DADE CITY, Fla., Aug. 7 (AP) — Arthur Edward Berry, 22, Jacksonville Beach magazine salesman, was convicted by a Circuit Court jury today on the first ballot of the knife murder of pretty Willie Mae Benton, 14-year-old school girl.

The shirt-sleeved jurors were out only 28 minutes before the foreman, former Pasco County Sheriff I. W. Hudson, returned their verdict of guilty of first degree murder.

The verdict automatically carries death in the electric chair but Defense Counsel John Parkhill, Tampa, said he would a file a motion for a new trial.

"Super Cushion" Auto Tires Being Produced

DETROIT, Aug. 7 (AP) — The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company disclosed today that it has in production a complete new line of automobile tires which it has named "super cushion," of larger size and designed for use on wider-based rims than those in common current usage.

The tires were displayed by Goodyear representatives at a news conference here tonight.

They require 14 per cent less air pressure, that is from four to six pounds less per tire, depending on the car which they equip. They are also relatively lighter in comparison to their size than conventional tires and are fatter and more attractive in appearance.

Goodyear engineers asserted that the new tire reduces road vibration and is easier and safer to steer on curves, road shoulders, and rough highways.

English Girl Changes Mind On Arrival In U. S.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Aug. 7 (AP) — The former soldier Miss Doris Beatrice Lambert came here from London to marry is her brother-in-law instead after a change-of-mind ceremony.

She had planned to marry Austin Bennett, but four days after arriving in the United States, at Baltimore, she decided instead to marry Austin's brother, Julian, a former Navy man.

"I just changed my mind and decided to marry Julian," the bride stated. "I hope people here won't think badly of me."

Three days after his brother and former finance were wed, Austin also disclosed a change of mind. He obtained a marriage license which bore the name of Mary Grace Murray Holland.

Julian, 25, said there were no "hard feelings about our wedding." The bride is 21.

As she arrived at the airfield and walked to the customs office she was approached by the reporter. Flopping her three silver fox furs about her shoulders, she pouted, "Why don't you leave me alone?"

"I'm going home because I want to go home," Miss Hill said between sobs. "I'm going home to answer all those nasty stories about me. I'm not going to talk to anyone until I see my lawyer."

Then, as an afterthought, she added, "I can take care of myself! I've been doing it for 30 years and I can keep on."

ing room, a protest from a youthful spectator, and hints of contempt action against Hughes that never blossomed:

1. The man who makes and flies planes and produces tools and movies said he had been called a "playboy" and "eccentric" but never a liar. He stacked his reputation against Brewster's on that score, saying the Senator has a reputation as a "trick shot artist."

2. Hughes challenged Brewster to repeat under oath that a TWA hostess had confided she was afraid to be on a plane alone with Hughes.

3. Brewster vigorously disclaimed any "improprieties." He said he never tried to accelerate or retard the Hughes inquiry and never lobbied with Hughes for a single overseas airline.

No Interest In Pan American

4. Brewster declared he "absolutely" has "no interest of any character" in Pan American. He told of accepting some trips, breakfasts and a football ticket.

The Senator acknowledged familiarity with a residence in Washington he said Pan American maintains for its executives and guests. He said he had had three breakfasts there in the past six months—bacon and eggs.

Brewster took exception to Hughes' description of it as a Pan American "palace." He said it is rather modest compared with a 20-room mansion he said TWA maintains in nearby Arlington County, Va., with eight bars, swimming pool and cabana.

Near the afternoon windup, Hughes said Flanagan had made the "get Elliott" remark to Noah Dietrich, vice president of the Hughes Tool Company. That, he testified, was when Flanagan went to the West Coast last March to check records and get information for the inquiry.

Dietrich took over to give details. The Hughes vice president said he told Flanagan he believed there were "political motives behind this thing," that the amounts involved were small, and there was "no fraud or corruption."

cans "did take some action," as follows:

"They helped the real estate lobby with a mock rent control law which gave tenants a gun-point 15 per cent rise.

U. Of Md. Building Plan Strikes Snag

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 7 (AP) — The University of Maryland's special building program, which includes a sports stadium, ran into a new delay today when the Board of Public Works decided Attorney General Hall Hammond would have to pass on its financial aspects.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, university president, presented the plan to the board June 23, saying it wouldn't cost the state one cent.

The overall program cost he set at $2,350,000 with $800,000 for the stadium.

The financing scheme included funds held by the university's athletic board, G.I. student fees, increased general students fees for two years, and a loan to be floated by the board and paid off with athletic receipts.

Gov. Lane said the Attorney General had called into question the use of carry-over funds and students fees in the financing, and the Board of Public Works agreed that the Attorney General should give the program an O.K. before it would

Salesman Is Convicted Of Girl's Knife Murder

DADE CITY, Fla., Aug. 7 (AP) — Arthur Edward Berry, 22, Jacksonville Beach magazine salesman, was convicted by a Circuit Court jury today on the first ballot of the knife murder of pretty Willie Mae Benton, 14-year-old school girl.

The shirt-sleeved jurors were out only 28 minutes before the foreman, former Pasco County Sheriff I. W. Hudson, returned their verdict of guilty of first degree murder.

The verdict automatically carries death in the electric chair but Defense Counsel John Parkhill, Tampa, said he would a file a motion for a new trial.

"Super Cushion" Auto Tires Being Produced

DETROIT, Aug. 7 (AP) — The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company disclosed today that it has in production a complete new line of automobile tires which it has named "super cushion," of larger size and designed for use on wider-based rims than those in common current usage.

The tires were displayed by Goodyear representatives at a news conference here tonight.

They require 14 per cent less air pressure, that is from four to six pounds less per tire, depending on the car which they equip. They are also relatively lighter in comparison to their size than conventional tires and are fatter and more attractive in appearance.

Goodyear engineers asserted that the new tire reduces road vibration and is easier and safer to steer on curves, road shoulders, and rough highways.

English Girl Changes Mind On Arrival In U. S.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Aug. 7 (AP) — The former soldier Miss Doris Beatrice Lambert came here from London to marry is her brother-in-law instead after a change-of-mind ceremony.

She had planned to marry Austin Bennett, but four days after arriving in the United States, at Baltimore, she decided instead to marry Austin's brother, Julian, a former Navy man.

"I just changed my mind and decided to marry Julian," the bride stated. "I hope people here won't think badly of me."

Three days after his brother and former finance were wed, Austin also disclosed a change of mind. He obtained a marriage license which bore the name of Mary Grace Murray Holland.

Julian, 25, said there were no "hard feelings about our wedding." The bride is 21.

Navy Plans Recruiting Sub-Station In Area

The Cumberland Navy Recruiting Station will establish a sub-station in this area in the near future as part of a drive to accelerate recruiting activities in this area, Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schrader, recruiter, announced yesterday.

The sub-station will be in charge of a chief petty officer who is to be assigned here soon, he said.

The Navy, Chief Schroeder said, in getting just about half the recruits in Maryland that are needed for replacements. In July, the state secured 60 of its quota of 101, and Cumberland, with eight recruits, placed seventh among the eight Maryland stations. Cumberland was second in June, however, he added.

The need for replacements will soon become acute, he said, since many of those who enlisted for two-year terms, will be eligible for discharge in the near future.

Robert George Belknap, chief machinists mate, will be assigned to the local recruiting station from August 11 to 29, Chief Schrader said.

The Navy announced yesterday that former Navy petty officers discharged in certain ratings since V-J day may now re-enlist as petty officers with only a slight reduction in grade. Full details are available at the Navy recruiting office here.

Paw Paw Man Fined On Speeding Count

Six motorists forfeited bonds totalling $28.70 and one driver was fined $26.45 on a speeding charge in Trial Magistrates' Court yesterday.

Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., found Wade Morral, Route 1, Paw Paw, W. Va., guilty of exceeding 50 miles per hour on Route 40 near Nave's Crossroads last Saturday. State Trooper William F. Baker preferred the charges.

Forfeitures included Glenn Roger Rawlings, 20 North Smallwood Street, $6.45 for failing to halt at a stop sign on Route 40 at Vale Summit Road on July 30; Paul L. Koelker, Route 1, this city, $2.45 for the same charge on Route 40 at Vocke Road; Oscar Neal Striby, Route 2, $11.45 for exceeding 50 miles per hour on Route 51 last Saturday.

Dow Isaac Miller, Barton, $3.45 for reckless driving on Route 40 on Tuesday; Earl Franklin Twigg, Route 40, this city, $2.45 for operating a car without a muffler, and William H. Steele, Route 1, $2.45 for passing on a curve on Route 40 at Narrows Park on Monday.

Trooper Baker made the arrests.

Driver Is Uninjured

A 21-year-old Little Orleans motorist, Marshall T. Mann, Jr., escaped injury here yesterday morning when the car he was driving was involved in a collision at Third and Seymour Streets, police said.

The crash occurred, police explained, when a car driven by Nellie Amelin Dryer Smith, 56, 703 Frederick Street, collided with the Mann car which police said upset and landed on its wheel again. No charges were preferred.

Reunion is an island, and integral part of France. It is entitled to representation in Paris by a senator and two deputies. It is about 420 miles east of Madagascar and has belonged to France since 1643.

Although Finland extends far north into extremely cold latitudes, with rugged climate and topography, it is an agricultural country. Lumber is the most important industry. Principal crops are rye, barley, oats, potatoes and hay.

Nellie Hoffman Takes Part In Celebration

Advice To The Lovelorn

Girl, 14, Should Have More On Mind Than Being "In Love"

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 14 years old and have a boy friend, 15. When he comes to my house and we are alone, he tells me that he loves me. But when he sees me other places, all he says is hello, and never stops to talk to me. He hardly ever makes dates with me, but when he does, he always tells me that he loves me.

Would you please let me know what to do? "BUGS"

Dear "Bugs":

At 14 you should have a lot more on your mind than being "in love." Nor should any 15-year-old boy be talking in this way.

If this boy talks about love when you are alone in the house together, and pays no attention to you when you see him other places, he is not a person to be trusted. If you have any intention of taking my advice, you will put a stop to this kind of thing, interest yourself in the normal activities of girls and boys your age, and stop talking and thinking about love.

A Poor Choice Of Escorts

Dear Miss Fairfax:

On the Fourth of July, my girl friends and I went out with our boy friends. At the place where we went, some girls we didn't know began flirting with our boy friends and later asked them to drive them to a bar. They didn't come back for two hours and, when they did, they were very drunk. Even when they came back, they stayed with these girls and did not come with us again until another boy went and got them.

Now they want very much to make up with us. What should we do? Weren't they in the wrong, and should we make up with them?

"TWO UNDECIDED GIRLS."

Dear "Undecided Girls":

Of course your boy friends were in the wrong, and very much so. Whether you make up with them or not, I should think would depend on how they intend to behave in the future. It doesn't seem to me, however, that you would want anything more to do with young men who took you out and then left you to go off and get drunk with girls they picked up.

However, if you still like them so much that you want to give them another chance, that is your own business. But, if you do, and they behave badly again, your heads should be examined if you do not drop them permanently.

(Copyright, 1947 King Features, Inc.)

It is estimated that 55 per cent of all auto driving in the United States is for business purposes.

Lit-Up Frogs Stir Up Trouble

BRODERICK, Calif.—(AP)—The dazzle - and - snatch method of catching bullfrogs is still good here in Yolo County.

You dazzle the hopper with a bright light from your boat, then grab him before he remembers to jump.

They got 157 bullfrogs. The limit 24 per person.

Game wardens happened along, dazzled the hunters with the light of this legal truth, snatched them on a charge of possessing more bullfrogs than the limit, and a judge said that would be $50 each.

Very Sweet, Huh?

BERKELEY, Calif.—(AP)—A Shattuck Avenue cafe hung a new sign atop an old one. Result: 'DELICIOUS waitress wanted."

Burglary Report Is Wheeled In

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—(AP)—The thieves who called on William Carr, 22-year-old college student, might not have been kind, but at least they were considerate.

Carr told police that when he went to the garage at the rear of his apartment he found a note on his automobile windshield advising him to check the right front tire before driving away. He did, and found the wheel had been stolen.

AUSTRALIAN CALF IS SIRED BY AIR MAIL

NEW YORK—A 15,000-mile "air mail baby"—a calf—born in Australia, has set a new long distance record for artificial insemination, says Thomas Erwin, livestock breeder of Erwinna, Pa.

The sire is Erwin's champion Jersey bull, Regal Heritage, and the dam a Jersey cow, Irona Soeurettes Ida, owned by E. R. F. Parkes of Trafalgar, Victoria, Australia. Parkes named the calf Irona Par Avion—par avion being French for air mail.

Four other cows in Victoria are having offspring sired in the same way at the same time last October, Erwin said. They were apparently the only successful inseminations among a large number of Australian cows treated with the same air mail shipment of the male reproductive cells.

The experiment demonstrates, Erwin said, that artificial breeding for livestock improvement can be accomplished at distances halfway or more around the world.

The male cells, placed in special refrigerated containers, reached Sydney, Australia, in five days via London and Cairo. The material then was distributed to five different cities in Australia, one of them 3,000 miles from Sydney, Erwin said.

The co-operation of Prof. E. J. Perry of the New Jersey State College of Agriculture, New Brunswick, and Dr. D. C. Reid, manager of the New Jersey Co-operative Breeding Association, Clinton, N. J., and of Australian veterinarians made the project possible, he added.

Evangelistic Services Scheduled Here Monday

A series of old fashioned evangelistic meetings will be held at the Union Grove Camp Grounds from Monday, August 11, through Sunday, August 24, under the auspices of the North Cumberland Church.

Rev. Walter Long, Mt. Morris, Pa., who has served several churches in this area, will be the camp evangelist assisted by Richard Bowers, Philadelphia, soloist and song leader.

The meetings to be held nightly except Saturday, will feature old fashioned songs and music. Free buses will leave from the corner of Henderson Avenue and Bedford Street at 7:30 each night.

One of the youngest members of the present Congress is William Jennings Bryan Dorn, farmer, of Greenwood, S. C. He is 31. Prior to his election to Congress, Mr. Dorn served in both branches of the Legislature in his state. He also served as an enlisted man in the Army Air Forces for more than three years.

Rome's Telephones Break Records

ROME—(AP)—Rome's war-shattered international telephone lines are carrying more calls now than they did before Italy got into the war.

An official report has disclosed that the 58 circuits thus far put back into operation handled 1,726,800 calls from July 1, 1946, to June 30, 1947, compared with 1,500,642 over 122 circuits operating during the corresponding period of 1939-1940.

This was exclusive of conversations over radio-telephone circuits such as those linking Italy with the United States, Argentina, Brazil and other transocean countries.

Italy now has telephonic communication with 26 countries — among them Egypt, the Lebanese Republic, Palestine and Russia — and negotiations are in progress for connections with Yuglslavia, as well as for additional circuits with France, England, Switzerland, the Netherlands and Russia.

Iraq (Mesopatamia) is the name applied to the area irrigated by the Euphrates and Tigris rivers. It is bounded on the north by Turkey, on the east by Persia; on the south by the Persian Gulf and Kuweit, and on the west by the Arabian and Syrian deserts. The capital is Bagdad.

AUSTRALIAN CALF IS SIRED BY AIR MAIL

NEW YORK—A 15,000-mile "air mail baby"—a calf—born in Australia, has set a new long distance record for artificial insemination, says Thomas Erwin, livestock breeder of Erwinna, Pa.

The sire is Erwin's champion Jersey bull, Regal Heritage, and the dam a Jersey cow, Irona Soeurettes Ida, owned by E. R. F. Parkes of Trafalgar, Victoria, Australia. Parkes named the calf Irona Par Avion—par avion being French for air mail.

Four other cows in Victoria are having offspring sired in the same way at the same time last October, Erwin said. They were apparently the only successful inseminations among a large number of Australian cows treated with the same air mail shipment of the male reproductive cells.

The experiment demonstrates, Erwin said, that artificial breeding for livestock improvement can be accomplished at distances halfway or more around the world.

The male cells, placed in special refrigerated containers, reached Sydney, Australia, in five days via London and Cairo. The material then was distributed to five different cities in Australia, one of them 3,000 miles from Sydney, Erwin said.

The co-operation of Prof. E. J. Perry of the New Jersey State College of Agriculture, New Brunswick, and Dr. D. C. Reid, manager of the New Jersey Co-operative Breeding Association, Clinton, N. J., and of Australian veterinarians made the project possible, he added.

Rome's Telephones Break Records

ROME—(AP)—Rome's war-shattered international telephone lines are carrying more calls now than they did before Italy got into the war.

An official report has disclosed that the 58 circuits thus far put back into operation handled 1,726,800 calls from July 1, 1946, to June 30, 1947, compared with 1,500,642 over 122 circuits operating during the corresponding period of 1939-1940.

This was exclusive of conversations over radio-telephone circuits such as those linking Italy with the United States, Argentina, Brazil and other transocean countries.

Italy now has telephonic communication with 26 countries—among them Egypt, the Lebanese Republic, Palestine and Russia—and negotiations are in progress for connections with Yuglslavia, as well as for additional circuits with France, England, Switzerland, the Netherlands and Russia.

Holland, Horn Slated To Race At Bedford, Pa.

Indianapolis Aces To Vie Saturday

"Wild Bill" Holland of Bridgeport, Conn., who scored a sensational second place finish in the 500 mile classic at Indianapolis on Memorial Day, is scheduled to race on Saturday at the Bedford (Pa.) Fair, according to information released by the Sam Nunis Speedways.

According to the news item from Nunis the Indianapolis ace has agreed to participate in the six-event program of the AAA sanctioned big car races which will highlight the closing of this year's fair.

Holland won at Harrington, Del., last Saturday and has also come through victorious in races at Langhorne, Pa., and Milwaukee this year. His many dirt track triumphs have helped him to take a wide lead over all the nation's sanctioned drivers in point standings.

Other speed chauffeurs scheduled to drive at Bedford on Saturday, according to Nunis are: Ted Horn, Paterson, N. J., who was third behind Holland at Indianapolis;

TED HORN

Walter Brown, Massapequa, N. Y., 7th spot finisher, and Indian Joe Chitwood, Reading, Pa., another Indianapolis starter.

Time trials, four heat races, and a 20-lap featured sweepstakes final comprise the Bedford bill. Time trials begin at 1 p. m., and the first race is set for 2:30.

HORSESHOE TOURNEY SET FOR NORTH END

An elimination horseshoe pitching tournament is being sponsored by the North End Playground Association, under the direction of Robert "Spike" Herboldsheimer, chairman of older boys' activities at the playground.

Prizes will be awarded in three divisions; boys from 11 to 14; boys 15 and over and unlimited doubles. The doubles will be open to all boys and a boy may register in both single and double divisions.

Boys who desire to enter the tournament must register today with Mrs. Kington or Mrs. Dreyer, playground counsellors, so that elimination pairs may be selected.

The tournament will be played Monday and Tuesday evenings and the finals will be played at the family festival, Wednesday evening.

Eagles And Peck's Win In Frostburg Softball League

FROSTBURG, Aug. 7 — The Eagles defeated Stoops' Restaurant, 7-5, at State Teachers' College field, and Peck's Cafe took Chubby's Cafe into camp, 8-5, at Community Park, in a pair of Frostburg Softball League games played today.

In the Eagles-Stoops game, A. Blank and Chaney hit home runs and H. Miller, Griffith and P. Bland had two hits each.

Joe Tipping of Peck's rapped out a homer and single and Charley Morgan and Coakley had two hits each for the victors. Goldsworthy with a double and two singles and Connors with two one-base hits paced Chubby's offensive.

The Eagles and Chubby's will clash Friday at 6 p. m. at State Teachers' Field. Scores:

Cards Win Seventh Straight, Trail Dodgers By Four Games

Reds Trampled, 9-2; Brooklyn Loses 3-1

CINCINNATI, Aug. 7 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals unleashed a 16-hit attack today to down the Cincinnati Reds 9-2 and draw within four games of the faltering Brooklyn Dodgers, who lost to Boston.

The victory was the surging Cards' seventh in a row and, although right-hander Jim Hearn shut out the Redlegs for eight innings, he weakened in the ninth and had to give way to reliefer Ted Wilks.

The game was marred by injury to two first-line Cincinnati players, Shortstop Eddie Miller and Outfielder Frankie Baumholtz, who collided as they chased a Texas leaguer from the bat of Del Rice in the sixth.

Three stitches were required to close a gash in Miller's chin and Baumholtz, who was carried from the field in a stretcher, suffered a slight concussion. It was not known immediately how soon they would return to the lineup. Box:

DODGERS LOSE ANOTHER

BOSTON, Aug. 7. (AP)—The Boston Braves, behind the three-hit pitching of Charlie (Red) Barrett, defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers today 3-1 for their third victory in a row over the National League leaders. The loss was the Dodgers' sixth in seven games since their 13-game winning streak was terminated.

Brooklyn's three hits were all singles, one of them leading to their only score in the first inning. Eddie Stanky led off by working Barrett for a walk and after Jackie Robinson fouled out, he raced to third when Gene Hermanski singled to right. Dixie Walker's grounder scored Stanky. Box:

GIANTS TOP PHILS

NEW YORK, Aug. 7—(AP)—For the third consecutive day, the New York Giants defeated the Philadelphia Phillies by the same 5-2 score today to sweep the three-game series. The victory, coupled with the Brooklyn Dodgers' defeat in Boston, narrowed the league leaders' margin over the third place Polo Ground club to five games.

The Giants made only four hits off the combined pitching of loser Oscar Judd, Fred Schmidt and Al Jurisich, but toook advantage of a pair of wild pitches by Judd and an error by Jim Tabor to score tainted runs. Box:

Non-Resident Players Are Exempt From Tax

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7 (AP) — Non-resident baseball players of visiting American and National League teams were exempted today from Philadelphia's one per cent wage and earned income tax.

Assistant City Solicitor Abraham Wernick said representatives of both leagues had reached an agreement with the city on the matter. The city has collected $150,000,000 from residents and non-residents under the levy during the past seven years.

CLIFTON VAN ROBY WINS ELKS' GOLF TITLE AT FAIRFAX

Posting a six-over-par 77, Clifton Van Roby, member of Cumberland Lodge No. 63, won the golf tournament staged in conjunction with the convention of the Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia Elks Association Wednesday over the Fairfax Country Club course in Fairfax, Va.

Sixteen members of the tri-state association participated in the tournament and Roby's 40-37—77 was four strokes better than his closest competitor.

Par for the new course is 35-36—71.

Roby, who is physical director of the Central YMCA and a member of the Cumberland Country Club's golf team received a set of woods as first prize for winning the event.

Anthony "Bud" Scaletta turned in a gilt-edge relief pitching performance yesterday as the Knights of Columbus defeated the B.P.O. Elks by the score of 7 to 4 at East Side Field and maintained their half game lead over the American Legion in the Rocking Chair Softball League.

Jack Loibel, Caseys' starting pitcher, was as wild as the proverbial March hare in the first inning when the Elks chalked up three runs on four walks and two singles. Then Scaletta came on to put out the fire, yielding one run and two hits in the last 6⅓ frames.

Manager Jim Browning's league leaders banged out nine hits including "Bud" Blough's round-tripper, three-base wallops by "Bobby" Cavanaugh and Scaletta and two singles by "Chick" Snider. Dick Bruce got two hits and a base on balls in three trips to the plate for the Elks.

Fort Cumberland Post stayed on the heels of the Caseys by defeating Texcel on the Rolling Mill diamond by the score of 12 to 7. Texcel was credited with 12 of the 23 hits made in this game. Herb Lapp walloped a homer and single and "Red" Boyer and George Weaver each garnered a pair of singles for the victors while Shircliffe, Pollack and Clark of Texcel had three hits each.

Russ Minnicks' fly to deep centerfield scored Frank Fogtman with the run that broke a tie and gave the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose of Moose a 7 to 6 decision over the Cumberland Outdoor Club in the 7th and final frame at Fort Hill.

Frank Fogtman had singled and raced to third on Frank Williams' base hit prior to Minnicks' hoist to the outfield. The winners were outhit 15 to 11. Fogtman led the hitters with three bingles. Both teams played errorless ball.

Potomac Edison defeated the Junior Association of Commerce at Campobello by the score of 14-9. Scores:

Billy Fox Will Try To KO Kochan Again

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. (AP)—Billy Fox, the hard-hitting Philadelphian who is campaigning for another crack at Gus Lesnevich's 175-pound title, takes on Georgie Kochan, a rugged New Yorker, in a 10-rounder at the Garden tomorrow night.

Up to the time he met Lesnevich last February, Fox had scored 43 straight knockouts. Since that setback he has added four more kayos to his record, one of them over Kochan.

Tourney Ends Today

The South End Aces defeated the Police Boys' Club, 6-4, and St. Mary's 7-2 in a Boys' Week softball tourney twin bill yesterday at Constitution Park. West Side defeated Cassino, 14-6.

Today at 10 a. m. in the senior finals, West Side will play the South End Aces. At 11 a. m., the P. B. C. will play the Cubs for the junior title.

GAME TODAY

Westvaco at Hyndman (5:30).

Queen City's Brewers snapped an eight-game losing streak yesterday when they defeated the Barton American Legion team in a Bi-State Baseball League game at Stitcher Field by the score at 5 to 4.

It was the first time since its double win over Lonaconing on July 4 that Queen City had tasted victory.

Carl Leydig's timely single won the game in the 7th inning after the teams had battled to a 4-4 deadlock. Harry Minnicks opened the inning with a single, advanced to second on William "Jaggers" Drew's sacrifce, moved to third on Elmer's Freeland's safety and scored on Leydig's base wallop.

Darl "Ace" Jewell, the last of three pitchers sent to the mound by Manager Charley Doyle, was credited with the victory, his third of the season against five defeats.

Lashbaugh and Howell of Barton were the only players to get more than one hit.

Today the league leading Westvaco Club and the third place Hyndman Firemen will clash at Hyndman, Pa., at 5:30 p. m. in a game set ahead from Saturday. Today's battle is expected to attract a large crowd to the Pennsylvania park.

President Alex "Pop" Nicol yesterday announced that the game in which Hyndman defeated Lonaconing by the score of 5-2 last Saturday was played under protest by 'Coney. The 'Coney management contends that a wildly thrown ball struck a fence and bounded back on the playing field into the hands of the third baseman, enabling the latter to throw out a Lonaconing runner at the plate. The protestants claim that the runner was entitled to home plate on the overthrow to third.

Son Of Bobby Jones Enters Tournament

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. (AP)—Entries received today at the U. S. Golf Association offices for the national amateur tournament at Del Monte, Calif., Sept. 8-13, included the name of Robert T. Jones III of Atlanta, Ga.

It was accompanied by a check to cover the young Georgian's entry fee, signed by his famous golfing father, Robert T. Jones, Jr.

If he survives the qualifying test on his home course Aug. 26, he will have a chance to beat Johnny Goodman of Omaha, something his father failed to do on the same Pebble Beach course at Del Monte in 1929.

Joe Louis Is Winner Of Amateur Golf Title

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 7. (AP)—Joe Louis, world heavyweight boxing champion, won the Eastern Golf Association amateur championship today at the South Park course.

The Brown Bomber played 15 holes in four over par to defeat Jacques Isler, New York attorney, 4 and 3, in the final match. Louis was in Pittsburgh to attend the annual celebration of Frog Week.

Ted Thodes, Nashville, Tenn., won the open championship with a final round of 69, three under par, and a 72-hole total of 283, five under par.

O'BRIEN RIDES THREE HAGERSTOWN WINNERS, INCLUDING 26-1 SHOT

Patrick "Jack" O'Brien, of Midland, had another one of his big days yesterday at Hagerstown's half mile track when he booted home three winners, including a 26 to 1 shot, and a third place horse.

The up-creek lad, who will ride at Fairgo during the Cumberland Fair Association's 10-day meeting, August 19 to 30, won with Joy Wes in the third ($12); Busy Moose in the fifth ($18) and Outcome in the sixth which paid $2 bettors $54.80 to win, $20 to place and $10 to show.

O'Brien's show horse was Miss Economy ($4.80) in the second race on the card.

Hogan And Keiser Grab Early Lead In Spokane Golf

Ben And Herman Post 65s In First Round

By JACK HEWINS

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 7—(AP)—Poker faced Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., and a big, quiet guy from Akron, Herman Keiser, carved five strokes off tough Indian Canyon's par 70 today and took the early lead in the four-day, 72-hole $10,000 Esmeralda Open Golf Tournament.

Even these stellar performances, however, did not leave them safely in front, as Open Champion Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., and George Payton, Hampton, Pa., both made the nine-hole turn in 31, four under par.

Treading on the leaders' toes was Ed Furgol of Pontiac, Mich., whoose 66 had made him the leader for half an hour—until Keiser came boiling in. Ted Longworth of Portland, Ore., Ellsworth Vines of Los Angeles and Bill Nary of Phoenix were close up with 67s.

Western Amateur Champion Bud Ward scrambled to a 72 and top spot among the simon pures went to his fellow Spokaneite, Ken Storey, who had 69. Linked with Storey was John Bulla of Phoenix, Ariz.

A sharp cross-wind on the north-and-south fairways made the day comfortable for the good-sized first day gallery but played tricks with drives and approach shots. A dozen scores were on the board for the out nine before Emery Zimmerman of Portland came in with the first sub-par card, a one-under 34.

Ed Furgol on Pontiac, Mich., matched it a moment later after calling for a ruling on one poke which had trickled down a gopher hole. Coures rules permitted him to dig the ball out without penalty.

Only entrant missing among the name pros was E.J.D. (Dutch) Harrison of York, Pa. Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, fresh from his triumph in the St. Paul Open, arrived just before tee-off time this morning. The entry tootal was 125, with professionals slightly outnumbering amateurs.

PEPPE AND KIPHUTH TO COACH SWIMMERS OF OLYMPIC TEAMS

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP) — Mike Peppe, whose Ohio State University divers have copped 62 out of a possible 76 major titles, and Robert J. H. Kiphuth of Yale, who guided Olympic swimmers in 1932 and 1936, will coach the 1948 U. S. Olympic teams, the swimming committee said today.

For Peppe, whose Buckeye swimmers won the National Collegiate, National A. A. U. indoor and outdoor, and Western Conference titles this year, the assignment to coach next year's Olympic divers is the first in international sports competition.

Kiphuth, in addition to his 1932 and 1936 Olympic appearances, coached the women's team in 1928. He has been swimming coach at Yale since 1917 and his squads have been consistent eastern intercollegiate title winners.

Baltimore Is Host To All-Star Nines

International Series Will Open Tonight

BALTIMORE, Aug. 7, (AP) — Coaches of the United States and Canadian all-star boys baseball teams which open an international amateur baseball series in Municipal Stadium tomorrow night remained silent on starting selections today, but it seemed certain that a pair of young pitching sensations would get the mound calls.

They are Frank (Pancho) Womack, 17-year-old Houston, Texas, southpaw, and Glen Sonmor, 18, lanky right-hander from Hamilton, Ontario, and only undefeated pitcher in the Intercounty League, reputedly the fastest junior circuit in Canada.

Womack, who has won a Texas University scholarship for his baseball and basketball prowess, has an 11-4 record for his season's efforts with San Jacinto High School and an American Legion team. Six other colleges had offered him scholarships when he was graduated this June from high school, and he has been eyed by big league scouts.

It was only the day before yesterday that Sonmor, also an outstanding basketball, hockey and football player, grabbed his 10th straight pitching victory for the Mahoney Bear Juniors over the Waterloo Junior Club.

Official lineups for the opener will be announced tomorrow by Cy Morgan, Canadian coach, who is a Philadelphia Phillies scout, and Jack Coombs and Ira Thomas, Philadelphia Athletics' coaches, who will direct the U. S. team.

The same clubs will meet again Saturday night, with the winner playing the Baltimore All-Stars, chosen from 400 local sandlot teams, Sunday afternoon. In event the U. S. and Canadian teams split, a third game will be played Sunday afternoon, the victor meeting Baltimore as part of a double-header.

'Coney Loop To Meet

LONACONING, Aug. 7 — A meeting of the Lonaconing Softball League, comprising eight teams, will be held Sunday at 8 p. m. at the local V.F.W. home. Managers are urged to bring their scorebooks with them.

Higbe Of Pirates Marks Up Shutout Over Chicago, 3-0

Kiner Wallops 27th Home Run Of Season

CHICAGO, Aug. 7. (AP)—Kirby Higbe held the Chicago Cubs to seven scattered hits today to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-0 decision and a sweep of their two-game Chicago stand.

Hank Borowy allowed the Bucs only five hits, the first of which was Ralph Kiner's home run over the left field screen. It was Kiner's 27th circuit smash of the year.

Pittsburgh got to Borowy for a single by Higbe and a double by Cully Rikard in the fifth, and then counted its final two runs on walks to Jim Russell and Frank Gustine and a long fly to left by Kiner. Box:

Says Aussie Horses Could Clean Up Here

SYDNEY, (AP)—President Yuan Ysmael of the Philippines Horse Owners' Association, says Australian race horses could "clean up" American classics.

Ysmael thinks Australian racehorses are "the world's best." Ysmael came to Australia to buy 100 mares and a number of stallions for stud purposes in the Philippines.

"Any one of Australia's 20 leading horses would be a champion in the States," he says, adding: "During a recent tour of America several racehorses owners told me they were surprised that Australia had not sent horses over for their rich classics."

Schroeder Will Not Compete In Singles

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 7 (AP)—Ted Schroeder of Glendale, Calif., expected to help the United States in its defense of the Davis Cup this year, said today that he would not compete in the national singles championships at Forest Hills.

Schroeder, seeded No. 1 in the eastern grass courts championships here explained that he could not spare the additional time off from his job.

He added that he still was interested in Davis Cup play.

SUNDAY GAMES

Naval Reserve at Moorefield.
Cumberland Legion at Moose. (Stitcher Field).
Centerville at Eagles. (Community Park).
Ridgeley at Barrelville.

Lefty Lou Stitcher was in top form yesterday and the Cumberland Fraternal Order of Eagles turned back the Ridgeley American Legion by the score of 9 to 0 in a seven-inning twilight Interstate Baseball League game at Community Park.

The Eagles' southpaw twirler limited the West Virginians to five hits and fired the third strike past nine batsmen in notching his sixth triumph of the season against four losses. Two of the five blows yielded by Stitcher were of the scratch variety.

Only one extra base hit was made and that was credited to Vern Penner, Eagles' first sacker, who rapped out a two-bagger. Bennett, centerfielder of Ridgeley, robbed Penner of what appeared to be an extra base hit with a nice running catch.

One of the highlights of the game was Penner's steal of home. "Neb" George topped the Eagles' hitters with three safeties while Delbrugge of the Eagles and Young of Ridgeley had two hits each.

The setback was the sixth in a row for the last place Ridgeley team. Box:

Holland, Horn Slated To Race At Bedford, Pa.

Indianapolis Aces To Vie Saturday

"Wild Bill" Holland of Bridgeport, Conn., who scored a sensational second place finish in the 500 mile classic at Indianapolis on Memorial Day, is scheduled to race on Saturday at the Bedford (Pa.) Fair, according to information released by the Sam Nunis Speedways.

According to the news item from Nunis the Indianapolis ace has agreed to participate in the six-event program of the AAA sanctioned big car races which will highlight the closing of this year's fair.

Holland won at Harrington, Del., last Saturday and has also come through victorious in races at Langhorne, Pa., and Milwaukee this year. His many dirt track triumphs have helped him to take a wide lead over all the nation's sanctioned drivers in point standings.

Other speed chauffeurs scheduled to drive at Bedford on Saturday, according to Nunis are: Ted Horn, Paterson, N. J., who was third behind Holland at Indianapolis;

TED HORN

Walter Brown, Massapequa, N. Y., 7th spot finisher, and Indian Joe Chitwood, Reading, Pa., another Indianapolis starter.

Time trials, four heat races, and a 20-lap featured sweepstakes final comprise the Bedford bill. Time trials begin at 1 p. m., and the first race is set for 2:30.

HORSESHOE TOURNEY SET FOR NORTH END

An elimination horseshoe pitching tournament is being sponsored by the North End Playground Association, under the direction of Robert "Spike" Herboldsheimer, chairman of older boys' activities at the playground.

Prizes will be awarded in three divisions; boys from 11 to 14; boys 15 and over and unlimited doubles. The doubles will be open to all boys and a boy may register in both single and double divisions.

Boys who desire to enter the tournament must register today with Mrs. Kington or Mrs. Dreyer, playground counsellors, so that elimination pairs may be selected.

The tournament will be played Monday and Tuesday evenings and the finals will be played at the family festival, Wednesday evening.

Eagles And Peck's Win In Frostburg Softball League

FROSTBURG, Aug. 7 — The Eagles defeated Stoops' Restaurant, 7-5, at State Teachers' College field, and Peck's Cafe took Chubby's Cafe into camp, 8-5, at Community Park, in a pair of Frostburg Softball League games played today.

In the Eagles-Stoops game, A. Blank and Chaney hit home runs and H. Miller, Griffith and P. Bland had two hits each.

Joe Tipping of Peck's rapped out a homer and single and Charley Morgan and Coakley had two hits each for the victors. Goldsworthy with a double and two singles and Connors with two one-base hits paced Chubby's offensive.

Cards Win Seventh Straight, Trail Dodgers By Four Games

Reds Trampled, 9-2; Brooklyn Loses 3-1

CINCINNATI, Aug. 7 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals unleashed a 16-hit attack today to down the Cincinnati Reds 9-2 and draw within four games of the faltering Brooklyn Dodgers, who lost to Boston.

The victory was the surging Cards' seventh in a row and, although right-hander Jim Hearn shut out the Redlegs for eight innings, he weakened in the ninth and had to give way to reliefer Ted Wilks.

The game was marred by injury to two first-line Cincinnati players, Shortstop Eddie Miller and Outfielder Frankie Baumholtz, who collided as they chased a Texas leaguer from the bat of Del Rice in the sixth.

Three stitches were required to close a gash in Miller's chin and Baumholtz, who was carried from the field in a stretcher, suffered a slight concussion. It was not known immediately how soon they would return to the lineup. Box:

DODGERS LOSE ANOTHER

BOSTON, Aug. 7. (AP)—The Boston Braves, behind the three-hit pitching of Charlie (Red) Barrett, defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers today 3-1 for their third victory in a row over the National League leaders. The loss was the Dodgers' sixth in seven games since their 13-game winning streak was terminated.

Brooklyn's three hits were all singles, one of them leading to their only score in the first inning. Eddie Stanky led off by working Barrett for a walk and after Jackie Robinson fouled out, he raced to third when Gene Hermanski singled to right. Dixie Walker's grounder scored Stanky. Box:

GIANTS TOP PHILS

NEW YORK, Aug. 7—(AP)—For the third consecutive day, the New York Giants defeated the Philadelphia Phillies by the same 5-2 score today to sweep the three-game series. The victory, coupled with the Brooklyn Dodgers' defeat in Boston, narrowed the league leaders' margin over the third place Polo Ground club to five games.

The Giants made only four hits off the combined pitching of loser Oscar Judd, Fred Schmidt and Al Jurisich, but toook advantage of a pair of wild pitches by Judd and an error by Jim Tabor to score tainted runs. Box:

Non-Resident Players Are Exempt From Tax

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7 (AP) — Non-resident baseball players of visiting American and National League teams were exempted today from Philadelphia's one per cent wage and earned income tax.

Assistant City Solicitor Abraham Wernick said representatives of both leagues had reached an agreement with the city on the matter. The city has collected $150,000,000 from residents and non-residents under the levy during the past seven years.

CLIFTON VAN ROBY WINS ELKS' GOLF TITLE AT FAIRFAX

Posting a six-over-par 77, Clifton Van Roby, member of Cumberland Lodge No. 63, won the golf tournament staged in conjunction with the convention of the Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia Elks Association Wednesday over the Fairfax Country Club course in Fairfax, Va.

Sixteen members of the tri-state association participated in the tournament and Roby's 40-37—77 was four strokes better than his closest competitor.

Par for the new course is 35-36—71.

Roby, who is physical director of the Central YMCA and a member of the Cumberland Country Club's golf team received a set of woods as first prize for winning the event.

Anthony "Bud" Scaletta turned in a gilt-edge relief pitching performance yesterday as the Knights of Columbus defeated the B.P.O. Elks by the score of 7 to 4 at East Side Field and maintained their half game lead over the American Legion in the Rocking Chair Softball League.

Jack Loibel, Caseys' starting pitcher, was as wild as the proverbial March hare in the first inning when the Elks chalked up three runs on four walks and two singles. Then Scaletta came on to put out the fire, yielding one run and two hits in the last 6⅓ frames.

Manager Jim Browning's league leaders banged out nine hits including "Bud" Blough's round-tripper, three-base wallops by "Bobby" Cavanaugh and Scaletta and two singles by "Chick" Snider. Dick Bruce got two hits and a base on balls in three trips to the plate for the Elks.

Fort Cumberland Post stayed on the heels of the Caseys by defeating Texcel on the Rolling Mill diamond by the score of 12 to 7. Texcel was credited with 12 of the 23 hits made in this game. Herb Lapp walloped a homer and single and "Red" Boyer and George Weaver each garnered a pair of singles for the victors while Shircliffe, Pollack and Clark of Texcel had three hits each.

Russ Minnicks' fly to deep centerfield scored Frank Fogtman with the run that broke a tie and gave the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose of Moose a 7 to 6 decision over the Cumberland Outdoor Club in the 7th and final frame at Fort Hill.

Frank Fogtman had singled and raced to third on Frank Williams' base hit prior to Minnicks' hoist to the outfield. The winners were outhit 15 to 11. Fogtman led the hitters with three bingles. Both teams played errorless ball.

Potomac Edison defeated the Junior Association of Commerce at Campobello by the score of 14-9. Scores:

GAME TODAY

Westvaco at Hyndman (5:30).

Queen City's Brewers snapped an eight-game losing streak yesterday when they defeated the Barton American Legion team in a Bi-State Baseball League game at Stitcher Field by the score at 5 to 4.

It was the first time since its double win over Lonaconing on July 4 that Queen City had tasted victory.

Carl Leydig's timely single won the game in the 7th inning after the teams had battled to a 4-4 deadlock. Harry Minnicks opened the inning with a single, advanced to second on William "Jaggers" Drew's sacrifce, moved to third on Elmer's Freeland's safety and scored on Leydig's base wallop.

Darl "Ace" Jewell, the last of three pitchers sent to the mound by Manager Charley Doyle, was credited with the victory, his third of the season against five defeats.

Lashbaugh and Howell of Barton were the only players to get more than one hit.

Today the league leading Westvaco Club and the third place Hyndman Firemen will clash at Hyndman, Pa., at 5:30 p. m. in a game set ahead from Saturday. Today's battle is expected to attract a large crowd to the Pennsylvania park.

President Alex "Pop" Nicol yesterday announced that the game in which Hyndman defeated Lonaconing by the score of 5-2 last Saturday was played under protest by 'Coney. The 'Coney management contends that a wildly thrown ball struck a fence and bounded back on the playing field into the hands of the third baseman, enabling the latter to throw out a Lonaconing runner at the plate. The protestants claim that the runner was entitled to home plate on the overthrow to third.

Hogan And Keiser Grab Early Lead In Spokane Golf

Ben And Herman Post 65s In First Round

By JACK HEWINS

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 7—(AP)—Poker faced Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., and a big, quiet guy from Akron, Herman Keiser, carved five strokes off tough Indian Canyon's par 70 today and took the early lead in the four-day, 72-hole $10,000 Esmeralda Open Golf Tournament.

Even these stellar performances, however, did not leave them safely in front, as Open Champion Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., and George Payton, Hampton, Pa., both made the nine-hole turn in 31, four under par.

Treading on the leaders' toes was Ed Furgol of Pontiac, Mich., whoose 66 had made him the leader for half an hour—until Keiser came boiling in. Ted Longworth of Portland, Ore., Ellsworth Vines of Los Angeles and Bill Nary of Phoenix were close up with 67s.

Western Amateur Champion Bud Ward scrambled to a 72 and top spot among the simon pures went to his fellow Spokaneite, Ken Storey, who had 69. Linked with Storey was John Bulla of Phoenix, Ariz.

A sharp cross-wind on the north-and-south fairways made the day comfortable for the good-sized first day gallery but played tricks with drives and approach shots. A dozen scores were on the board for the out nine before Emery Zimmerman of Portland came in with the first sub-par card, a one-under 34.

Ed Furgol on Pontiac, Mich., matched it a moment later after calling for a ruling on one poke which had trickled down a gopher hole. Coures rules permitted him to dig the ball out without penalty.

Only entrant missing among the name pros was E.J.D. (Dutch) Harrison of York, Pa. Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, fresh from his triumph in the St. Paul Open, arrived just before tee-off time this morning. The entry tootal was 125, with professionals slightly outnumbering amateurs.

PEPPE AND KIPHUTH TO COACH SWIMMERS OF OLYMPIC TEAMS

CHICAGO, Aug. 7 (AP) — Mike Peppe, whose Ohio State University divers have copped 62 out of a possible 76 major titles, and Robert J. H. Kiphuth of Yale, who guided Olympic swimmers in 1932 and 1936, will coach the 1948 U. S. Olympic teams, the swimming committee said today.

For Peppe, whose Buckeye swimmers won the National Collegiate, National A. A. U. indoor and outdoor, and Western Conference titles this year, the assignment to coach next year's Olympic divers is the first in international sports competition.

Kiphuth, in addition to his 1932 and 1936 Olympic appearances, coached the women's team in 1928. He has been swimming coach at Yale since 1917 and his squads have been consistent eastern intercollegiate title winners.

Baltimore Is Host To All-Star Nines

International Series Will Open Tonight

BALTIMORE, Aug. 7, (AP) — Coaches of the United States and Canadian all-star boys baseball teams which open an international amateur baseball series in Municipal Stadium tomorrow night remained silent on starting selections today, but it seemed certain that a pair of young pitching sensations would get the mound calls.

They are Frank (Pancho) Womack, 17-year-old Houston, Texas, southpaw, and Glen Sonmor, 18, lanky right-hander from Hamilton, Ontario, and only undefeated pitcher in the Intercounty League, reputedly the fastest junior circuit in Canada.

Womack, who has won a Texas University scholarship for his baseball and basketball prowess, has an 11-4 record for his season's efforts with San Jacinto High School and an American Legion team. Six other colleges had offered him scholarships when he was graduated this June from high school, and he has been eyed by big league scouts.

It was only the day before yesterday that Sonmor, also an outstanding basketball, hockey and football player, grabbed his 10th straight pitching victory for the Mahoney Bear Juniors over the Waterloo Junior Club.

Official lineups for the opener will be announced tomorrow by Cy Morgan, Canadian coach, who is a Philadelphia Phillies scout, and Jack Coombs and Ira Thomas, Philadelphia Athletics' coaches, who will direct the U. S. team.

The same clubs will meet again Saturday night, with the winner playing the Baltimore All-Stars, chosen from 400 local sandlot teams, Sunday afternoon. In event the U. S. and Canadian teams split, a third game will be played Sunday afternoon, the victor meeting Baltimore as part of a double-header.

'Coney Loop To Meet

LONACONING, Aug. 7 — A meeting of the Lonaconing Softball League, comprising eight teams, will be held Sunday at 8 p. m. at the local V.F.W. home. Managers are urged to bring their scorebooks with them.

Higbe Of Pirates Marks Up Shutout Over Chicago, 3-0

Kiner Wallops 27th Home Run Of Season

CHICAGO, Aug. 7. (AP)—Kirby Higbe held the Chicago Cubs to seven scattered hits today to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-0 decision and a sweep of their two-game Chicago stand.

Hank Borowy allowed the Bucs only five hits, the first of which was Ralph Kiner's home run over the left field screen. It was Kiner's 27th circuit smash of the year.

Pittsburgh got to Borowy for a single by Higbe and a double by Cully Rikard in the fifth, and then counted its final two runs on walks to Jim Russell and Frank Gustine and a long fly to left by Kiner. Box:

Says Aussie Horses Could Clean Up Here

SYDNEY, (AP)—President Yuan Ysmael of the Philippines Horse Owners' Association, says Australian race horses could "clean up" American classics.

Ysmael thinks Australian racehorses are "the world's best." Ysmael came to Australia to buy 100 mares and a number of stallions for stud purposes in the Philippines.

"Any one of Australia's 20 leading horses would be a champion in the States," he says, adding: "During a recent tour of America several racehorses owners told me they were surprised that Australia had not sent horses over for their rich classics."

Schroeder Will Not Compete In Singles

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 7 (AP)—Ted Schroeder of Glendale, Calif., expected to help the United States in its defense of the Davis Cup this year, said today that he would not compete in the national singles championships at Forest Hills.

Schroeder, seeded No. 1 in the eastern grass courts championships here explained that he could not spare the additional time off from his job.

He added that he still was interested in Davis Cup play.

SUNDAY GAMES

Naval Reserve at Moorefield.
Cumberland Legion at Moose. (Stitcher Field).
Centerville at Eagles. (Community Park).
Ridgeley at Barrelville.

Lefty Lou Stitcher was in top form yesterday and the Cumberland Fraternal Order of Eagles turned back the Ridgeley American Legion by the score of 9 to 0 in a seven-inning twilight Interstate Baseball League game at Community Park.

The Eagles' southpaw twirler limited the West Virginians to five hits and fired the third strike past nine batsmen in notching his sixth triumph of the season against four losses. Two of the five blows yielded by Stitcher were of the scratch variety.

Only one extra base hit was made and that was credited to Vern Penner, Eagles' first sacker, who rapped out a two-bagger. Bennett, centerfielder of Ridgeley, robbed Penner of what appeared to be an extra base hit with a nice running catch.

One of the highlights of the game was Penner's steal of home. "Neb" George topped the Eagles' hitters with three safeties while Delbrugge of the Eagles and Young of Ridgeley had two hits each.

The setback was the sixth in a row for the last place Ridgeley team. Box:

Damocles, a sycophant at the court of Dionysius the elder, disgusted the ruler with his fulsome praise of the happiness of princes. Dionysius decided to give him an object lesson so had him arrayed in all the panoply of royalty and seated him in state at a magnificant banquet. While enjoying the luxury and dignity, Damocles looked upward and saw a naked sword suspended over his head by a single horse haid.

Damocles, a sycophant at the court of Dionysius the elder, disgusted the ruler with his fulsome praise of the happiness of princes. Dionysius decided to give him an object lesson so had him arrayed in all the panoply of royalty and seated him in state at a magnificant banquet. While enjoying the luxury and dignity, Damocles looked upward and saw a naked sword suspended over his head by a single horse haid.

Williams Hits 25th Home Run As Boston Wins

Red Sox Score 12-2 Triumph Over Nats

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. (AP)—Ted Williams' 25th homer helped spark a 12 to 2 victory for the Boston Red Sox over the Washington Senators today.

The Red Sox got 15 hits off three Washington pitchers while Denny Galehouse, getting his seventh win, gave up only six.

Galehouse, who retired the first 17 Senators in order, gave up his first hit with two out in the sixth when Marino Pieretti singled to left. He coasted to an easy triumph, with the Red Sox staking him to an 8-0 lead. Box:

Coaching Box Carnival

Two Men Sliding Into One Bag

(This is the first of a series of 16 articles on baseball coaches).

By JIM BECKER
AP Newsfeatures Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Travis Jackson, great New York Giant shortstop of years ago, gave up a promising managerial career to move to the Polo Grounds coaching line—and he wants to stay right where he is.

Travis Jackson
Giants

Jackson, an all time star at the short patch position, was manager at Jersey City in the Giant chain and it looked as if the next stop might be the big Harlem stadium, but Travis decided that the coaching line was a nicer place to be. "No second-guessing, no headaches," says Jackson.

The ex-shortstop's sojourn as a Giant traffic cop has been uneventful so far, but Travis remembers a day in Jersey City in 1937 when he was stationed at third base for the Little Giants when things didn't go so well.

"Tom Baker, the pitcher, was on first and George Myatt, who was a very fast man, hit a long line drive that looked good for three bases," says Jackson. "I waved Baker on around third base and when Myatt came toward the bag I saw it was going to be a close play so I yelled: "slide!" Baker, who was half way home, thought I meant him so he turned around and slid back into third. Myatt hit the dirt from the other side and they both arrived together.

"Myatt, of course, was out.

Jackson, incidentally thinks the Giants' Buddy Kerr is as good a fielder "as I have ever seen." He rates only Lou Boudreau as a better shortstop—but only because of his hitting.

Next: Benny Bengough.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (AP)—It was tucked back among the want ads and public notices where obscure little sports items so often find their way, so you possibly didn't notice it at all.

The 18-point heading said: "Servo is kayoed in 1:28 of the first," and you suddenly realized it referred to Marty Servo, who one time held the world welterweight championship.

In a way it was a tragic story proving how one mistake sometimes can wreck a career. This mistake wasn't entirely Marty's, and we aren't blaming his manager, chubby Al Weill, either. Al made an honest mistake in overestimating the ability of the good-looking Schenectady lad. He just didn't realize he was handing Marty a stick of dynamite to play with.

Started As Pro In 1938

Servo had started fighting as a pro back in 1938, and under Weill's cautious guidance had piled up an impressive string of victories, being undefeated until he met Ray Robinson in 1941.

He made it close with Robinson, dropping a split decision if memory serves, and in May, 1942, he again lost to Sugar Ray, and again it was fairly close, if unanimous. We still can see Al seated on the ring step and staring at the floor, great beads of perspiration detouring down his face to drip from his chin. Marty was "his boy," and he couldn't bear to see him take punches.

Freddie "Red" Cochrane had won the welter crown by outpointing the fading Fritzie Zivic in July, 1941, and then the war came along and Cochrane went into the navy and put the title into cold storage.

Robinson generally had been termed the uncrowned king of the welters, and it was assumed he would get the first crack at the title when Cochrane returned and thawed it out. The reckooning was without the cagey Weill, however.

Al pulled a few financial strings and got his Marty the title shot. When all was said and done it cost Weill a few thousand dollars to get the bout, but when it was over Servo had the championship.

Everything was hotsy-totsy, and both Weill and Servo figured to make a nice little pile of money, even if Servo lost the title in his first defense. The clamor was for a Robinson-Servo fight, and there was no way of dodging it.

The fight finally was agreed upon, but in the meantime Weill saw a chance to pick up a nice piece of change by sending Marty into the ring against a rough, tough young fellow who had become quite a gate attraction hereabouts.

Graziano Pulverized Him

The kid's name was Rocky Graziano, and with little more than bull strength and a right hand full of firecrackers he was bowling over everything in sight.

Rocky is heavier than Servo. A middlewenght, in fact, so there was no title risk involved, and Weill figured there was no other risk, either. Servo himself was a rugged lad who could hit, and figured to handle Graziano all right through greater experience.

Well, you know what happened. Graziano fairly pulverized Marty, giving him a terrific beating before knocking him out. It wasn't a title fight, but it might as well have been. He lost the title through that knockout. A nose injury forced him to retire and relinquish the prize.

The nose eventually healed, and he decided to come back. In his second fight, at Bridgeport the other night a fellow named Joe Demartino walked out, belted Marty on the chin and polished him off in 1:28 of the first round.

An Anchorite is a recluse, or retired man, the word originated from the Greek. It literally is a person who withdraws from society; a hermit. The name was applied to those hermits who began to appear in the Christian church in the third century, living in solitude and not, like the monks or cenobites, in communities.

Falkenburg Wins Over Don McNeill

Schroeder, Talbert And Mulloy Advance

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 7 —(AP)—Bobby Falkenburg, the big Beverly Hills, Calif., kid, might not be the best tennis player in the world, but when he keeps his blazing service under control, he's virtually unbeatable.

Don McNeill, 1940 National champion, had the misfortune to come up against Bobby in the quarter-final round of the eastern grass courts championship at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club today, and was blasted off the courts by young Falkenburg's service, as Bobby fashioned a 6-3, 4-6, 6-4 triumph.

The remainder of the semi-final bracket also was filled with the top three seeded players coming through as expected. Ted Schroeder of Glendale, Calif., topped Earl Cochell, of Forest Hills, N. Y., 12-10, 6-3; Gardnar Mullay of Miami, Fla., No. 2, turned back Ed Moylan of San Francisco, Calif., rated sixth, 6-2, 6-2, and Bill Talbert of New York, third ranked, put the skids on Pancho Segura, of Ecuador, seventh seeded, 2-6, 6-3, 6-2.

The match between Falkenburg, seeded fifth, and McNeill, No. 4, who lives in nearby Orange, was a strange one, indeed. The veteran McNeill, who has confined his competitive tennis to local tournaments this year, simply could not handle Falkenburg's first service. Bobby scored ace after ace when he managed to get the ball over the net on the first try.

The hymn, "Te Deum Laudamus," is said by tradition to have been composed and sung alternately by St. Ambrose and St. Aubuslatter's baptism in 387 A. D. Scholarly opinion says that it probably as written by St. Nicetas (335-415) who was Bishop or Remesiana, now part of Serbia.

Police Will Protect Umpires At Gadsden

GADSDEN, Ala., Aug. 7—(AP)—Assignment of a policeman to protect each Southeastern League umpire working games here was announced today by Police Chief Fay Roman.

Chief Roman said he was investigating reports that two men struck an arbiter following a game here Monday night.

Roman said he was informed the umpire, whose identity he did not know, was struck as he made his way through the crowd out of the ball park. No formal protest from the umpire has been received, he said.

Coaching Box Carnival

Two Men Sliding Into One Bag

(This is the first of a series of 16 articles on baseball coaches).

By JIM BECKER
AP Newsfeatures Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Travis Jackson, great New York Giant shortstop of years ago, gave up a promising managerial career to move to the Polo Grounds coaching line—and he wants to stay right where he is.

Travis Jackson
Giants

Jackson, an all time star at the short patch position, was manager at Jersey City in the Giant chain and it looked as if the next stop might be the big Harlem stadium, but Travis decided that the coaching line was a nicer place to be. "No second-guessing, no headaches," says Jackson.

The ex-shortstop's sojourn as a Giant traffic cop has been uneventful so far, but Travis remembers a day in Jersey City in 1937 when he was stationed at third base for the Little Giants when things didn't go so well.

"Tom Baker, the pitcher, was on first and George Myatt, who was a very fast man, hit a long line drive that looked good for three bases," says Jackson. "I waved Baker on around third base and when Myatt came toward the bag I saw it was going to be a close play so I yelled: "slide!" Baker, who was half way home, thought I meant him so he turned around and slid back into third. Myatt hit the dirt from the other side and they both arrived together.

"Myatt, of course, was out.

Jackson, incidentally thinks the Giants' Buddy Kerr is as good a fielder "as I have ever seen." He rates only Lou Boudreau as a better shortstop—but only because of his hitting.

Next: Benny Bengough.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (AP)—It was tucked back among the want ads and public notices where obscure little sports items so often find their way, so you possibly didn't notice it at all.

The 18-point heading said: "Servo is kayoed in 1:28 of the first," and you suddenly realized it referred to Marty Servo, who one time held the world welterweight championship.

In a way it was a tragic story proving how one mistake sometimes can wreck a career. This mistake wasn't entirely Marty's, and we aren't blaming his manager, chubby Al Weill, either. Al made an honest mistake in overestimating the ability of the good-looking Schenectady lad. He just didn't realize he was handing Marty a stick of dynamite to play with.

Started As Pro In 1938

Servo had started fighting as a pro back in 1938, and under Weill's cautious guidance had piled up an impressive string of victories, being undefeated until he met Ray Robinson in 1941.

He made it close with Robinson, dropping a split decision if memory serves, and in May, 1942, he again lost to Sugar Ray, and again it was fairly close, if unanimous. We still can see Al seated on the ring step and staring at the floor, great beads of perspiration detouring down his face to drip from his chin. Marty was "his boy," and he couldn't bear to see him take punches.

Freddie "Red" Cochrane had won the welter crown by outpointing the fading Fritzie Zivic in July, 1941, and then the war came along and Cochrane went into the navy and put the title into cold storage.

Robinson generally had been termed the uncrowned king of the welters, and it was assumed he would get the first crack at the title when Cochrane returned and thawed it out. The reckooning was without the cagey Weill, however.

Al pulled a few financial strings and got his Marty the title shot. When all was said and done it cost Weill a few thousand dollars to get the bout, but when it was over Servo had the championship.

Everything was hotsy-totsy, and both Weill and Servo figured to make a nice little pile of money, even if Servo lost the title in his first defense. The clamor was for a Robinson-Servo fight, and there was no way of dodging it.

The fight finally was agreed upon, but in the meantime Weill saw a chance to pick up a nice piece of change by sending Marty into the ring against a rough, tough young fellow who had become quite a gate attraction hereabouts.

Graziano Pulverized Him

The kid's name was Rocky Graziano, and with little more than bull strength and a right hand full of firecrackers he was bowling over everything in sight.

Rocky is heavier than Servo. A middlewenght, in fact, so there was no title risk involved, and Weill figured there was no other risk, either. Servo himself was a rugged lad who could hit, and figured to handle Graziano all right through greater experience.

Well, you know what happened. Graziano fairly pulverized Marty, giving him a terrific beating before knocking him out. It wasn't a title fight, but it might as well have been. He lost the title through that knockout. A nose injury forced him to retire and relinquish the prize.

The nose eventually healed, and he decided to come back. In his second fight, at Bridgeport the other night a fellow named Joe Demartino walked out, belted Marty on the chin and polished him off in 1:28 of the first round.

An Anchorite is a recluse, or retired man, the word originated from the Greek. It literally is a person who withdraws from society; a hermit. The name was applied to those hermits who began to appear in the Christian church in the third century, living in solitude and not, like the monks or cenobites, in communities.

Falkenburg Wins Over Don McNeill

Schroeder, Talbert And Mulloy Advance

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 7 —(AP)—Bobby Falkenburg, the big Beverly Hills, Calif., kid, might not be the best tennis player in the world, but when he keeps his blazing service under control, he's virtually unbeatable.

Don McNeill, 1940 National champion, had the misfortune to come up against Bobby in the quarter-final round of the eastern grass courts championship at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club today, and was blasted off the courts by young Falkenburg's service, as Bobby fashioned a 6-3, 4-6, 6-4 triumph.

The remainder of the semi-final bracket also was filled with the top three seeded players coming through as expected. Ted Schroeder of Glendale, Calif., topped Earl Cochell, of Forest Hills, N. Y., 12-10, 6-3; Gardnar Mullay of Miami, Fla., No. 2, turned back Ed Moylan of San Francisco, Calif., rated sixth, 6-2, 6-2, and Bill Talbert of New York, third ranked, put the skids on Pancho Segura, of Ecuador, seventh seeded, 2-6, 6-3, 6-2.

The match between Falkenburg, seeded fifth, and McNeill, No. 4, who lives in nearby Orange, was a strange one, indeed. The veteran McNeill, who has confined his competitive tennis to local tournaments this year, simply could not handle Falkenburg's first service. Bobby scored ace after ace when he managed to get the ball over the net on the first try.

The hymn, "Te Deum Laudamus," is said by tradition to have been composed and sung alternately by St. Ambrose and St. Augustine at the latter's baptism in 387 A. D. Scholarly opinion says that it probably as written by St. Nicetas (335-415) who was Bishop or Remesiana, now part of Serbia.

Police Will Protect Umpires At Gadsden

GADSDEN, Ala., Aug. 7—(AP)—Assignment of a policeman to protect each Southeastern League umpire working games here was announced today by Police Chief Fay Roman.

Chief Roman said he was investigating reports that two men struck an arbiter following a game here Monday night.

Roman said he was informed the umpire, whose identity he did not know, was struck as he made his way through the crowd out of the ball park. No formal protest from the umpire has been received, he said.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Billy Rose

I'd like to dedicate an eight-bar rhapsody to what I regard as the best example of architecture in this town—the photographer's model.

Her identity card is a patent-leather hat box, and she walks as if she had the world tucked neatly inside it.

To the hot-eyed plow-jockey at Hotchkiss Corners, she's the aphrodisiac on the magazine cover. To the lucky stiffs on the isle of Manhattan, she's just another posie in the big bouquet. In my book, however, she's the Sunday boutonniere in Old Man Knickerbocker's lapel.

On not too many dollars a week she dresses like Paris in the Spring—to the despair of the Bar Harbor blue-bloods who toss thousands into the wishing well of fashion and come away looking drenched.

These foto-frails are as versatile as Orson—they read, they ride, they rhumba, and many a heavy-brether has discovered they also box a little.

There's many a feast for the eyes in New York—the red sky behind the Palisades at sunset—the Fort Tryon Park—the ever-green Park—the ever-green lady with the torch on Bedloe Island—but my favorite place for looking is the corner of 47th and Park. That's a grandstand seat for the parade of the nation's heart-stoppers—jiggling along on their way to a date at the photographer's.

Now don't get me wrong, I'm married for keeps, and there just isn't enough of me to lead a double life—but when my heart stops shouting "Hurray!" at the sight of these Kodachrome cuties, then I'll know it's time to start singing "Good-bye Broadway, Hello Frank Campbell."

Some weeks ago the editor of the Mississippi State College yearbook sent me a batch of pictures and asked me to select their prettiest student. The photos were only so-so, and as I handed them back to my press agent I said, "Judging by these beautiful girls don't go to college." My energetic bugle-blower released this bit of chit-chat to the press and—Voom! Dozens of college editors dashed to their typewriters and let me have it. I don't mind the editorials—they're spelling my name right—but as an oold saloon fighter I'm a little depressed by their choice of invective. Here's a sample: "The man who produced the Aquacade is all wet." If the insults don't get any better I'll be forced to the ridiculous conclusion that good writers don't go to college either.

Two Cases Dismissed In Magistrates' Court

Magistrate Frank A. Perdew dismissed an assault charge against Helen Kerns, Picardy, in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday after she denied firing a gun at the prosecuting witness, Eleanor Kerns, during an incident Monday.

George C. DeHaven, owner of a tavern in Corriganville, withdrew drunk and disorderly charges against Russell Bagley and George Wolfe, both of Ellerslie, and the case was dismissed by Magistrate Perdew.

ANNUAL 4-H CLUB CONVENTION OPENS

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 6 (AP)—The need for great men and women has never before been so acute as it is today, Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland, told 1,022 delegates to the 25th annual 4-H Club convention Wednesday.

Greatness does not depend on imitating famous persons, but rather on building on your own personalities and abilities, he said.

Rita Bittle, 4-H club leader from Garrett County, returned the greetings with a speech pointing out that State Club Week provides invaluable experience in leadership.

Dr. T. B. Symons, dean of the Agricultural College, told the 4-H Clubbers in his welcoming address they are "leaders of today as well as leaders of tomorrow."

He said the boys and girls already are assuming responsibilities in their home communities.

There are four elements necessary to the good life, Dr. Symons said—work, play, love and worship.

The boys and gorls in the 12 to 15 year age group split into two camps this afternoon, so the boys could discuss livestock and farm mechanics and the girls exchange ideas on clothing and home furnishing.

A joint discussion group was held by the older 4-H Clubbers on "Our Home, A Kindly, Happy Place." Mrs. Molly Hanst of Allegany County, led the forum.

About 31 per cent of all motor trucks in the United States in 1945 were used on farms.

Two Cases Dismissed In Magistrates' Court

Magistrate Frank A. Perdew dismissed an assault charge against Helen Kerns, Picardy, in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday after she denied firing a gun at the prosecuting witness, Eleanor Kerns, during an incident Monday.

George C. DeHaven, owner of a tavern in Corriganville, withdrew drunk and disorderly charges against Russell Bagley and George Wolfe, both of Ellerslie, and the case was dismissed by Magistrate Perdew.

ANNUAL 4-H CLUB CONVENTION OPENS

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 6 (AP)—The need for great men and women has never before been so acute as it is today, Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland, told 1,022 delegates to the 25th annual 4-H Club convention Wednesday.

Greatness does not depend on imitating famous persons, but rather on building on your own personalities and abilities, he said.

Rita Bittle, 4-H club leader from Garrett County, returned the greetings with a speech pointing out that State Club Week provides invaluable experience in leadership.

Dr. T. B. Symons, dean of the Agricultural College, told the 4-H Clubbers in his welcoming address they are "leaders of today as well as leaders of tomorrow."

He said the boys and girls already are assuming responsibilities in their home communities.

There are four elements necessary to the good life, Dr. Symons said—work, play, love and worship.

The boys and gorls in the 12 to 15 year age group split into two camps this afternoon, so the boys could discuss livestock and farm mechanics and the girls exchange ideas on clothing and home furnishing.

A joint discussion group was held by the older 4-H Clubbers on "Our Home, A Kindly, Happy Place." Mrs. Molly Hanst of Allegany County, led the forum.

About 31 per cent of all motor trucks in the United States in 1945 were used on farms.

Danube Helps Germany, Austria

BERLIN—(AP)—American authorities have hitched every available power-producing fall in the Danube river to deliver power for the United States zone's coal-short industry.

Now they are giving the Austrian economy a boost with coal deliveries via the Danube. The first substantial commercial traffic on the Danube since the war began during July when 25,000 tons of Ruhr coal sold to Austria was delivered to mills in Linz producing steel and nitrogen for fertilizers. These Danube shipments in August were expected to total 50,000 tons.

Big-scale utilization of the Danube for commercial shipments by U. S. authorities was delayed by lack of control over sizable stretches of the river.

The Division of Territories and Island Possessions set up in the United States Interior department by executive order of President Roosevelt, March 3, 1933, has oversight of the affairs of Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. The Canal Zone is under the control of the War department, and American Samoa and Guam under the Navy department.

New York state rates second highest in "gasoline" use. In one month its consumption was almost 193,000,000 gallons, compared with almost 280,000,000 for California and about 189,000,000 for Texas.

Owner Opposes Using Influence Of Firm In Bond Sale

Declares Employes Not Ones To Invest

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Aug. 7—Benedict Berkowitz, president of the Michael Berkowitz Company, New York, owners of the Frostburg Pajama Factory, informed a committee of Frostburg citizens conducting a soliciting campaign to raise $80,000 by a sale of bonds for the erection of a new factory here, he was opposed to the company using its influence to have the employes at the Frostburg plant purchase bonds.

Berkowitz made this statement at a conference in the city hall this afternoon which he was invited to attend when the local committe learned a week ago for the first time that the company was opposed to its employes buying the bonds as employes.

The company's position, as explained by Berkowitz, is if they wish to buy bonds as citizens or property owners that is their business but for the company to use its influence to encourage them to make such purchases as employes would involve a moral obligation the company would not care to assume.

He explained this position by citing a possible case where a bond-owning employe, who may have subscribed for one or more bonds at the insistence of the company, later developed a case of inefficency that her services were of no value to the company, might resent being dismissed simply because of being the owner of a bond.

Employes Would Add Little

Berkowitz asked the committee if soliciting the company's employes was not scraping the bottom of the barrel from a dollarwise standpoint, as the purchases from employes obviously would add little to the success of the campaign. "It is a sad commentary on the community," he said, "to go to the girls in the factory as a last resort when it should be the business concerns, professional people and large property owners to support the project, not as a dollar investment but as community investment."

Berkowitz declared that he never said nor permitted it to be said as his purpose, if the city failed to secure a new plant that the company would move from the community or take the present $200,000, payroll away from the present employes. He also pointed out that the present campaign for a larger building had been underway for approximately a year and insisted that he have a "yes" or "no" answer by October 1, so the company might be in a position to confer with other communities.

"Not Moving Out Of Town"

"In the meantime," he said, "if anything develops of greater interest to the company so far as a larger building elsewhere is concerned the company would feel free to act." He also stated that in spite of the inadequate and antiquated facilities, "I am not moving out of Frostburg even if we secure greater facilities elsewhere." He indicated that this attitude of the company may be revised if improved methods make it economically impossible to continue here.

The meeting was presided over by Thomas Elias, president of the Frostburg Business Association, and attended by eight members, including Mayor Marshall C. Skidmore. The committee decided to continue the sale of bonds in an effort to obtain the remaining $40,000 to reach the goal of $80,000.

Berkowitz was accompanied here by Norman Fisher, a director of the company.

Marriage Announced

Mrs. Raffella Dormio, 130 Mount Pleasant Street, announces the marriage of her daughter, Ida Mary Seggie, to Michael Anthony Grable, son of Mrs. Virginia Grable and the late Michael Grable, Everett, Pa.

The marriage was solemnized Saturday, August 2 in St. Michael's Catholic Church by Rev. Francis Montgomery. The couple exchanged vows before an altar banked with white gladiolus and tall white tapers.

The bride was attired in a street length gown of baby blue crepe with which she wore white accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds and baby breath.

Mrs. Kenneth Lowery, sister of the bride, who served as matron of honor wore an eylet street length gown with white accessories. Her corsage was of sweet peas and baby breath.

Joseph Dormio, brother of the bride, served as best man.

Mrs. Richard Goldsworthy, organist, played traditional wedding marches and Miss Drucilla Schriner sang "On Tis Day, Oh Beautiful Mother" and "Ave Maria."

As the couple left the church a salute was sounded by the firing squad from the American Legion of which the bridegroom is a member.

Following the ceremony a breakfast was held at the home of the bride's mother for friends and relatives. A three tiered wedding cake with a miniature bride and groom adorned the refreshment table.

Owner Opposes Using Influence Of Firm In Bond Sale

Declares Employes Not Ones To Invest

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Aug. 7—Benedict Berkowitz, president of the Michael Berkowitz Company, New York, owners of the Frostburg Pajama Factory, informed a committee of Frostburg citizens conducting a soliciting campaign to raise $80,000 by a sale of bonds for the erection of a new factory here, he was opposed to the company using its influence to have the employes at the Frostburg plant purchase bonds.

Berkowitz made this statement at a conference in the city hall this afternoon which he was invited to attend when the local committe learned a week ago for the first time that the company was opposed to its employes buying the bonds as employes.

The company's position, as explained by Berkowitz, is if they wish to buy bonds as citizens or property owners that is their business but for the company to use its influence to encourage them to make such purchases as employes would involve a moral obligation the company would not care to assume.

He explained this position by citing a possible case where a bond-owning employe, who may have subscribed for one or more bonds at the insistence of the company, later developed a case of inefficency that her services were of no value to the company, might resent being dismissed simply because of being the owner of a bond.

Employes Would Add Little

Berkowitz asked the committee if soliciting the company's employes was not scraping the bottom of the barrel from a dollarwise standpoint, as the purchases from employes obviously would add little to the success of the campaign. "It is a sad commentary on the community," he said, "to go to the girls in the factory as a last resort when it should be the business concerns, professional people and large property owners to support the project, not as a dollar investment but as community investment."

Berkowitz declared that he never said nor permitted it to be said as his purpose, if the city failed to secure a new plant that the company would move from the community or take the present $200,000, payroll away from the present employes. He also pointed out that the present campaign for a larger building had been underway for approximately a year and insisted that he have a "yes" or "no" answer by October 1, so the company might be in a position to confer with other communities.

"Not Moving Out Of Town"

"In the meantime," he said, "if anything develops of greater interest to the company so far as a larger building elsewhere is concerned the company would feel free to act." He also stated that in spite of the inadequate and antiquated facilities, "I am not moving out of Frostburg even if we secure greater facilities elsewhere." He indicated that this attitude of the company may be revised if improved methods make it economically impossible to continue here.

The meeting was presided over by Thomas Elias, president of the Frostburg Business Association, and attended by eight members, including Mayor Marshall C. Skidmore. The committee decided to continue the sale of bonds in an effort to obtain the remaining $40,000 to reach the goal of $80,000.

Berkowitz was accompanied here by Norman Fisher, a director of the company.

City Buys Option On Property For Crossing Project

Council Purchases M. T. Staggs Lot

By MRS. JOSEPH H. TAYLOR

KEYSER, W. Va., Aug. 7—A special Council meeting was held this morning at 11 o'clock to take up the option on the M. F. Staggs property which connects Mozelle and North Water Streets so that the way may be cleared for work to begin on the elimination of the North Water Street Baltimore and Ohio crossing.

Councilman Glenn Smith made a motion that the City take up the option, and his motion was seconded by Councilman Ralph Casteel.

The sum of $1,000 was paid to M. T. and Hazel K. Staggs and the deed was turned over to City Attorney James H. Swadley, Jr. to prepare and record.

The lot will be used in the extention of North Water Street to the East end of Mozelle Street, so that residents of the former section may use the East Street B. and O. crossing.

Parking Meters Changed

City pjarking meters in the business section of Keyser have been changed to accept five pennies at one time instead of one penny, or one nickel. Meters in the surrounding sections will accept two nickels or five pennies. The change was made effetive today.

Business section meters that will accept up to five pennies or one nickel for an hour's parking are located on Main and Armstrong Streets, Centre Street from Davis to Main, and Davis from Armstrong to Centre. These meters register only a single hour so that downtown traffic can be kept moving.

All other city meters will accommodate two hours parking and will accept up to five pennies for one hour, or two nickels for 120 minutes' parking time. These include Davis Street from Centre to Piedmont, Centre Street from Main to Sharpless, South, East and West Streets.

Since the new change has been made, city officers will not insert additional money for patrons who have left pennies or nickels lying on meters to buy more parking time when their amount has expired.

"Miss Keyser" To Be Selected

"Miss Keyser of 1947" will be crowned on Monday evening August 11, in the Murphy Lot on Davis Street, by Miss Jean Dixon, Cumberland, 18-year-old "Miss Maryland," after the judges have made their selection from the 29 contestants.

"Miss Maryland" will arrive in Keyser at 7 p. m. Monday for the contest. She will be escorted by State Police and accompanied by representatives Raymond O'Rourke and Jack Moore, of the Cumberland Junior Chamber of Commerce.

All contestants for the title of "Miss Keyser of 1947" are asked to meet at the City Council Chamber, Davis Street, at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow, according to an announcement made by James Briley, member of the planning committee.

The newest entree for the contest is Mary Jane Bishop, sponsored by Boggs Supply Company.

Reburial Movies To Be Shown

Thomas R. Bosley, Adjutant, Boyce-Houser Post No. 41, American Legion, has announced that a moving picture, entitled "Decision", will be shown in the Keyser High School Auditorium at 7:30, on Saturday night.

The movie, which is free to the public, will help next of kin of veterans killed in World War II, decide whether to leave the remains where they are or to have them returned to the United States for burial.

Samuel Clark, Philadelphia, representing the War Department, will be in charge of the program. He will have a 16 mm Motion picture, with sound track, which describes in story sequence the basic features of particular interest to next-of-kin. This picture will show in addition to views of our National Cemeteries abroad that are available for interment of U. S. war dead. Mr. Clark will discuss the plan in more detail and will be available to answer questions from the audience.

Coffman-Ludwick Nuptials

Before the huge, flower banked fireplace, in the Ludwick Cottage, on Deep Creek Lake, Mrs. Ruth E. Coffman, Keyser, became the bride of Charles D. Ludwick, also of Keyser, at High Noon, Wednesday, August 6th.

Rev. A. R. Showalter, pastor of the Keyser Church of the Brethren, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ludwick, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

The bride was attired in a gown of aqua-blue crepe, with black and grey accessories, and a corsage of orchids. The matron-of-honor wore a pink gown with a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Showalter wore a navy blue print with a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ludwick, son and daughter-in-law of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, the party dined at the Pickwick Inn, Oakland. After a honeymoon trip through Maine, the couple will reside at 172 Centre Street, Keyser.

Negro Arrested

Marvin M. Hamilton, identified by Lawrence Thompson, Piedmont negro, as the man who stabbed him in a street brawl, Tuesday night, was arrested in Paw Paw, W. Va., late last night and returned to Mineral County jail by Cpl. R. R. Karickhoff early this morning.

Hamilton admits being in Piedmont on Tuesday evening, but denies participation in the fight during which Thompson received the chest wound. He will probably be given a hearing on Friday.

Eagles Steward Fined

Scott Dawson, Steward for the Eagles Lodge, Piedmont, was given a hearing this afternoon before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzie on a charge of illegal possession of liquor and operation of two slot machines. He pleaded guilty to both counts and was fined $100 and costs on the liquor charge, and $200 and costs, on the slot machine charge.

G. H. Bowman Rites

A funeral service for George H. Bowman, who died Tuesday was conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Rogers Chapel, by Rev. A. R. Showalter, pastor of the Church of the Brethren. Interment was in Queens Point Cemetery.

Personal Items

Legislative Council

be true, Stewart said he would offer his proposal which, "if adopted, could easily, quickly and inexpensively correct any mistakes in the judgment or orders of the judges of the Orphans Court."

First appeals from the Orphans Court now are taken to the Court of Appeals and Stewart said this oft-times is too costly and time consuming.

William V. Keegan, Cumberland's commissioner of police and fire, in one brief statement called for quick action in clearing up pollution of the Potomac River.

Several Others Speak

W. Arnold Gunther, state bacteriologist here, in the absence of Dr. Winter R. Frantz, called for enactment of legislation establishing sanitary districts in the county. Such an act proposed at the last session of the legislature passed the House of Delegates but was "lost in the print shop" before it reached the Senate, Gunther said.

He added, "We can't go forward to meet the needs without it," and urged the council to present the measure again at the next session of the legislature.

Sen. Kimble, who introduced Sen. Byrnes, explained that the four-day inspection tour of Western Maryland by the council is to acquaint the members with conditions and the "way we live here in the mountains."

He cited some of Western Maryland's problems, including the proposal to remove the teachers college, strip mining and recreation, and said that the council, while on its tour, can "visualize these problems."

"When the Council passes the final edict," Sen. Kimble said, "I am sure it will be in the interest of the people of Western Maryland and will be a fair and just edict."

Sen. Joseph R. Byrnes, speaker of the Senate and chairman of the council, who presided, said the council is visiting Western Maryland to "learn first hand your problems and, if in any way we can, to solve them."

Interested In Dam

He said he is interested personally in completion of the Savage River Dam and pollution of the Potomac River.

County, city and town officials and others introduced at the meeting in addition to those who offered suggestions are Paul M. Fletcher, assistant state's attorney; Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools; Mrs. Kimble, acting state commissioner of labor; Sheriff Edward R. Muir; J. William Hunt, editor of the Sunday Times; Harry H. Robinson, managing editor of The Cumberland News; County Commissioner James Holmes; City Commissioners William J. Edwards, Myers G. Light and Clifton Fuller; Walter C. Capper, chairman of the Liquor Control Board; Fred Crowe and Henry Sweene, members of the Liquor Control Board; Stanley Hamilton, of the Board of Election Supervisors; Robert Jackson, clerk of court; J. Milton McIntyre, Mayor of Westernport; Alex Burt, mayor of Lonaconing; Verl Ash, mayor of Midland; and Alban C. Thompson.

Members of the Allegany County Delegation, who accompanied the Legislative Council on its visits to the Celanese and Kelly-Springfield Tire plants yesterday, also were introduced. Breakfast was served the group at the Kelly plant, and lunch at the Celanese plant. The council met with Tasker G. Lowndes, president of the State Board of Education at 5 p. m.

This morning the group will be the guests of State's Attorney Harris and Assistant State's Attorney Fletcher at breakfast at the Liberty Tavern. Following a tour of the B. and O. shops here, the council is scheduled to arrive at State Teachers College at 11 a. m. to inspect the buildings. Lunch will be served there.

Coal mines and strip mining will be inspected this afternoon and a visit is planned to Miners Hospital, Frostburg. The council will be guests of a committee of citizens interested in the teachers college at Big Savage Inn tonight.

Weather In Nearby States

WEST VIRGINIA—Mostly cloudy with scattered showers today. Cooler tonight. Increasing cloudiness tomorrow.

Vaccination Against Smallpox Is Advised

Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, advises parents who will have children entering school to have their children vaccinated against smallpox as it is a legal requirement in Maryland for entry into the first grade.

Children who have not been vaccinated should be taken to their physicians for vaccination immediately. It is much better Dr. Riley states, to have the scar healed before school begins. He added that youngsters who were vaccinated in infancy should have a re-vaccination in order to keep their immunity at a high level.

Dr. Riley also advised parents to have children planning to enter school for the first time immunized against diptheria. Although, he said, it is not required by law, protection against this disease is of great importance to every child.

The head of the state health program stated that preschool children should be taken to their physicians or to the nearest clinic for a complete physical examination.

Strother Explains Returned Check To City

In a News story from the meeting of the City Council Monday, it was stated William A. Strother, county tax collector, returned a check for $124.33 to the city, which the city had previously paid him as his fee for collecting auto taxes.

Yesterday, Strother said he believes this to be a misleading statement and attempted to clarify it.

The check in question represented one and one-half percent of $8,288.50, or $124.33 which would amount to the collection fee for the city's share of taxes collected on autos by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Strother said after the charge was made against the city's account, and he received a check from the city, for the collection fee, he contacted the Department of Motor Vehicles and was informed the department does not make a collection charge to the county or city on the particular class of cars covered by the remittance.

Strother explained that in billing the city for the one-and-one-half percent, his office had been in error and under the impression he would be billed for this amount by the Department of Motor Vehicles. Since the department made no charge for collections, Strother said he merely returned the check to the city, as it was not a proper charge in the first place.

Playground Group Would Ban All Card Games

The Cumberland Playground Association last night passed a unanimous resolution to request playground directors to stop all card games at the recreation centers and left open for further discussion the minimum age limit for children using the centers.

President William Buchholtz told the representatives that he believed the use of the playgrounds by small children could be regulated by the individual playground associations to permit all children, who do not need the constant supervision of older persons to use them.

The representatives, acting on a request made at a pervious meeting informed the president that each unit favored abolishing all card games as a means of recreation on the grounds.

City's Recreation

Oldtown Road in vicinity of Massachusetts Avenue.

6. South Cumberland, west of Virginia Avenue.

The report cites particularly that West Side is in need of a playground similar to the North End, East Side and South End playgrounds which are viewed as in need of improvement.

It is recommended that an area of three to five acres be acquired on West Side and developed and that all such playgrounds be properly drained, graded, landscaped and equipped with ball diamonds, tennis courts, playground equipment and miscellaneous items.

It is recommended, too, that hilltop and hillside land such as Lovers Leap and Wills Mountain areas be acquired for ultimate development as a park.

Indoor facilities which are now part of the school system such as auditoriums, gymnasiums and class rooms should be reviewed, the report suggests, in relation to their availability for public recreational activity.

DEATHS

MRS. EDNA ADAMS

HYNDMAN, Pa., Aug. 7 — Mrs. Edna Catherine Adams, 57, wife of James O. Adams, Sr., died this morning at 9 o'clock at her home in Hyndman. She had been in ill health for several months.

She was born April 6, 1890, in Ellerslie, a daughter of the late Samuel and Molly Kennell Gomer, and was married June 21, 1910, to Mr. Adams, a retired blacksmith and garage operator. She was a member of Hyndman Evangelical Church.

Also surviving are two children, James O. Adams, Jr., Hyndman, and Mrs. Evelyn Steadman, Rochester, N. Y.; three brothers, Walter C. Gomer, Pittsburgh; Harry Gomer, Boswell, Pa., and Earl Gomer, of near Hyndman, and three sisters, Mrs. Cora Belle, Boswell; Mrs. Eva Thomas, Jenners, Pa., and Mrs. Ida Everline, Cumberland.

A funeral service will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Ziegler Funeral Home, Hyndman, by Rev. C. E. Miller, pastor of Hyndman Evangelical Church. Burial will be in Hyndman Cemetery.

MRS. DOBBIE RITES

A funeral service for Mrs. Sallie W. Dobbie, 83, widow of James J. Dobbie, who died yesterday morning in Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient since May 27, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Stein Funeral Home.

Rev. Chesley V. Daniel, assistant rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, will officiate and burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Dobbie, who made her home with her daughter, Mrs. John T. Somerville, 209 Fayette Street, was a native of Maryland, a daughter of the late Andrew Jackson and Rebecca Cresap Clark.

Also surviving are two sons, William Clark and M. Gibson Dobbie, both of Fairmont, W. Va.; a sister, Mrs. W. F. Lach, also of Fairmont, seven grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

CHARLES COX RITES

A funeral service for Charles W. Cox, 66, 425 Independence Street, City Street Department employe, who died suddenly yesterday morning in Allegany Hospital, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Stein Funeral Home.

Rev. M. A. Keesecker, pastor of Kingsley Methodist Church, will officiate and burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Cox was admitted to Allegany Hospital yesterday at 1:40 a. m. after he became ill and died at 3:30 a. m. Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy medical examiner, said death resulted from a coronary occulsion. Mr. Cox was admitted for a gall bladder operation, Dr. Deming was advised.

Born near Springfield, W. Va., he was a son of the late Thomas and Rebecca Kaylor Cox. He had been employed as a laborer by the city for some time.

His only survivor is a stepson, Charles J. "Kirk" Beckwith, with whom he made his home.

MRS. DIAGOSTINE RITES

A funeral mass for Mrs. Clementina Diagostine, 54, wife of Frank Diagostine, 208 West Third Street, who died yesterday morning in Memorial Hospital, will be conducted tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in St. Mary's Catholic Church. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Diagostine, whose death resulted from a recent heart attack, was a native of Italy but had lived in this country for many years.

Also surviving are two sons and two daughters by a former marriage, Frank and Nick Perlozzo, Mrs. Jerry Spera and Mrs. William Barnhart, all of Cumberland, and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Anthona Lugga, Penns Grove, N. J.

ARTHUR L. McCORMICK

Arthur Leroy McCormick, 35, 100 West Second Street, Celanese employe, died suddenly last night in the Goodfellowship Club, Virginia Avenue, shortly after he entered, according to city police.

Authorities, who said death was from natural causes, stated other members of the club, said McCormick had just taken a seat when he toppled to the floor. He had been suffering from a heart condition, police said they were informed.

Police took McCormick to Memorial Hospital, but a local physician said he apparently died instantly.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Hazel McCormick, a daughter, Karan Arline, at home; a step daughter, Roberta Willison; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. McCormick, and two brothers, Charles L. McCormick, LaVale, and Russell C. McCormick, this city.

IVOR DAVIS RITES

A funeral service for Ivor Davis, 38, 127 West Third Street, World War II veteran, who died Tuesday in Newton D. Baker Veterans Hospital, will be conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of his sister, Mrs. John Holshey, 123 West Third Street.

Rev. Donald F. Brake, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, will officiate and burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery. Pallbearers will be Milton Ryan, Victor Hebb, Richard Collins, Alvin Duckworth, Jerry Bechee and John Boswell.

Clifford B. Sisler Post, American Legion, Ridgeley, W. Va., will hold a special meeting at post headquarters tonight at 8:30 o'clock. All veterans are urged to attend.

The Virginia Avenue Playground Association will sponsor a festival Thursday night from 6 to 9 p. m. at the recreation center to raise money for the purchase of new equipment, Mrs. Charles Krapf, chairman said last night. Among the features of entertainment will be pony rides for the children.

West Side Fire Company was called to the rear of 305 Beall Street yesterday at 6:57 p. m. when a garbage can caught fire.

Council Purchases M. T. Staggs Lot

By MRS. JOSEPH H. TAYLOR

KEYSER, W. Va., Aug. 7—A special Council meeting was held this morning at 11 o'clock to take up the option on the M. F. Staggs property which connects Mozelle and North Water Streets so that the way may be cleared for work to begin on the elimination of the North Water Street Baltimore and Ohio crossing.

Councilman Glenn Smith made a motion that the City take up the option, and his motion was seconded by Councilman Ralph Casteel.

The sum of $1,000 was paid to M. T. and Hazel K. Staggs and the deed was turned over to City Attorney James H. Swadley, Jr. to prepare and record.

The lot will be used in the extention of North Water Street to the East end of Mozelle Street, so that residents of the former section may use the East Street B and O. crossing.

Parking Meters Changed

City pjarking meters in the business section of Keyser have been changed to accept five pennies at one time instead of one penny, or one nickel. Meters in the surrounding sections will accept two nickels or five pennies. The change was made effetive today.

Business section meters that will accept up to five pennies or one nickel for an hour's parking are located on Main and Armstrong Streets, Centre Street from Davis to Main, and Davis from Armstrong to Centre. These meters register only a single hour so that downtown traffic can be kept moving.

All other city meters will accommodate two hours parking and will accept up to five pennies for one hour, or two nickels for 120 minutes' parking time. These include Davis Street from Centre to Piedmont, Centre Street from Main to Sharpless, South, East and West Streets.

Since the new change has been made, city officers will not insert additional money for patrons who have left pennies or nickels lying on meters to buy more parking time when their amount has expired.

"Miss Keyser" To Be Selected

"Miss Keyser of 1947" will be crowned on Monday evening August 11, in the Murphy Lot on Davis Street, by Miss Jean Dixon, Cumberland, 18-year-old "Miss Maryland," after the judges have made their selection from the 29 contestants.

"Miss Maryland" will arrive in Keyser at 7 p. m. Monday for the contest. She will be escorted by State Police and accompanied by representatives Raymond O'Rourke and Jack Moore, of the Cumberland Junior Chamber of Commerce.

All contestants for the title of "Miss Keyser of 1947" are asked to meet at the City Council Chamber, Davis Street, at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow, according to an announcement made by James Briley, member of the planning committee.

The newest entree for the contest is Mary Jane Bishop, sponsored by Boggs Supply Company.

Reburial Movies To Be Shown

Thomas R. Bosley, Adjutant, Boyce-Houser Post No. 41, American Legion, has announced that a moving picture, entitled "Decision", will be shown in the Keyser High School Auditorium at 7:30, on Saturday night.

The movie, which is free to the public, will help next of kin of veterans killed in World War II, decide whether to leave the remains where they are or to have them returned to the United States for burial.

Samuel Clark, Philadelphia, representing the War Department, will be in charge of the program. He will have a 16 mm Motion picture, with sound track, which describes in story sequence the basic features of particular interest to next-of-kin. This picture will show in addition to views of our National Cemeteries abroad that are available for interment of U. S. war dead. Mr. Clark will discuss the plan in more detail and will be available to answer questions from the audience.

Coffman-Ludwick Nuptials

Before the huge, flower banked fireplace, in the Ludwick Cottage, on Deep Creek Lake, Mrs. Ruth E. Coffman, Keyser, became the bride of Charles D. Ludwick, also of Keyser, at High Noon, Wednesday, August 6th.

Rev. A. R. Showalter, pastor of the Keyser Church of the Brethren, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ludwick, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

The bride was attired in a gown of aqua-blue crepe, with black and grey accessories, and a corsage of orchids. The matron-of-honor wore a pink gown with a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Showalter wore a navy blue print with a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ludwick, son and daughter-in-law of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, the party dined at the Pickwick Inn, Oakland. After a honeymoon trip through Maine, the couple will reside at 172 Centre Street, Keyser.

Negro Arrested

Marvin M. Hamilton, identified by Lawrence Thompson, Piedmont negro, as the man who stabbed him in a street brawl, Tuesday night, was arrested in Paw Paw, W. Va., late last night and returned to Mineral County jail by Cpl. R. R. Karickhoff early this morning.

Hamilton admits being in Piedmont on Tuesday evening, but denies participation in the fight during which Thompson received the chest wound. He will probably be given a hearing on Friday.

Eagles Steward Fined

Scott Dawson, Steward for the Eagles Lodge, Piedmont, was given a hearing this afternoon before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzie on a charge of illegal possession of liquor and operation of two slot machines. He pleaded guilty to both counts and was fined $100 and costs on the liquor charge, and $200 and costs, on the slot machine charge.

G. H. Bowman Rites

A funeral service for George H. Bowman, who died Tuesday was conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Rogers Chapel, by Rev. A. R. Showalter, pastor of the Church of the Brethren. Interment was in Queens Point Cemetery.

Personal Items

Mrs. E. A. Courrier and two sons, Jimmy and Johnny, have returned from a trip to Corpus Christi, Texas.

Mrs. Louise Neely, who has been spending her vacation here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Jennings, has returned to Washington, accompanied by her daughter, Delores Neely, who will spend several days with her mother.

Master Scott Bosley is spending a week with relatives in Baxter, W. Va.

Mrs. Arnold is visiting in Clarksburg, W. Va.

Mrs. James Hickle, Miss Aleda Dawn and Miss Tina Clark have returned from visiting Mrs. Hickle's mother in Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Oss, Keyser, announce the birth of a daughter, Helen Carol, at Potomac Valley Hospital yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Moreland announce the birth of a daughter this morning at Potomac Valley Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wilson, Westernport, announce the birth of a daughter this morning at Potomac Valley Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Murphy, Piedmont, announce the birth of a son this afternoon at Potomac Valley Hospital.

Legislative Council

be true, Stewart said he would offer his proposal which, "if adopted, could easily, quickly and inexpensively correct any mistakes in the judgment or orders of the judges of the Orphans Court."

First appeals from the Orphans Court now are taken to the Court of Appeals and Stewart said this oft-times is too costly and time consuming.

William V. Keegan, Cumberland's commissioner of police and fire, in one brief statement called for quick action in clearing up pollution of the Potomac River.

Several Others Speak

W. Arnold Gunther, state bacteriologist here, in the absence of Dr. Winter R. Frantz, called for enactment of legislation establishing sanitary districts in the county. Such an act proposed at the last session of the legislature passed the House of Delegates but was "lost in the print shop" before it reached the Senate, Gunther said.

He added, "We can't go forward to meet the needs without it," and urged the council to present the measure again at the next session of the legislature.

Sen. Kimble, who introduced Sen. Byrnes, explained that the four-day inspection tour of Western Maryland by the council is to acquaint the members with conditions and the "way we live here in the mountains."

He cited some of Western Maryland's problems, including the proposal to remove the teachers college, strip mining and recreation, and said that the council, while on its tour, can "visualize these problems."

"When the Council passes the final edict," Sen. Kimble said, "I am sure it will be in the interest of the people of Western Maryland and will be a fair and just edict."

Sen. Joseph R. Byrnes, speaker of the Senate and chairman of the council, who presided, said the council is visiting Western Maryland to "learn first hand your problems and, if in any way we can, to solve them."

Interested In Dam

He said he is interested personally in completion of the Savage River Dam and pollution of the Potomac River.

County, city and town officials and others introduced at the meeting in addition to those who offered suggestions are Paul M. Fletcher, assistant state's attorney; Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools; Mrs. Kimble, acting state commissioner of labor; Sheriff Edward R. Muir; J. William Hunt, editor of the Sunday Times; Harry H. Robinson, managing editor of The Cumberland News; County Commissioner James Holmes; City Commissioners William J. Edwards, Myers G. Light and Clifton Fuller; Walter C. Capper, chairman of the Liquor Control Board; Fred Crowe and Henry Sweene, members of the Liquor Control Board; Stanley Hamilton, of the Board of Election Supervisors; Robert Jackson, clerk of court; J. Milton McIntyre, Mayor of Westernport; Alex Burt, mayor of Lonaconing; Verl Ash, mayor of Midland; and Alban C. Thompson.

Members of the Allegany County Delegation, who accompanied the Legislative Council on its visits to the Celanese and Kelly-Springfield Tire plants yesterday, also were introduced. Breakfast was served the group at the Kelly plant, and lunch at the Celanese plant. The council met with Tasker G. Lowndes, president of the State Board of Education at 5 p. m.

This morning the group will be the guests of State's Attorney Harris and Assistant State's Attorney Fletcher at breakfast at the Liberty Tavern. Following a tour of the B. and O. shops here, the council is scheduled to arrive at State Teachers College at 11 a. m. to inspect the buildings. Lunch will be served there.

Coal mines and strip mining will be inspected this afternoon and a visit is planned to Miners Hospital, Frostburg. The council will be guests of a committee of citizens interested in the teachers college at Big Savage Inn tonight.

Vaccination Against Smallpox Is Advised

Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, advises parents who will have children entering school to have their children vaccinated against smallpox as it is a legal requirement in Maryland for entry into the first grade.

Children who have not been vaccinated should be taken to their physicians for vaccination immediately. It is much better Dr. Riley states, to have the scar healed before school begins. He added that youngsters who were vaccinated in infancy should have a re-vaccination in order to keep their immunity at a high level.

Dr. Riley also advised parents to have children planning to enter school for the first time immunized against diptheria. Although, he said, it is not required by law, protection against this disease is of great importance to every child.

The head of the state health program stated that preschool children should be taken to their physicians or to the nearest clinic for a complete physical examination.

Strother Explains Returned Check To City

In a News story from the meeting of the City Council Monday, it was stated William A. Strother, county tax collector, returned a check for $124.33 to the city, which the city had previously paid him as his fee for collecting auto taxes.

Yesterday, Strother said he believes this to be a misleading statement and attempted to clarify it.

The check in question represented one and one-half percent of $8,288.50, or $124.33 which would amount to the collection fee for the city's share of taxes collected on autos by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Strother said after the charge was made against the city's account, and he received a check from the city, for the collection fee, he contacted the Department of Motor Vehicles and was informed the department does not make a collection charge to the county or city on the particular class of cars covered by the remittance.

Strother explained that in billing the city for the one-and-one-half percent, his office had been in error and under the impression he would be billed for this amount by the Department of Motor Vehicles. Since the department made no charge for collections, Strother said he merely returned the check to the city, as it was not a proper charge in the first place.

Playground Group Would Ban All Card Games

The Cumberland Playground Association last night passed a unanimous resolution to request playground directors to stop all card games at the recreation centers and left open for further discussion the minimum age limit for children using the centers.

President William Buchholtz told the representatives that he believed the use of the playgrounds by small children could be regulated by the individual playground associations to permit all children, who do not need the constant supervision of older persons to use them.

The representatives, acting on a request made at a pervious meeting informed the president that each unit favored abolishing all card games as a means of recreation on the grounds.

City's Recreation

Oldtown Road in vicinity of Massachusetts Avenue.

6. South Cumberland, west of Virginia Avenue.

The report cites particularly that West Side is in need of a playground similar to the North End, East Side and South End playgrounds which are viewed as in need of improvement.

It is recommended that an area of three to five acres be acquired on West Side and developed and that all such playgrounds be properly drained, graded, landscaped and equipped with ball diamonds, tennis courts, playground equipment and miscellaneous items.

It is recommended, too, that hilltop and hillside land such as Lovers Leap and Wills Mountain areas be acquired for ultimate development as a park.

Indoor facilities which are now part of the school system such as auditoriums, gymnasiums and class rooms should be reviewed, the report suggests, in relation to their availability for public recreational activity.

DEATHS

MRS. EDNA ADAMS

HYNDMAN, Pa., Aug. 7 — Mrs. Edna Catherine Adams, 57, wife of James O. Adams, Sr., died this morning at 9 o'clock at her home in Hyndman. She had been in ill health for several months.

She was born April 6, 1890, in Ellerslie, a daughter of the late Samuel and Molly Kennell Gomer, and was married June 21, 1910, to Mr. Adams, a retired blacksmith and garage operator. She was a member of Hyndman Evangelical Church.

Also surviving are two children, James O. Adams, Jr., Hyndman, and Mrs. Evelyn Steadman, Rochester, N. Y.; three brothers, Walter C. Gomer, Pittsburgh; Harry Gomer, Boswell, Pa., and Earl Gomer, of near Hyndman, and three sisters, Mrs. Cora Belle, Boswell; Mrs. Eva Thomas, Jenners, Pa., and Mrs. Ida Everline, Cumberland.

A funeral service will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Ziegler Funeral Home, Hyndman, by Rev. C. E. Miller, pastor of Hyndman Evangelical Church. Burial will be in Hyndman Cemetery.

MRS. DOBBIE RITES

A funeral service for Mrs. Sallie W. Dobbie, 83, widow of James J. Dobbie, who died yesterday morning in Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient since May 27, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Stein Funeral Home.

Rev. Chesley V. Daniel, assistant rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, will officiate and burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Dobbie, who made her home with her daughter, Mrs. John T. Somerville, 209 Fayette Street, was a native of Maryland, a daughter of the late Andrew Jackson and Rebecca Cresap Clark.

Also surviving are two sons, William Clark and M. Gibson Dobbie, both of Fairmont, W. Va.; a sister, Mrs. W. F. Lach, also of Fairmont, seven grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

CHARLES COX RITES

A funeral service for Charles W. Cox, 66, 425 Independence Street, City Street Department employe, who died suddenly yesterday morning in Allegany Hospital, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Stein Funeral Home.

Rev. M. A. Keesecker, pastor of Kingsley Methodist Church, will officiate and burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Cox was admitted to Allegany Hospital yesterday at 1:40 a. m. after he became ill and died at 3:30 a. m. Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy medical examiner, said death resulted from a coronary occulsion. Mr. Cox was admitted for a gall bladder operation, Dr. Deming was advised.

Born near Springfield, W. Va., he was a son of the late Thomas and Rebecca Kaylor Cox. He had been employed as a laborer by the city for some time.

His only survivor is a stepson, Charles J. "Kirk" Beckwith, with whom he made his home.

MRS. DIAGOSTINE RITES

A funeral mass for Mrs. Clementina Diagostine, 54, wife of Frank Diagostine, 208 West Third Street, who died yesterday morning in Memorial Hospital, will be conducted tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in St. Mary's Catholic Church. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Diagostine, whose death resulted from a recent heart attack, was a native of Italy but had lived in this country for many years.

Also surviving are two sons and two daughters by a former marriage, Frank and Nick Perlozzo, Mrs. Jerry Spera and Mrs. William Barnhart, all of Cumberland, and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Anthona Lugga, Penns Grove, N. J.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 7—Beautiful glamor girls are raining down on the RKO lot like mamas from heaven. The newest is Marilyn Maxwenll, who gets the lead opposite George Raft in "Race Street" with William Bendix also in the cast.

Marilyn Maxwell

Marilyn, like other honey, Jane Green, will be given the full glamor treatment since she will probably stay on as a contract player. Dore Schary has taken an option on her now that she is no longer under contract to M-G-M.

In "Race Street," blonde Missy Maxwell plays the sister of a big bookie who becomes plenty annoyed with the way Raft handicaps winning nags She'll be gowned as befits a bookie's sister—which means plenty of glad rags. Ned Marin directs under executive Boss Jack Gross, with the picture scheduled for an August 18 start.

Maria Montez, who decided at the last minute not to take her baby with her, is on her way to visit Jean Perre Aumont, who is making a movie in Paris.

When Maria gets there she is in for a disappointment. I hear stranght from Paris that Jean straight from Paris that Jean ing opposite her in "The Scarlet Feather." He will direct and act in "Emperor of China" at the theatre De Marturins. During the two and a half months the play runs, Jean Pierre will make another French picture. He is terribly popular in his native land and is being given every opportunity.

The bounding Bogarts are out on the briny deep trying to taunt Frank Morgan into a boat race. But Frank is a little on the snobby side about it after winning the Honoulu yacht race.

But whille Bogey and baby are being carefree vacationists, the business of getting their next movie rolling goes on as usual at Warners. When they report for "Key Largo" they will emote under the direction of John Huston.

Huston has always done handsomely by Humphrey in the matter of direction. He made "The Maltese Falcon," one of Bogey's best, and, through the grapevine, I hear that "Treasure Of the Sierra Madre is a gold nugget hit.

Chatter in Hollywood: Cornel Wilde has been pretty difficult in the past, both at his studio and with columnists. But you can't help but feel sorry for him. Whatever he did He did because he was so madly in love with his wife, Patricia Knight.

His one thought was in furthering her career, and any trouble I ever had with him was over her. Things I printed, which sounded innocuous, were construed to mean that she had been slighted.

I feel deeply sorry for Cornel, and I hope he'll get hold of himself and not let this trouble get him down. After all, he's got enough to do to keep his own career running smoothly. Ironic that Pat should have decided to part from him just when she had the break he worked so hard to get for her.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Joan Chawford is displaying a $45,000 diamond and ruby ring. No, Don Barry didn't have a thing to do with it. Joan bought is herself.

Garbo has taken to the mountains for a rest. But not alone. She has a copy of a story by Salka Viertel with her. Yes, the Garbo is still mulling over the idea of making a picture. I wish she would. No one has ever taken her place for my money.

Walter Winchel, who did such a magnificent job raising money for the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund, is being given a party tomorrow night at the Mocambo by Charlie Morrison.

In view of all the excitement about the Cornel Wilde separation, pretty smart of Col Wurtzel to get Mrs. Wilde's (Pat Knight) movie, "Roses Are Red," out in a hurry.

Roy Rogers grossed $1,000,000 on his tour with his thrill circus. He played only six cities, but the shows were put on in ball parks and they were completely sold out. Give me my boots and saddle—but quickly!

Mickey Rooney and Brian Donlevy are partners. Yes, indeed, they are opening golf driving ranges across the country.

Speaking of golf, Clark Gable is playing it every day now. With Dolly O'Brien and Millicent Rogers both in town, Clark, who is supposed to have both of these very wealthy women in love with him, is sticking closer to his ranch than ever.

Peggy Ann Garner and Viscount Anthony Furness, Lady Thelma Furness' son, are a very cute pair, and are frequently seeing each other. Gloria Vanderbilt, Thelma's twin, who has been very sick, is expected here August 23 to spend their birthday together.

The gleam in Tommy Dorsey's eye is now being kindled by Jane New, the beautiful blonde with whom he has been haunting Ciro's. That's all today.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 7—Beautiful glamor girls are raining down on the RKO lot like mamas from beaver. The newest is Marilyn Maxwenll, who gets the lead opposite George Raft in "Race Street" with William Bendix also in the cast.

Marilyn Maxwell

Marilyn, like other honey, Jane Green, will be given the full glamor treatment since she will probably stay on as a contract player. Dore Schary has taken an option on her now that she is no longer under contract to M-G-M.

In "Race Street," blonde Missy Maxwell plays the sister of a big bookie who becomes plenty annoyed with the way Raft handicaps winning nags She'll be gowned as befits a bookie's sister—which means plenty of glad rags. Ned Marin directs under executive Boss Jack Gross, with the picture scheduled for an August 18 start.

Maria Montez, who decided at the last minute not to take her baby with her, is on her way to visit Jean Perre Aumont, who is making a movie in Paris.

When Maria gets there she is in for a disappointment. I hear stranght from Paris that Jean straight from Paris that Jean ing opposite her in "The Scarlet Feather." He will direct and act in "Emperor of China" at the theatre De Marturins. During the two and a half months the play runs, Jean Pierre will make another French picture. He is terribly popular in his native land and is being given every opportunity.

The bounding Bogarts are out on the briny deep trying to taunt Frank Morgan into a boat race. But Frank is a little on the snobby side about it after winning the Honoulu yacht race.

But whille Bogey and baby are being carefree vacationists, the business of getting their next movie rolling goes on as usual at Warners. When they report for "Key Largo" they will emote under the direction of John Huston.

Huston has always done handsomely by Humphrey in the matter of direction. He made "The Maltese Falcon," one of Bogey's best, and, through the grapevine, I hear that "Treasure Of the Sierra Madre is a gold nugget hit.

Chatter in Hollywood: Cornel Wilde has been pretty difficult in the past, both at his studio and with columnists. But you can't help but feel sorry for him. Whatever he did He did because he was so madly in love with his wife, Patricia Knight.

His one thought was in furthering her career, and any trouble I ever had with him was over her. Things I printed, which sounded innocuous, were construed to mean that she had been slighted.

I feel deeply sorry for Cornel, and I hope he'll get hold of himself and not let this trouble get him down. After all, he's got enough to do to keep his own career running smoothly. Ironic that Pat should have decided to part from him just when she had the break he worked so hard to get for her.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Joan Chawford is displaying a $45,000 diamond and ruby ring. No, Don Barry didn't have a thing to do with it. Joan bought is herself.

Garbo has taken to the mountains for a rest. But not alone. She has a copy of a story by Salka Viertel with her. Yes, the Garbo is still mulling over the idea of making a picture. I wish she would. No one has ever taken her place for my money.

Walter Winchel, who did such a magnificent job raising money for the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund, is being given a party tomorrow night at the Mocambo by Charlie Morrison.

In view of all the excitement about the Cornel Wilde separation, pretty smart of Col Wurtzel to get Mrs. Wilde's (Pat Knight) movie, "Roses Are Red," out in a hurry.

Roy Rogers grossed $1,000,000 on his tour with his thrill circus. He played only six cities, but the shows were put on in ball parks and they were completely sold out. Give me my boots and saddle—but quickly!

Mickey Rooney and Brian Donlevy are partners. Yes, indeed, they are opening golf driving ranges across the country.

Speaking of golf, Clark Gable is playing it every day now. With Doily O'Brien and Millicent Rogers both in town, Clark, who is supposed to have both of these very wealthy women in love with him, is sticking closer to his ranch than ever.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

A Sharp Needle For Tin Pan Alley

Abe Burrows, a writer with the body of an elephant and the tongue of an asp, has turned more or less experimentally from radio writing to radio acting, if you can call it acting. Mr. Burrows, a ponderous, sad - eyed man of bottomless cynicism, has at various times written the scripts for "Duffy's Tavern," the Dinah Shore show and the Joan Davis show. In his spare time, he turns out exquisite little parodies on popular songs which, at Hollywood parties after the third drink, he can be persuaded with little difficulty to sing.

John Crosby

The sings which lampoon Tin Pan Alley, Norman Corwin, the movies, or the eternal foolishness of love have catapulted him to a limited but exclusive fame among writers and other Hollywood brains. Burrows is a wit's wit. The late Robert Benchley considered him one of the funniest men alive. His admirers included—in fact, they almost entirely consisted of—persons far better known than himself. For years Burrows songs were considered too brutal for the delicate, uncritical ears of the radio public, but now the Columbia Broadcasting System with some trepidation has launched him on his own fifteen minute program (10:30 p. m. EDT Saturdays). Heaven only knows what response he will get from the public. The first reaction will undoubtedly be pained surprise, the second, pure bewilderment.

Abe has a voice like a bullfrog with a sore throat. His accent is a pure Brooklyn upon which education and experience has superimposed a sort of grotesque refinement. The songs he sings on this program abetted by his own rudimentary piano-playing are the same ones he has been singing these many years at Hollywood parties—"The Girl With The Blue Eyes," "I Was Wandering Down Memory Lane Without a Damn Thing On My Mind."

"Oh, how we danced on the night we were wed," he'll bellow in a torrent of nostalgia. "I needed a wife like a hole in the head." Some of his songs have never progressed beyond their titles, "If You Were The Only Girl In The World And I Were The Only Boy But Right Now Let Me Alone."

When he isn't singing, he chatters merrily about the types of popular songs. Some songs, he says, attempt to solve your problems by advising you to jump off a cliff or take to drink. Others are written, he says, solely for their educational values, pointing out the elevating effects on the nation's English of such songs as "Chibaba Chibaba Chiwawa" or "Is You Is Or Is You Ain't My Baby?"

At the end of his fifteen minutes Abe tears with crazy energy into one of his longer pieces such as his paean of praise for the wonders of Waukesha Natural Bridge. "Over three feet long! Close by—the Waukesha Natural Lodge. Ten thousand rooms! Each room a natural bridge! And up the trail, the famed Kissing Rock, where 2,000 years ago an Indian maid spit upon her lover."

He's the Ed Gardner of song and I hope he's around a long time if only to jab a sharp needle into the song-writing profession where it most needs it.

Under normal circumstances records don't fall under the auspices of this column. In fact those of us who earn our living out of radio generally look upon records rather sourly as a competing medium which may—and if this disk jockey nonsense continues, probably will—ruin the profession, in which case we'd all have to turn to an honest living. However I'd like to say just a few words about Audience Records, Inc., which is now marketing seven albums of recordings of the most popular and long-lived comedians on the air — Jack Benny, Amos 'n' Andy, Burns and Allen, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, "Duffy's Tavern" and Eddie Cantor.

Each comedian performs several skits, some original and others such as Ed Gardner's "Two Top Gruskin" piece which have been heard on the air. Most of them are neither better nor worse than those performed on the air by the same comedians and, frankly, I doubt whether these albums are worth the purchase price except to those maniacal radio fans who pay their favorite comedians a demented and wholly unnecessary reverance. During the regular broadcast season, you may hear any of these people for nothing once a week, which is enough for any rational human being. Also, I'm afraid radio humor—or any humor for that matter—is as evanescent as a sunbeam. The second time around you find yourself straining to grin at a joke which was originally hilarious; the third time around it becomes merely vexing.

Sen. Brewster To Be On "Meet The Press" Quiz Show

By JEAN MEEGAN

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (AP)—Sen. Owen Brewster eastern anchor man in the transcontinental Brewster-Hughes feud, will be quizzed tomorrow night on Mutuel's weekly press conference of the air, "Meet the Press," at 9 o'clock.

Sen. Brewster (R., Me.), who as chairman of the Senate War Investigating Committee has exchanged charges and counter-charges with Howard Hughes, now occupies a major spot in the Washington spotlight as a result of the probe into the $40,000,000 cargo plane contract given Hughes.

ABC airs the 10-round light heavyweight bout between Billy Fox of Philadelphna and Georgie Kochman of New York at Madison Square Garden at 10, tomorrow night.

Nostalgia will hang over the Gowanus tomorrow. At 5:30 over CBS, Arthur "Dazzy" Vance, beloved speedball pitcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers two decades ago, drops in for a guest visit with Red Barber. Vance, now in retirement in Florida, is in New York to manage an amateur team in a Brooklyn tournament later this month.

CBS' Gordon MacRae plays host to Jane Kean, dancing and singing star of "Call Me Mister," tomborfow night at 7.

Assorted Oils, Rails, Industrials Advance In Market; Dealings Slow

NEW YORK, Aug. 7—(AP)—Buyers took on assorted oils, rails and industrials in today's stock market but dealings again were among the slowest of past months. Selling of amusements and a number of other leaders gave the list a spotty appearance.

Mild irregularity persisted from the start. The ticker tape frequently halted. Gainers to a point or more were plentiful at the close with losers off as much numerous. Transfers of 660,000 shares equalled the total of Wednesday which was a low since last June 27.

Standard Oil (N.J.) added 1½ at 79¾, American Woolen 1¼ at 45¼, Frisco Railroad preferred 1¾ at 31½. Union Pacific 1½ at 143½ and Nickel Plate Railroad 1¼ at 30¾. Lesser gains were retained by Chrysler, Youngstown Sheet, Goodyear, United States Rubber, Woolworth, Montgomery Ward, Consolidated Vultee, Douglas Aircraft, Lockheed, American Water Works, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Great Northern Railway, Southern Pacific, Sunray Oil, Ohio Oil and Sinclair Oil.

Twentieth Century-Fox conceded 1¼ at 27½, Universal Pictures 1¼ at 18½, Loew's one at 20, Paramount Pictures three-fourths at 24½ Warner Brothers seven-eighths at 14¾, Allied Chemical one at 190 and Cluett Peabody 1½ at 42½.

American Telephone was under water throughout. It appeared on one 2,000-share block and finished off three-fourths at 155. Other losers were Kennecott, International Nickel, Public Service of New Jersey, United States Gypsum, J. I. Case, American Can and United Fruit.

Forward Curb movers were Texton, Creole Petroleum, Pantepec, Capital City Products, Phil Blum and Acme Aluminum. Backward werewere Standard Cap preferred, Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Humble Oil and Root Petroleum. Turnover here was 140,000 shares versus 180,000 yesterday.

Most Australian bonds were pounded to another new low in an otherwise quiet and trendless bond market.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF ALLEGANY COUNTY SALE OF $250,000.00

THE ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND, INFIRMARY AND NURSING HOME BONDS ISSUED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF CHAPTER 769 OF THE ACTS OF THE MARYLAND LEGISLATURE OF 1947.

Sealed bids will be received by the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland, at the Office of the County Commissioners at the Court House on Washington Street, in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, for the purchase of Two Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($250,000.00) aggregate par amount serial coupon bonds of said County, until ten o'clock A. M., on Friday, August 15th, 1947, on which said day at the hour of 10:15 o'clock A. M., sealed bids will be publicly opened by said County Commissioners in Cumberland, Maryland, at the Office of said County Commissioners in Cumberland, Maryland, and the bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder or bidders therefor, for cash. The time referred to is Eastern Daylight Savings Time.

Bidders are requested to indicate with their bids the rate of interests to be paid on the bonds on which their bids are based and submitted; the rate named may be a multiple of one tenth of one per cent per annum, and must not exceed three per cent (3%) per annum. The bonds to be awarded to the bidder naming the lowest rate of interest named in any legally acceptable proposal and offering to pay not less than par for the bonds. The lowest rate of interest will be determined on the basis of the lowest interest cost to the County for the bonds so to be issued, from their date of issue to the last dates of maturity of any of said bonds. As between bidders naming the same rate of interest, the proposal of the bidder offering to pay the largest premium will be accepted. In the event two or more responsible bidders have made the same bid and such bids provide the lowest interest cost to the County as aforesaid, and, if for the whole amount of said bonds so offered for sale, or if such bids taken together exceed said whole amount of said bonds, then the bonds shall be awarded in ratable proportion to such responsible bidders making the same.

The right to reject any and all bids is reserved to the County Commissioners of Allegany County.

A certified check for not less than two per cent (2%) of the aggregate par value of said bonds so offered for sale, drawn to the order of the Treasurer of Allegany County, must be enclosed with each bid for said bonds, as security for compliance with said bid. No interest will be allowed on the amount so deposited and the checks of all unsuccessful bidders will be returned to them forthwith upon the award of the bonds.

This issue of bonds is authorized by Chapter 769 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland passed at its Regular Session in the year 1947, and said bonds are also issued in accordance with the Resolution of the County Commissioners of Allegany County duly adopted on the 15th day of July, 1947.

Said bonds will all be dated September 1, 1947; they will be in denominations of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) each, and they will all bear interest at the rate fixed in the accepted bids, as hereinbefore provided, payable semi-annually on the first days of March and September in each year, in accordance with interest coupons to be attached to said bonds. Said bonds shall be signed by the President of the County Commissioners of Allegany County, duly attested by the Clerk to the County Commissioners, with the Corporate Seal of the County Commissioners attached thereto and the coupons attached to each of said bonds shall bear the facsimile signature of the President of the County Commissioners of Allegany County, printed, lithographed or engraved thereon.

Said bonds will be numbered consecutively from Number One (1) to Number Two Hundred Fifty (250), both numbers inclusive, and they will be divided into twenty-five (25) series of ten (10) bonds, each series aggregating Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) par amount, and each series to be designated by a different series letter from the letter "A" to the letter "Y" both inclusive. Said bonds will mature and become payable in the order of their consecutive numbers and series letters, one of said series maturing in each of the years 1948 to 1972, both inclusive, on September 1st in each of said years.

Both the principal and interest of the bonds will be payable in such funds as may be on the respective date or dates of payment thereof, legal tender for the payment of debts due the United States of America, at the Office of the Treasurer of Allegany County, Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland. Accrued interest between the date of the bonds and the time of payment and delivery shall be adjusted with the purchaser.

The bonds will be registerable as to principal on registration books kept for that purpose by the Clerk to the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland.

Under existing laws, the bonds are exempt from all State, County and Municipal taxation in the State of Maryland.

Address all bids to the County Commissioners of Allegany County, marked "Bids for Infirmary and Nursing Home Bonds."

Any further information desired may be obtained from the office of the County Commissioners at the Court House, Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland.

CHARLES N. WILKINSON,
President County Commissioners of Allegany County

Family Night To Be Observed By North End Group

A talent show will feature the family night festival which will be sponsored by the North End Playground Association, Wednesday evening, August 13, at the playground.

The show will feature girls and boys who make use of the facilities at the playground. William Briner will be barker and Davis Herbold Sheimer will be master of ceremonies.

This will be the final activity sponsored by the association this summer. Refreshment booths of all kinds will be erected and a white elephant sale will be held. The horse shoe tournament finals will also be played prior to the festival. The tournament will be held during the early part of the week.

All contributions to the festival will be received Wednesday morning at the playground.

Sports Program Will Feature Annual Picnic

A program of sports and contests will feature the annual picnic of Central Methodist Church, Saturday afternoon, at Constitution Park, at 2 o'clock.

Events scheduled for the afternoon include miscellaneous games, bean bag, races, swimming, softball and adult games.

The picnic supper will be held at 5 o'clock. Members of the church will bring basket lunches for their families.

The picnic will be concluded with group singing. Rev. B. Ralph Mark, pastor of the church, is chairman of the committee in charge.

4-H Clubbers Hear Elizabeth Reid

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 7 (AP)—Clear thinking, understanding, community responsibility and good health is the 4-H clubber's pledge to democracy, Mrs. Joyce Shank, of Frederick, told more than 1,000 4-H Club delegates at their convention today.

"Our 4-H Club projects teach us that personal responsibility in a democracy means respect for other persons' responsibility and for the achievements of others," she said.

Mrs. Shank urged the farm youths to have not only tolerance but understanding of creeds and races different from their own.

"We must be prepared to meet the great contest today between realism and idealism," she said.

"We must keep idealism always before us and at the same time have the stamina necessary to bridge the gap between the two."

Elizabeth Reid, former Allegany county 4-H Club member, gave the teen-agers a few pointers on etiquette for the dance tonight which climaxes the week's social activities.

Night Blooming Cereus Has Three Blossoms

Residents of Boone Street gathered around the window of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Kline, 39 Boone Street, last night to get a look at the night blooming cereus, which was in full bloom.

The cereus, which ordinarily blooms every seven years, has three blossoms, which opened at 9 o'clock and closed at midnight. The blossoms, according to Kline, were about eight inches in diameter and were snow white with golden centers.

An old legend says that the blossoms of the cereus represent Christ in the manger, Kline said the plant was given to his wife over four years ago and this is the first time it has bloomed. He said he knew the plant was very old but has no idea as to its exact age.

The plant, a member of the cactus family, has leaves two or three feet long and very narrow and thick. There only a few of the species in this section.

Playground Association Plans Festival Tonight

A watermelon festival will be held by the Thomas S. Post Playground Association from 6 to 9 p. m. today at the Thomas S. Post Playground, Lafayette Avenue. A feature of the evening will be "canned" music, according to Clair Mease, association president.

Proceeds will be used to help defray expenses of erecting permanent tables on the playground and also will go toward construction of a basketball court on the playground.

Evelyn Wolford Visits Here From Philippines

Miss Evelyn Wolford, formerly associated with Mrs. Herbert Wagner in the operation of the Dreyer Marinella Beauty Shop, 1723 Bedford Street, has arrived in Cumberland from Manila where she has been employed as a civil service employe with the government since her discharge from the Women's Army Corps.

Miss Wolford, who will spend several weeks visiting Mrs. Wagner, enlisted in the WAC in 1942 and was discharged in January, 1946, following service in Florida, Texas, Australia, Manila, and Tokyo. Since that time she has been employed by the government in Manila. She plans to return to the Philippines in September.

Permit Granted

A permit was granted in the city engineer's office yesterday to J. C. Stanton to erect a concrete block garage with frame apartment above on the rear of the lot at 824 Shawnee Avenue. The building would measure 31 feet 10 inches by 20 feet and the cost is estimated at $3,500.

Kiwanians Visit Sunshine Camp

The Cumberland Kiwanis Club held its weekly meeting at Sunshine Camp on Haystack Mountain yesterday making the second visit of the club to the camp this summer. The club held a meeting at the camp the first week the boys were in camp. At the present time 25 girls are completing their second week in camp and they will be there another week.

President W. Earle Cobey, welcomed the guests to the meeting, who included Mrs. Robert Henderson, Miss Jeannette Bonig, of Associated Charities and Miss Grace Hardman, Mrs. Margaret Morrisey, nurses for the State Department of Health.

B. E. Sherwood, camp director, explained the program of activities being followed and related experiences during the camping period.

Seeks Beer Permit

Assorted Oils, Rails, Industrials Advance In Market; Dealings Slow

NEW YORK, Aug. 7—(AP)—Buyers took on assorted oils, rails and industrials in today's stock market but dealings again were among the slowest of past months. Selling of amusements and a number of other leaders gave the list a spotty appearance.

Mild irregularity persisted from the start. The ticker tape frequently halted. Gainers to a point or more were plentiful at the close with losers off as much numerous. Transfers of 660,000 shares equalled the total of Wednesday which was a few since last June 27.

Standard Oil (N.J.) added 1½ at 79¾, American Woolen 1¼ at 45¼, Frisco Railroad preferred 1⅜ at 31½. Union Pacific 1½ at 143½ and Nickel Plate Railroad 1¼ at 30¾. Lesser gains were retained by Chrysler, Youngstown Sheet, Goodyear, United States Rubber, Woolworth, Montgomery Ward, Consolidated Vultee, Douglas Aircraft, Lockheed, American Water Works, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Great Northern Railway, Southern Pacific, Sunray Oil, Ohio Oil and Sinclair Oil.

Twentieth Century-Fox conceded 1¼ at 27½, Universal Pictures 1¼ at 18½, Loew's one at 20, Paramount Pictures three-fourths at 24½ Warner Brothers seven-eighths at 14¾, Allied Chemical one at 190 and Cluett Peabody 1½ at 42½.

American Telephone was under water throughout. It appeared on one 2,000-share block and finished off three-fourths at 155. Other losers were Kennecott, International Nickel, Public Service of New Jersey, United States Gypsum, J. I. Case, American Can and United Fruit.

Forward Curb movers were Texton, Creole Petroleum, Pantepec, Capital City Products, Phil Blum and Acme Aluminum. Backward werewere Standard Cap preferred, Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Humble Oil and Root Petroleum. Turnover here was 140,000 shares versus 180,000 yesterday.

Most Australian bonds were pounded to another new low in an otherwise quiet and trendless bond market.

THE ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND, INFIRMARY AND NURSING HOME BONDS ISSUED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF CHAPTER 769 OF THE ACTS OF THE MARYLAND LEGISLATURE OF 1947.

Sealed bids will be received by the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland, at the Office of the County Commissioners at the Court House on Washington Street, in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, for the purchase of Two Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($250,000.00) aggregate par amount serial coupon bonds of said County, until ten o'clock A. M., on Friday, August 15th, 1947, on which said day at the hour of 10:15 o'clock A. M., sealed bids will be publicly opened by said County Commissioners in Cumberland, Maryland, at the Office of said County Commissioners in Cumberland, Maryland, and the bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder or bidders therefor, for cash. The time referred to is Eastern Daylight Savings Time.

Bidders are requested to indicate with their bids the rate of interests to be paid on the bonds on which their bids are based and submitted; the rate named may be a multiple of one tenth of one per cent per annum, and must not exceed three per cent (3%) per annum. The bonds to be awarded to the bidder naming the lowest rate of interest named in any legally acceptable proposal and offering to pay not less than par for the bonds. The lowest rate of interest will be determined on the basis of the lowest interest cost to the County for the bonds so to be issued, from their date of issue to the last dates of maturity of any of said bonds. As between bidders naming the same rate of interest, the proposal of the bidder offering to pay the largest premium will be accepted. In the event two or more responsible bidders have made the same bid and such bids provide the lowest interest cost to the County as aforesaid, and, if for the whole amount of said bonds so offered for sale, or if such bids taken together exceed said whole amount of said bonds, then the bonds shall be awarded in ratable proportion to such responsible bidders making the same.

The right to reject any and all bids is reserved to the County Commissioners of Allegany County.

A certified check for not less than two per cent (2%) of the aggregate par value of said bonds so offered for sale, drawn to the order of the Treasurer of Allegany County, must be enclosed with each bid for said bonds, as security for compliance with said bid. No interest will be allowed on the amount so deposited and the checks of all unsuccessful bidders will be returned to them forthwith upon the award of the bonds.

This issue of bonds is authorized by Chapter 769 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland passed at its Regular Session in the year 1947, and said bonds are also issued in accordance with the Resolution of the County Commissioners of Allegany County duly adopted on the 15th day of July, 1947.

Said bonds will all be dated September 1, 1947; they will be in denominations of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) each, and they will all bear interest at the rate fixed in the accepted bids, as hereinbefore provided, payable semi-annually on the first days of March and September in each year, in accordance with interest coupons to be attached to said bonds. Said bonds shall be signed by the President of the County Commissioners of Allegany County, duly attested by the Clerk to the County Commissioners, with the Corporate Seal of the County Commissions attached thereto and the coupons attached to each of said bonds shall bear the facsimile signature of the President of the County Commissioners of Allegany County, printed, lithographed or engraved thereon.

Said bonds will be numbered consecutively from Number One (1) to Number Two Hundred Fifty (250), both numbers inclusive, and they will be divided into twenty-five (25) series of ten (10) bonds, each series aggregating Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) par amount, and each series to be designated by a different series letter from the letter "A" to the letter "Y" both inclusive. Said bonds will mature and become payable in the order of their consecutive numbers and series letters, one of said series maturing in each of the years 1948 to 1972, both inclusive, on September 1st in each of said years.

Both the principal and interest of the bonds will be payable in such funds as may be on the respective date or dates of payment thereof, legal tender for the payment of debts due the United States of America, at the Office of the Treasurer of Allegany County, Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland. Accrued interest between the date of the bonds and the time of payment and delivery shall be adjusted with the purchaser.

The bonds will be registerable as to principal on registration books kept for that purpose by the Clerk to the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland.

Under existing laws, the bonds are exempt from all State, County and Municipal taxation in the State of Maryland.

Address all bids to the County Commissioners of Allegany County, marked "Bids for Infirmary and Nursing Home Bonds."

Any further information desired may be obtained from the office of the County Commissioners at the Court House, Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland.

CHARLES N. WILKINSON,
President County Commissioners of Allegany County

Family Night To Be Observed By North End Group

A talent show will feature the family night festival which will be sponsored by the North End Playground Association, Wednesday evening, August 13, at the playground.

The show will feature girls and boys who make use of the facilities at the playground. William Briner will be barker and Davis Herbold Sheimer will be master of ceremonies.

This will be the final activity sponsored by the association this summer. Refreshment booths of all kinds will be erected and a white elephant sale will be held. The horse shoe tournament finals will also be played prior to the festival. The tournament will be held during the early part of the week.

All contributions to the festival will be received Wednesday morning at the playground.

Sports Program Will Feature Annual Picnic

A program of sports and contests will feature the annual picnic of Central Methodist Church, Saturday afternoon, at Constitution Park, at 2 o'clock.

Events scheduled for the afternoon include miscellaneous games, bean bag, races, swimming, softball and adult games.

The picnic supper will be held at 5 o'clock. Members of the church will bring basket lunches for their families.

4-H Clubbers Hear Elizabeth Reid

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 7 (AP) —Clear thinking, understanding, community responsibility and good health is the 4-H clubber's pledge to democracy, Mrs. Joyce Shank, of Frederick, told more than 1,000 4-H Club delegates at their convention today.

"Our 4-H Club projects teach us that personal responsibility in a democracy means respect for other persons' responsibility and for the achievements of others," she said.

Mrs. Shank urged the farm youths to have not only tolerance but understanding of creeds and races different from their own.

"We must be prepared to meet the great contest today between realism and idealism," she said.

"We must keep idealism always before us and at the same time have the stamina necessary to bridge the gap between the two."

Night Blooming Cereus Has Three Blossoms

Residents of Boone Street gathered around the window of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Kline, 39 Boone Street, last night to get a look at the night blooming cereus, which was in full bloom.

The cereus, which ordinarily blooms every seven years, has three blossoms, which opened at 9 o'clock and closed at midnight. The blossoms, according to Kline, were about eight inches in diameter and were snow white with golden centers.

An old legend says that the blossoms of the cereus represent Christ in the manger. Kline said the plant was given to his wife over four years ago and this is the first time it has bloomed. He said he knew the plant was very old but has no idea as to its exact age.

The plant, a member of the cactus family, has leaves two or three feet long and very narrow and thick. There only a few of the species in this section.

Playground Association Plans Festival Tonight

A watermelon festival will be held by the Thomas S. Post Playground Association from 6 to 9 p. m. today at the Thomas S. Post Playground, Lafayette Avenue. A feature of the evening will be "canned" music, according to Clair Mease, association president.

Proceeds will be used to help defray expenses of erecting permanent tables on the playground and also will go toward construction of a basketball court on the playground.

Legislative Council Gets Suggestions On Problems In Western Maryland

Various Questions Discussed At Dinner Meeting; Several Public Officials Absent

Allegany County, city and town officials as well as former Attorney General William C. Walsh fired a barrage of suggestions on ways of coping with Western Maryland's problems at members of the state Legislative Council meeting last night at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Among the suggestions were these:

Retention and expansion of State Teachers College at Frostburg.

State aid in completing the Savage River Dam.

More state money for incorporated county towns in addition to that suggested by the Sherbow Commission report.

Action on pollution of the Potomac River.

An adoption law for Allegany County.

Several Officials Absent

Sen. Robert B. Kimble, minority floor leader and host to the council, heatedly called attention to the noticeable absence at the meeting of Mayor Thomas S. Post of Cumberland; Charles N. (Jerry) Wilkinson, president of the Board of County Commissioners, Commissioner William H. Lemmert, Lewis M. Wilson, attorney to the Board of Commissioners, and City Solicitor Charles Z. Heskett.

After the meeting, Kimble said he understood the reasons for the absence of Heskett and Lemmert and added that Wilkinson told him he had a previous engagement, but he declared that Mayor Post "above everybody else," should have attended.

"He's continually harping and harping about legislation," Kimble said, "and this was his opportunity."

Former Attorney General Walsh was one of the chief speakers at the roundtable discussion following dinner, and he told the council that Garrett County needs more money for recreation.

"Once we've got this recreation," he said, "it will be no good unless people can get to it. I don't believe $5,000 has been spent on good roads here in 10 years. I suggest the Legislative Council think of a dual highway from Baltimore to Oakland."

Walsh declared that abandoning Frostburg State Teachers College as suggested by the Marbury report on higher education "just can't be done." He urged the council to "decline to move it" and recommended that it be expanded and a junior college established in Cumberland as well.

Urges Dam Completion

He suggested that the state get the two and a half million dollars needed to complete the Savage River Dam and added that the council also should consider more money for incorporated towns beyond that provided by the Sherbow Commission report.

State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris recommended that the Legislature send to Congress a resolution asking for an adjustment on discriminatory freight rates on coal. He asserted that the same rate applies for the 143 mile downhill trip from Western Maryland coal fields to Washington as for the 429 mile downhill trip from southern West Virginia to Washington.

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson declared that Allegany, Garrett and Washington Counties were left without an adoption law when the three counties were exempted from a new law passed by the 1947 session of the Legislature which they said also repealed the old law.

With this condition existing, Judge Huster said the three judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit decided to grant adoptions as in the past.

"We hope the Legislature will validate those adoptions we granted and do something to correct the situation," Judge Huster said.

Judge Henderson stated that while the new adoption law may have created some safeguards it also created obstacles to adoption in the three counties.

"We felt the old law was working all right and that it should be put into effect in these counties," said Judge Henderson. "We feel the old law was better than the new one up here."

Stewart Submits Resolution

Calling attention to efforts of the Maryland Bar Association to have a constitutional amendment submitted to the voters of the state for the abolition of the judges of the Orphans Court and transferring of the functions of the Orphans Court into the hands of the judges of the Circuit Court, Register of Wills A. Charles Stewart submitted a resolution which he said would remedy the situation.

He proposed that first appeals from Orphans Courts be taken to the Circuit Courts instead of the Court of Appeals.

Stewart said he believes the proposal to abolish the court is based upon the assumption that Orphans Court judges are laymen, "unskilled in the knowledge and practice of law and that, there, the judgments they pronounce are in the main bound to be erroneous."

Watson's Home In Wiley Ford Is Destroyed By Fire

Lack Of Water Hampers Firemen

A Wiley Ford, W. Va., family was made homeless early yesterday afternoon by a fire which raged through their four-room frame home and burned it to the ground in spite of the efforts of volunteer firemen who were hampered by lack of water.

The home, owned by Norvel Watson, who lives in the upper part of Wiley Ford, was blazing "like a matchbox," firemen said, when they arrived at the fire within three minutes after the alarm was turned in shortly before 2 o'clock.

Fire Chief H. E. Abe, of the Wiley Ford Volunteer Fire Company, said the company was hampered by the lack of water, adding that they pumped dry every well in the radius of a block in an effort to quench the flames.

He added that the roof of the home began to fall in within five minutes after the alarm was sounded as the home, covered with imitation brick siding, burned fiercely.

None of the occupants of the home were injured, firemen said, by the blaze which members of the family reported was caused by children who had been playing with candles outside a bedroom which was under construction.

Firemen said the Ridgeley Volunteer Fire Company responded to the alarm but that the companies just did not have the water to fight the blaze.

Only a few pieces of furniture were salvaged from the home since it was impossible to enter after the fire began to rage, firemen said.

At the time of the fire, Mrs. Nancy Watson, her daughter, Mrs. Dempsey Farris, Akron, Ohio, who was visiting the family, and Mrs. Frank Watson, her daughter-in-law, and several other of her eight children were at home, but all managed to esccape unhurt.

Mr. Watson, who has to use crutches to walk, was visiting in Elkins, W. Va., when the fire occured, neighbors said.

Mrs. Watson and her children were being quartered in the homes of relatives and friends last night.

Amvets Elect 10 Delegates To Convention

State Conclave Here August 30-31

J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets, elected 10 delegates and 10 alternates at their regular meeting last night to represent the post at the second annual convention to be held here August 30 and 31, and Post Commander Norman Gerdeman named additional members of the general convention committee.

The post also received its copy of the newly authorized national charter and all members, paid up for 1947, will sign the new charter as national charter members.

Gerdeman said plans for the convention are being formulated, and headquarters for the two-day session will be at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Saturday's business sessions will be in the hotel and Sunday's session will be held at the post headquarters.

In addition to the local delegation, about 50 delegates from posts at Frederick, Middletown, Oakland, Grantsville, Rockville, and Tacoma Park are registered. The largest delegation will come from Frederick, which is sending 16.

National headquarters of the Amvets at Washington has informed the local post that several national officers will be here for the convention.

Delegates elected to represent the local post include, John R. Kelly, Jr., Homer Higgins, Edward Meconi, John Kington, Thomas B. Finan, Jr., William B. Spangler, William A. Burns, James J. Kloran, F. Allan Weatherholt and Olen Bennett.

Alternates are, Bert Graham, Edward Finan, A. J. Sell, Suter Kegg, Frank Ruehl, Edward Lewis, John Grooby, Turner Summers, Joseph Harvey and W. Earle Cobey.

Gerdeman named Kloran, Summers, Meconi and Weatherholt to the general convention committee, which already included Spangler, Grooby and William B. Orndorff.

Court Releases Woman On Writ Of Habeas Corpus

Commitment Papers Ruled Defective

Mrs. Georgia Winkler, Westernport, was released from the county jail yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus filed by her attorney, Estel C. Kelley.

Mrs. Winkler was ordered released by Chief Judge William A. Huster when Kelley argued that commitment papers had not been properly prepared.

Counsel for Mrs. Winkler contended she had been charged with "malicious destruction of property and drunk and disorderly conduct, and had been sentenced to jail by Magistrate John Laughlin, August 1, at Westernport.

Kelley said commitment papers should have included two documents covering separate charges but that all charges had been included on one paper. Kelley said this made the commitment defective and he was upheld by the Court.

Judge Huster said that Magistrate Laughlin is responsible in Westernport for seeing that people keep the peace, and his sentence in the case was proper, except that there should have been two commitment papers in the case.

Mrs. Winkler was tried by Laughlin after she was arrested on a warrant obtained by her husband who charged she had torn wiring out of his truck. The woman contended he made threats to run the truck over an embankment with her in it, and she removed the wiring to disable the vehicle. Magistrate Laughlin told the Court the couple has been having frequent arguments.

This was the second case Attorney Kelley handled within a week, in which a defendant was released from jail on a habeas corpus writ. Kelley filed a petition for a writ to gain the release of James Jones, negro, who had been sentenced to 90 days in jail by Juvenile Court Magistrate Thomas E. Stakem, and Jones was released on Monday by Judge Huster.

Army Paratrooper Hit With Bottle; Local Man Held

A United States Paratrooper was in fairly good condition in Memorial Hospital early this morning, and police were holding a local man for investigation as the result of an altercation in Subway Tavern, Virginia Avenue.

Hospital attaches said Sgt. Marvin Liller, 25, who was visiting his home, 13 Laing Avenue, on furlough, suffered lacerations of the forehead, upper and lower lip, after he was struck in the mouth with a beer bottle.

Police identified the man they were holding as Claudis Hill, Homer Street, and said he was arrested after he admitted striking Liller in the mouth with a beer bottle "just once."

According to patrons of the tavern, police said, Liller was standing at a counter in the front of the building, when Hill walked up and struck him with the bottle.

Police took Liller to the hospital and began searching for Hill. They said Hill was found after a 15 minute search lying asleep in a vacant lot at the end of South Street.

Police said Hill is being held for investigation pending the outcome of Liller's injures. Attaches said the man was admitted, while police confirmed a statement that he had "lost a lot of blood."

Paper Mill Contract Talks Are Resumed

Contract talks between United Paper Workers of America CIO, and the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, covering plants at Luke, Covington, Va., and Williamsburg, Pa., were resumed yesterday at 10 a. m. at Frostburg. After a session which lasted several hours, the negotiations were tabled until 10 a. m. today when talks will continue.

Negotiations for a new contract began in Huntingdon, Pa., late last month and after four days recessed until yesterday to give union representatives a chance to report to their locals and company officials to confer with management. Present contract expires August 20.

Seeks Divorce

Suit for divorce was docketed in Circuit Court yesterday by Lulu V. Smith, vs. Boyd E. Smith.

City's Recreation Program Satisfies Only Some Needs, Report Indicates

More Neighborhood Playgrounds Desirable

Cumberland's functions thus far in the field of recreation satisfy only a portion of the needs of recreation in its broader aspects, according to the report of Whitman, Requardt and Associates, Baltimore engineers, to the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission.

The responsibility of the city has in most instances been limited to the providing of parks, playgrounds and similar recreation areas, the furnishing of adequate supervision of certain phases of recreational activity and the maintaining of facilities in good condition for continued use, the report points out.

While satisfying only a portion of the needs, these functions are termed highly important in the sense that municipalities, through accepted custom and usage, have an obligation to provide basic physical facilities on which must of the active and passive urban recreational pursuits of individuals and groups depend for success.

Recreation Necessary

The report finds recreation in its broad sense to be a necessity not only for the school age group but also for the entire population of the entire community group. The diverse activities which are part of recreation, according to the report, cover the entire field of indoor and outdoor hobbies, avocations and spare time pursuits, both individual and group.

It is viewed as necessary and desirable that the municipal government provide and maintain certain basic facilities, sponsor other semi-public activities and encourage private recreational pursuits by having and offering space and various types of equipment which the individual or small group cannot furnish. The city also is found to be able to do much to co-ordinate recreational activities by supplying basic information needed to develop a broad, well-rounded program.

Cumberland is termed deficient in neighborhood playgrounds for children of pre-school and grade 1 age and the report points out that existing facilities of this sort are now almost wholly an adjunct of the school system except for the neighbodhoods immediately adjacent to the North End, East Side and South End playgrounds.

Six Playgrounds Recommended

It is recommended that the city either immediately or along with the school system acquire and develop neighborhood playgrounds in the following sections:

1. North Centre Street section between B. and O. Railroad and Wills Creek north of B. and O. viaduct.
2. North Centre Street section, between B. and O. Railroad and Wills Creek, south of B. and O. viaduct.
3. Mid-town section, east of B. and O. Railroad in vicinity of Williams Road.
4. South End section, west of Virginia Avenue north of B. and O. Railroad.
5. Southeast section, south of

IS DROWNED—Miss Rose Mary Mathias, 23, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Mathias, Frostburg, was drowned yesterday when a flash flood swept her into a mountain stream in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park near Gatlinburg, Tenn.

Frostburg School Teacher Drowns In Tennessee

Miss Rose Mary Mathias, 23, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Mathias, Frost Avenue, Frostburg, was drowned yesterday when a flash flood swept her into a mountain stream in the Great Smokey Mountain National Park near Gatlinburg, Tenn.

Sevier County, Tenn., officers reported Miss Mathias and three friends were sitting on a rock at a scenic spot along Little Pigeon River when the torrent washed them into the stream.

The officers said the others escaped. A searching party was seeking late last night to recover Miss Mathias' body.

Miss Mathias taught at Beall High School, Frostburg for the past two years.

Besides her parents she is survived by two brothers, William Mathias, Pennsylvania, and John Mathias at home.

Miss Mathias was graduated from Ursuline Academy, this city, in 1940 and was awarded a scholarship to College of New Rochelle, N. Y. where she graduated with a degree in mathematics.

Held For Investigation

A man identified as Frank Corrick, this city, arrested yesterday at 1:55 p. m. by Officer W. P. Crabtree was being held in city jail for investigation last night, police said.

Charles G. Smith Is Elected State Head Of Forty & Eight

Retired Cumberland Fireman Honored

Charles G. Smith, Mt. Savage Road, Army veteran of World War I, was elected grand chef de gare of the Grand Voiture 40 and 8 Department of Maryland at the state convention in Baltimore yesterday. He succeeds Ralph G. Dolby Baltimore, and this marks the second time he has held an office in the state department of the veterans' organization. In 1945 he was grand chef de train.

Smith has been active in the American Legion and 40 and 8 here for a number of years. In 1943-44, he served as commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, and since about that time has taken an active part in the affairs of Voiture No. 164, Cumberland 40 and 8.

He is well known here as a city fireman for 20 years, and drove one of the city fire trucks during most of that period. He was retired in 1942, and the last year he served was as city fire inspector.

Since his retirement he and Mrs. Smith have operated confectionery stores here. They were located on South Johnson Street for a time, but for the past two years have operated a business at 600 Baltimore Avenue.

CHARLES G. SMITH
Grand Chef De Gare

Smith's mother, Mrs. Eva Smith, 600 Central Avenue, is known here as the first World War I mother to serve as president of the ladies auxiliary of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Damage Suits For $20,000 Are Filed In Circuit Court

Traffic Victims Docket Claims

Two damage suits are docketed in Circuit Court as the result of traffic mishaps with claims totalling $20,000. One suit involves a triple collision and the other involves injuries to a pedestrian who was struck by a car which ran onto a sidewalk.

Damages of $15,000 are sought by Charles W. Leddy, 61, 214 South Smallwood Street, through his attorney F. Brooks Whiting, the suit is docketed against Edmund J. Phillipi, Hyndman, Pa.; Raymond L. Williams, and Thomas A. Cline, 416 Arch Street.

Leddy claims he was riding in the car operated by Cline on Uhl Highway, three miles east of Cumberland, June 7, and due to negligence on the part of Cline and the drivers of two other machines, Phillipi and Williams, a triple car collision occurred and he was permanently injured, and crippled for life. Leddy claims he suffered a broken arm and elbow, puncture wound of the right side, broken rib, brain concussion and other injuries.

Besides Leddy, four other persons were injured in the crash, Phillipi suffered a fractured right leg and abrasions; his wife, Mrs. May Phillipi, received treatment for cuts about the leg, Cline suffered minor injuries, and George Deal, of Swissvale, Pa., received a nose injury and laceration above the right eye.

State Troopers W. L. Wilt and George Coddington investigated the triple crash. After the collision, one of the machines caught fire in some manner and the North Branch Volunteer Fire Company answered the alarm.

John E. Rose, 37, coal miner of Riordan Road, Westernport, entered suit for $5,000 damages against James Thomas Warnick, Moscow, through his attorneys Thomas Lohr Richards, this city and H. G. Shores of Keyser, W. Va.

Rose charges he was standing on the sidewalk of Main Street, in Westernport, the night of July 5, at about 11 p. m., talking to his wife and a friend, when Warnick drove his car onto the sidewalk, knocked him down and failed to stop. Rose contends he was injured as a result of the incident and further charges that Maryland State Police later arrested Warnick.

According to police Warnick was arrested about two and a half hours after the incident by State Trooper A. M. Spioch.

Rose was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va., at the time by Officer Earl Hawk in Westernport's emergency car, where he was treated for contusions and abrasions.

Kelly Contract Talks Will Resume Monday

Contract negotiations with the Kelly Springfield Tire Company will be resumed Monday morning at 10 o'clock, A. E. Johnson, president of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, announced yesterday.

No progress was reported by union officials as a result of sessions held Wednesday and yesterday and Johnson said the four major issues, severance pay, reduction in hours before furloughs are placed into effect, vacations and hours of work and overtime, are still unsettled.

Union officials reported that members were "not too well pleased" with the report of negotiations presented last night at a membership meeting.

The local voted to hold a social and dance over the Labor Day holiday and named B. O. Shaffer to head the committee to arrange the time and place for the celebration.

Road Through Ridgeley Is Being Improved

Ridgeley authorities reported last night that the West Virginia State Road Commission completed extensive improvements on Route 28 through that community yesterday.

Work began about two weeks ago on the task of widening the shoulders of the road through Ridgeley and is being completed by blacktopping the streets from curb to curb.

The use of the entire right of way will enable motorists to park on either side of the street and still allow sufficient space for two-way traffic if the 25 mile speed limit is not exceeded, Mayor B. F. Magruder pointed out last night.

He added that considerable repair work on other Ridgeley streets will be completed by the city in the near future.

New Buildings Assured For Frostburg College

Funds Provided For Science, Dining Halls

Funds have been approved by the Board of Public Works, for nearly $60,000 worth of improvements at Frostburg State Teachers College, according to a report received from Annapolis last night.

Miss Lillian C. Compton, college president outlined the plans which were proposed, and stated that part of the funds allocated were carry-over funds which were saved from the school's budget last year. About half of the fund represents new appropriations.

The improvement plan calls for an expenditure of $52,000 for a dining room extension, rewiring old buildings, new pumps, and a shower room; while $7,080 is allocated for a new science laboratory.

Miss Compton said the new science building, badly needed at the school, results from an allocation by the Federal Works Agency of 2,500 square feet of structure which has been dismantled at some millitary or naval base. The allocation is based upon the number of studvents enrolled under the GI training program. Lumber and material has already arrived at the school and the allocation of the $7,080 is for placing a foundation under the building and covering it with insulbrick to make it as permanent and modern as possible.

The new science building will house three laboratories, two offices and storage space. Present laboratories in the main building will be converted into faculty offices and other rooms made available by a few minor changes will provide more class rooms.

The dining room extension will just about double the size of the present dining room. Present dining facilities accommodate 90 persons and the extension will be designed to seat 175 with additional kitchen facilities.

Miss Compton said plans are also being considered to do some repainting and redecorating to other parts of the college and that much of this proposed work will be completed early in September. Contract for the science building foundation had already been let to the John I. Vandegrift Co., here, pending the approval of the Board of Public Works, and with their action yesterday work can start immediately, the college president declared.

The Board of Public Works also approved projects at three other State Teacher Colleges, including $50,545, for dormitory reconstruction at Bowie; $1,126 for Salisbury tennis courts, and purchase of equipment for acoustical material studies, at Towson.

Benjamin North Injured In Fall From Pear Tree

Retired P-E Worker Resting Comfortably

A 69-year-old retired Potomac Edison Company employe was admitted to Allegany Hospital yesterday morning suffering from possible back injuries as the result of a fall while picking pears on a farm at Murley's Branch near here.

The injured man, Benjamin North, 505 Maryland Avenue, was reported resting comfortably last night after X-rays were taken to determine the extent of injuries.

Mr. North, who retired two years ago from the P-E company as assistant superintendent of the Meter department, was injured about 10 o'clock as he was picking pears at the home of his brother-in-law, Harry Gordon.

A member of the family said she was told he was injured when he fell about 15 feet from a ladder after a limb of the tree broke. It was believed that a sack which contained about a half bushel of the fruit which he was carrying, helped to break the impact of the fall.

James Stowell, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Stowell, 16 John Street, Ridgeley, was admitted to Allegany yesterday morning for treatment of a fracture of the left arm suffered in a fall from a bicycle. His condition was good.

Donald Lough, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Lough, Route 3, Bedford Road, was treated in Allegany yesterday morning after he cut his right ear on a wagon and Walter Hardesty, 44, Valley Road, was treated in the afternoon for a laceration above the eyes. He said he was hit by a hammer while at work for the John I. Vandegrift construction company.

Twenty - months - old Gerald Young, son of Mrs. Mabel Young, 24 Pennsylvania Avenue, was treated and discharged from Memorial Hospital last night for injuries suffered when he was struck by a bicycle near his home.

Another child, Whitney Singhass, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Singhass, Fort Ashby, received treatment for a fractured arm. The boy was hurt when he fell last night from his bicycle.

Red Cross Disaster Plan Is Discussed

Plans for the setting up of an efficient Red Cross committee which would act in case disaster should strike Allegany County were discussed last night at the office of the Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross, Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, secretary, announced.

The meeting, called to set up a Red Cross Disaster plan, was attended by Harland Lasher, chief of the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company; Lynn Walker, safety director of the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory; Magnus Work, safety director of the Celanese plant; Thomas Gulland, of the Ballistics Laboratory, and H. Lee Silcox, Red Cross first aid chairman.

Mrs. Witherup said another meeting will be held in September to co-ordinate all Red Cross disaster committees.

Pet And Hobby Show At Park Tonight

A pet and hobby show will feature Boys' Week at Constitution Park at 6:30 o'clock tonight, followed by a stage presentation by amateur signers and dancers.

The program today is sponsored by the South End Boys Club, with any boy under 15 eligible to bring his pet or display his particular hobby. Prizes will be awarded the winners. An amateur talent hour is also planned with prizes for the best performances. Mrs. Ralph Stein, city playground supervisor, and Edgar M. Lewis will be in charge of tonight's program.

Last night a series of bicycle races for various age groups was held with several score boys and girls on hand to participate.

Saturday a full day of activity is planned beginning with swimming and diving events at 10 a. m. followed by archery matches and jitney races in the afternoon. A musical concert is being arranged for Sunday night, with a free picnic planned for Monday.

Local Man Completes Air Training Course

Army Headquarters, Keesler Field, Ala., has announced that Pfc. James W. Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Barnes, 626 North Mechanic Street, was graduated this week from the Air Training Command airplane mechanic training course at the field.

Pvt. Duane E. Fowler, Paw Paw, W. Va., is stationed at the Fourth Replacement Depot southwest of Toyko, and is assigned as a troop movement driver. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Fowler and entered the Army in March, 1946. Prior to his enlistment he was a merchant seaman.

Veterans To Cash Bonds

Allegany GI's are expected to start cashing their terminal leave bonds September 2 although no official notification has been received. Approximately 10,000 former service men and women hold an estimated $2,000,000 worth of bonds in the county. The average bond is $314.

Southern States Service To Meet Here August 13

The Cumberland Service of the Southern States Co-Operative will hold its annual meeting in Centre Street Methodist Church August 13 at 8 p. m. when officers will be elected, annual reports made and a contest held in conjunction with the evening's entertainment.

President Albert O'Neal said two members will be elected to the Board of Directors and two women will be elected to the Farm Home Advisory Committee. The Nominating Committee has already submitted four names for each election, he explained, but nominations may also be made from the floor. The committees nominees are:

Directors: Joseph Pollock, Cumberland; Floyd Buser, Oldtown; Lawrence Henckel, Mt. Savage and Paul Greise, Cumberland.

Advisory Committee: Mrs. Roy Shryock, Oldtown; Mrs. Edward Lundien, Cumberland; Mrs. W. T. McLaughlin, Oldtown and Mrs. Ralph Buser, Oldtown.

The invocation will be given by Rev. E. H. Davis, followed by an explanation of the meeting and appointment of committees and secretaries, according to O'Neal.

R. T. Jaquette, district manager, will make the Southern States annual report and Earl Morgan, Jr., will report for the Cumberland District and a discussion on "How Farmers own and control Southern States" and Southern States, Cumberland Service will follow.

A feed bag style show for the women and girls will be held following the business meeting, when the contestents will be permitted to enter garments made from feed bags, Prizes will be awarded by District Manager Jaquette.

A program of string music will be presented under the direction of Melvin R. Stewart. Refreshments will be served during the entertainment period.

President O'Neal said the meeting is open to all farmers trading in the Cumberland area and their families.

BIRTHS

Allegany Hospital reported the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Conley, Route 6, this city, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fairall, 201 Gleason Street, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson, 213 South Spruce Street, a son, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Aman, 546 North Centre Street, a son, Monday.

WAVE Gets Medal

The first Cumberland WAVE to receive the Victory Medal for service in World War II is Virginia Miller Leasure, 517 Furnace Street, the Navy Recruiting Station, announced yesterday.

Chief Edgar L. Schrader, who presented the medal, said the local girl served as a yeoman second class during the war. Forty-two Victory Medals and two American Defense Medals have already been awarded to Navy veterans of the Cumberland area, he added.

Legislative Council Gets Suggestions On Problems In Western Maryland

Various Questions Discussed At Dinner Meeting; Several Public Officials Absent

Allegany County, city and town officials as well as former Attorney General William C. Walsh fired a barrage of suggestions on ways of coping with Western Maryland's problems at members of the state Legislative Council meeting last night at Ali Ghan Country Club.

An adoption law for Allegany County.

Several Officials Absent

Sen. Robert B. Kimble, minority floor leader and host to the council, hestedly called attention to the noticeable absence at the meeting of Mayor Thomas S. Post of Cumberland; Charles N. (Jerry) Wilkinson, president of the Board of County Commissioners, Commissioner William H. Lemmert, Lewis M. Wilson, attorney to the Board of Commissioners, and City Solicitor Charles Z. Heskett.

After the meeting, Kimble said he understood the reasons for the absence of Heskett and Lemmert and added that Wilkinson told him he had a previous engagement, but he declared that Mayor Post "above everybody else," should have attended.

"He's continually harping and harping about legislation," Kimble said, "and this was his opportunity."

Former Attorney General Walsh was one of the chief speakers at the roundtable discussion following dinner, and he told the council that Garrett County needs more money for recreation.

"Once we've got this recreation," he said, "it will be no good unless people can get to it. I don't believe $5,000 has been spent on good roads here in 10 years. I suggest the Legislative Council think of a dual highway from Baltimore to Oakland."

Walsh declared that abandoning Frostburg State Teachers College as suggested by the Marbury report on higher education "just can't be done." He urged the council to "decline to move it" and recommended that it be expanded and a junior college established in Cumberland as well.

Urges Dam Completion

He suggested that the state get the two and a half million dollars needed to complete the Savage River Dam and added that the council also should consider more money for incorporated towns beyond that provided by the Sherbow Commission report.

State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris recommended that the Legislature send to Congress a resolution asking for an adjustment on discriminatory freight rates on coal. He asserted that the same rate applies for the 143 mile downhill trip from Western Maryland coal fields to Washington as for the 429 mile downhill trip from southern West Virginia to Washington.

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson declared that Allegany, Garrett and Washington Counties were left without an adoption law when the three counties were exempted from a new law passed by the 1947 session of the Legislature which they said also repealed the old law.

With this condition existing, Judge Huster said the three judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit decided to grant adoptions as in the past.

"We hope the Legislature will validate those adoptions we granted and do something to correct the situation," Judge Huster said.

Judge Henderson stated that while the new adoption law may have created some safeguards it also created obstacles to adoption in the three counties.

"We felt the old law was working all right and that it should be put into effect in these counties," said Judge Henderson. "We feel the old law was better than the new one up here."

Stewart Submits Resolution

Calling attention to efforts of the Maryland Bar Association to have a constitutional amendment submitted to the voters of the state for the abolition of the judges of the Orphans Court and transferring of the functions of the Orphans Court into the hands of the judges of the Circuit Court, Register of Wills A. Charles Stewart submitted a resolution which he said would remedy the situation.

He proposed that first appeals from Orphans Courts be taken to the Circuit Courts instead of the Court of Appeals.

Stewart said he believes the proposal to abolish the court is based upon the assumption that Orphans Court judges are laymen, "unskilled in the knowledge and practice of law and that, there, the judgments they pronounce are in the main bound to be erroneous."

Granting such an assumption to

Lack Of Water Hampers Firemen

A Wiley Ford, W. Va., family was made homeless early yesterday afternoon by a fire which raged through their four-room frame home and burned it to the ground in spite of the efforts of volunteer firemen who were hampered by lack of water.

The home, owned by Norvel Watson, who lives in the upper part of Wiley Ford, was blazing "like a matchbox," firemen said, when they arrived at the fire within three minutes after the alarm was turned in shortly before 2 o'clock.

Fire Chief H. E. Abe, of the Wiley Ford Volunteer Fire Company, said the company was hampered by the lack of water, adding that they pumped dry every well in the radius of a block in an effort to quench the flames.

He added that the roof of the home began to fall in within five minutes after the alarm was sounded as the home, covered with imitation brick siding, burned fiercely.

None of the occupants of the home were injured, firemen said, by the blaze which members of the family reported was caused by children who had been playing with candles outside a bedroom which was under construction.

Firemen said the Ridgeley Volunteer Fire Company responded to the alarm but that the companies just did not have the water to fight the blaze.

Only a few pieces of furniture were salvaged from the home since it was impossible to enter after the fire began to rage, firemen said.

At the time of the fire, Mrs. Nancy Watson, her daughter, Mrs. Dempsey Farris, Akron, Ohio, who was visiting the family, and Mrs. Frank Watson, her daughter-in-law, and several other of her eight children were at home, but all managed to escape unhurt.

Mr. Watson, who has to use crutches to walk, was visiting in Elkins, W. Va., when the fire occured, neighbors said.

Mrs. Watson and her children were being quartered in the homes of relatives and friends last night.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL—Maryland's Legislative Council met with county, city and town officials at Ali Ghan Country Club last night to learn some problems facing Western Maryland. Melincove (D-Baltimore 4th); Delegate Edwin C. Bustard (D-Baltimore County); Sen. George W. Della (D-Baltimore 6th); and Delegate John C. Luber (D-Baltimore 5th).

State Conclave Here August 30-31

J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets, elected 10 delegates and 10 alternates at their regular meeting last night to represent the post at the second annual convention to be held here August 30 and 31, and Post Commander Norman Gerdeman named additional members of the general convention committee.

The post also received its copy of the newly authorized national charter and all members, paid up for 1947, will sign the new charter as national charter members.

Gerdeman said plans for the convention are being formulated, and headquarters for the two-day session will be at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Saturday's business sessions will be in the hotel and Sunday's session will be held at the post headquarters.

In addition to the local delegation, about 50 delegates from posts at Frederick, Middletown, Oakland, Grantsville, Rockville, and Tacoma Park are registered. The largest delegation will come from Frederick, which is sending 15.

National headquarters of the Amvets at Washington has informed the local post that several national officers will be here for the convention.

Delegates elected to represent the local post include, John R. Kelly, Jr., Homer Higgins, Edward Meconi, John Kington, Thomas B. Finan, Jr., William B. Spangler, William A. Burns, James J. Kloran, F. Allan Weatherholt and Olen Bennett.

Alternates are, Bert Graham, Edward Finan, A. J. Sell, Suter Kegg, Frank Ruehl, Edward Lewis, John Grooby, Turner Summers, Joseph Harvey and W. Earle Cobey.

Gerdeman named Kloran, Summers, Meconi and Weatherholt to the general convention committee, which already included Spangler, Grooby and William B. Orndorff.

Court Releases Woman On Writ Of Habeas Corpus

Commitment Papers Ruled Defective

Mrs. Georgia Winkler, Westernport, was released from the county jail yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus filed by her attorney, Estel C. Kelley.

Mrs. Winkler was ordered released by Chief Judge William A. Huster when Kelley argued that commitment papers had not been properly prepared.

Counsel for Mrs. Winkler contended she had been charged with "malicious destruction of property and drunk and disorderly conduct, and had been sentenced to jail by Magistrate John Laughlin, August 1, at Westernport.

Kelley said commitment papers should have included two documents covering separate charges but that all charges had been included on one paper. Kelley said this made the commitment defective and he was upheld by the Court.

Judge Huster said that Magistrate Laughlin is responsible in Westernport for seeing that people keep the peace, and his sentence in the case was proper, except that there should have been two commitment papers in the case.

Mrs. Winkler was tried by Laughlin after she was arrested on a warrant obtained by her husband who charged she had torn wiring out of his truck. The woman contended he made threats to run the truck over an embankment with her in it, and she removed the wiring to disable the vehicle. Magistrate Laughlin told the Court the couple has been having frequent arguments.

This was the second case Attorney Kelley handled within a week, in which a defendant was released from jail on a habeas corpus writ. Kelley filed a petition for a writ to gain the release of James Jones, negro, who had been sentenced to 90 days in jail by Juvenile Court Magistrate Thomas E. Stakem, and Jones was released on Monday by Judge Huster.

Army Paratrooper Hit With Bottle; Local Man Held

A United States Paratrooper was in fairly good condition in Memorial Hospital early this morning, and police were holding a local man for investigation as the result of an altercation in Subway Tavern, Virginia Avenue.

Hospital attaches said Sgt. Marvin Liller, 25, who was visiting his home, 13 Laing Avenue, on furlough, suffered lacerations of the forehead, upper and lower lip, after he was struck in the mouth with a beer bottle.

Police identified the man they were holding as Claudis Hill, Homer Street, and said he was arrested after he admitted striking Liller in the mouth with a beer bottle "just once."

According to patrons of the tavern, police said, Liller was standing at a counter in the front of the building, when Hill walked up and struck him with the bottle.

Police took Liller to the hospital and began searching for Hill. They said Hill was found after a 15 minute search lying asleep in a vacant lot at the end of South Street.

Police said Hill is being held for investigation pending the outcome of Liller's injures. Attaches said the man was admitted, while police confirmed a statement that he had "lost a lot of blood."

Paper Mill Contract Talks Are Resumed

Contract talks between United Paper Workers of America CIO, and the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, covering plants at Luke, Covington, Va., and Williamsburg, Pa., were resumed yesterday at 10 a. m. at Frostburg. After a session which lasted several hours, the negotiations were tabled until 10 a. m. today when talks will continue.

Negotiations for a new contract began in Huntingdon, Pa., late last month and after four days recessed until yesterday to give union representatives a chance to report to their locals and company officials to confer with management. Present contract expires August 20.

Seeks Divorce

Suit for divorce was docketed in Circuit Court yesterday by Lulu W. Smith, vs. Boyd U. Smith.

More Neighborhood Playgrounds Desirable

Cumberland's functions thus far in the field of recreation satisfy only a portion of the needs of recreation in its broader aspects, according to the report of Whitman, Requardt and Associates, Baltimore engineers, to the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission.

The responsibility of the city has in most instances been limited to the providing of parks, playgrounds and similar recreation areas, the furnishing of adequate supervision of certain phases of recreational activity and the maintaining of facilities in good condition for continued use, the report points out.

While satisfying only a portion of the needs, these functions are termed highly important in the sense that municipalities, through accepted custom and usage, have an obligation to provide basic physical facilities on which must of the active and passive urban recreational pursuits of individuals and groups depend for success.

Recreation Necessary

The report finds recreation in its broad sense to be a necessity not only for the school age group but also for the entire population of the entire community group. The diverse activities which are part of recreation, according to the report, cover the entire field of indoor and outdoor hobbies, avocations and spare time pursuits, both individual and group.

It is viewed as necessary and desirable that the municipal government provide and maintain certain basic facilities, sponsor other semi-public activities and encourage private recreational pursuits by having and offering space and various types of equipment which the individual or small group cannot furnish. The city also is found to be able to do much to co-ordinate recreational activities by supplying basic information needed to develop a broad, well-rounded program.

Cumberland is termed deficient in neighborhood playgrounds for children of pre-school and grade 1 age and the report points out that existing facilities of this sort are now almost wholly an adjunct of the school system except for the neighbodhoods immediately adjacent to the North End, East Side and South End playgrounds.

Six Playgrounds Recommended

It is recommended that the city either immediately or along with the school system acquire and develop neighborhood playgrounds in the following sections:

1. North Centre Street section between B. and O. Railroad and Wills Creek north of B. and O. viaduct.

2. North Centre Street section, between B. and O. Railroad and Wills Creek, south of B. and O. viaduct.

3. Mid-town section, east of B. and O. Railroad in vicinity of Williams Road.

4. South End section, west of Virginia Avenue north of B. and O. Railroad.

5. Southeast section, south of

IS DROWNED—Miss Rose Mary Mathias, 23, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Mathias, Frostburg, was drowned yesterday when a flash flood swept her into a mountain stream in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park near Gatlinburg, Tenn.

Frostburg School Teacher Drowns In Tennessee

Miss Rose Mary Mathias, 23, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Mathias, Frost Avenue, Frostburg, was drowned yesterday when a flash flood swept her into a mountain stream in the Great Smokey Mountain National Park near Gatlinburg, Tenn.

Sevier County, Tenn., officers reported Miss Mathias and three friends were sitting on a rock at a scenic spot along Little Pigeon River when the torrent washed them into the stream.

The officers said the others escaped. A searching party was seeking late last night to recover Miss Mathias' body.

Miss Mathias taught at Beall High School, Frostburg for the past two years.

Besides her parents she is survived by two brothers, William Mathias, Pennsylvania, and John Mathias at home.

Miss Mathias was graduated from Ursuline Academy, this city, in 1940 and was awarded a scholarship to College of New Rochelle, N. Y. where she graduated with a degree in mathematics.

Held For Investigation

A man identified as Frank Corrick, this city, arrested yesterday at 1:55 p. m. by Officer W. P. Crabtree was being held in city jail for investigation last night, police said.

Charles G. Smith Is Elected State Head Of Forty & Eight

Retired Cumberland Fireman Honored

Charles G. Smith, Mt. Savage Road, Army veteran of World War I, was elected grand chef de gare of the Grand Voiture 40 and 8 Department of Maryland at the state convention in Baltimore yesterday. He succeeds Ralph G. Dolby Baltimore, and this marks the second time he has held an office in the state department of the veterans' organization. In 1945 he was grand chef de train.

Smith has been active in the American Legion and 40 and 8 here for a number of years. In 1943-44, he served as commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, and since about that time has taken an active part in the affairs of Voiture No. 164, Cumberland 40 and 8.

He is well known here as a city fireman for 20 years, and drove one of the city fire trucks during most of that period. He was retired in 1942, and the last year he served was as city fire inspector.

Since his retirement he and Mrs. Smith have operated confectionery stores here. They were located on South Johnson Street for a time, but for the past two years have operated a business at 600 Baltimore Avenue.

CHARLES G. SMITH
Grand Chef De Gare

Smith's mother, Mrs. Eva Smith, 600 Central Avenue, is known here as the first World War I mother to serve as president of the ladies auxiliary of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Traffic Victims Docket Claims

Two damage suits are docketed in Circuit Court as the result of traffic mishaps with claims totalling $20,000. One suit involves a triple collision and the other involves injuries to a pedestrian who was struck by a car which ran onto a sidewalk.

Damages of $15,000 are sought by Charles W. Leddy, 61, 214 South Smallwood Street, through his attorney F. Brooks Whiting. the suit is docketed against Edmund J. Phillipi, Hyndman, Pa.; Raymond L. Williams, and Thomas A. Cline, 416 Arch Street.

Leddy claims he was riding in the car operated by Cline on Uhl Highway, three miles east of Cumberland, June 7, and due to negligence on the part of Cline and the drivers of two other machines, Phillipi and Williams, a triple car collision occurred and he was permanently injured, and crippled for life. Leddy claims he suffered a broken arm and elbow, puncture wound of the right side, broken rib, brain concussion and other injuries.

Besides Leddy, four other persons were injured in the crash, Phillipi suffered a fractured right leg and abrasions; his wife, Mrs. May Phillipi, received treatment for cuts about the leg, Cline suffered minor injuries, and George Deal, of Swissvale, Pa., received a nose injury and laceration above the right eye.

State Troopers W. L. Wilt and George Coddington investigated the triple crash. After the collision, one of the machines caught fire in some manner and the North Branch Volunteer Fire Company answered the alarm.

John E. Rose, 37, coal miner of Riordan Road, Westernport, entered suit for $5,000 damages against James Thomas Warnick, Moscow, through his attorneys Thomas Lohr Richards, this city and H. G. Shores of Keyser, W. Va.

Rose charges he was standing on the sidewalk of Main Street, in Westernport, the night of July 5, at about 11 p. m., talking to his wife and a friend, when Warnick drove his car onto the sidewalk, knocked him down and failed to stop. Rose contends he was injured as a result of the incident and further charges that Maryland State Police later arrested Warnick.

According to police Warnick was arrested about two and a half hours after the incident by State Trooper A. M. Spioch.

Rose was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va., at the time by Officer Earl Hawk in Westernport's emergency car, where he was treated for contusions and abrasions.

Kelly Contract Talks Will Resume Monday

Contract negotiations with the Kelly Springfield Tire Company will be resumed Monday morning at 10 o'clock, A. E. Johnson, president of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, announced yesterday.

No progress was reported by union officials as a result of sessions held Wednesday and yesterday and Johnson said the four major issues, severance pay, reduction in hours before furloughs are placed into effect, vacations and hours of work and overtime, are still unsettled.

Union officials reported that members were "not too well pleased" with the report of negotiations presented last night at a membership meeting.

The local voted to hold a social and dance over the Labor Day holiday and named B. O. Shaffer to head the committee to arrange the time and place for the celebration.

Road Through Ridgeley Is Being Improved

Ridgeley authorities reported last night that the West Virginia State Road Commission completed extensive improvements on Route 28 through that community yesterday.

Work began about two weeks ago on the task of widening the shoulders of the road through Ridgeley and is being completed by blacktopping the streets from curb to curb.

The use of the entire right of way will enable motorists to park on either side of the street and still allow sufficient space for two-way traffic if the 25 mile speed limit is not exceeded, Mayor B. F. Magruder pointed out last night.

He added that considerable repair work on other Ridgeley streets will be completed by the city in the near future.

Funds Provided For Science, Dining Halls

Funds have been approved by the Board of Public Works, for nearly $60,000 worth of improvements at Frostburg State Teachers College, according to a report received from Annapolis last night.

Miss Lillian C. Compton, college president outlined the plans which were proposed, and stated that part of the funds allocated were carryover funds which were saved from the school's budget last year. About half of the fund represents new appropriations.

The improvement plan calls for an expenditure of $52,000 for a dining room extension, rewiring old buildings, new pumps, and a shower room; while $7,080 is allocated for a new science laboratory.

Miss Compton said the new science building, badly needed at the school, results from an allocation by the Federal Works Agency of 2,500 square feet of structure which has been dismantled at some milititary or naval base. The allocation is based upon the number of studvents enrolled under the GI training program. Lumber and material has already arrived at the school and the allocation of the $7,080 is for placing a foundation under the building and covering it with insulbrick to make it as permanent and modern as possible.

The new science building will house three laboratories, two offices and storage space. Present laboratories in the main building will be converted into faculty offices and other rooms made available by a few minor changes will provide more class rooms.

The dining room extension will just about double the size of the present dining room. Present dining facilities accommodate 90 persons and the extension will be designed to seat 175 with additional kitchen facilities.

Miss Compton said plans are also being considered to do some repainting and redecorating to other parts of the college and that much of this proposed work will be completed early in September. Contract for the science building foundation had already been let to the John I. Vandegrift Co., here, pending the approval of the Board of Public Works, and with their action yesterday work can start immediately, the college president declared.

The Board of Public Works also approved projects at three other State Teacher Colleges, including $50,545, for dormitory reconstruction at Bowie; $1,126 for Salisbury tennis courts, and purchase of equipment for acoustical material studies, at Towson.

Benjamin North Injured In Fall From Pear Tree

Retired P-E Worker Resting Comfortably

A 69-year-old retired Potomac Edison Company employe was admitted to Allegany Hospital yesterday morning suffering from possible back injuries as the result of a fall while picking pears on a farm at Murley's Branch near here.

The injured man, Benjamin North, 505 Maryland Avenue, was reported resting comfortably last night after X-rays were taken to determine the extent of injuries.

Mr. North, who retired two years ago from the P-E company as assistant superintendent of the Meter department, was injured about 10 o'clock as he was picking pears at the home of his brother-in-law, Harry Gordon.

A member of the family said she was told he was injured when he fell about 15 feet from a ladder after a limb of the tree broke. It was believed that a sack which contained about a half bushel of the fruit which he was carrying, helped to break the impact of the fall.

James Stowell, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Stowell, 16 John Street, Ridgeley, was admitted to Allegany yesterday morning for treatment of a fracture of the left arm suffered in a fall from a bicycle. His condition was good.

Donald Lough, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Lough, Route 3, Bedford Road, was treated in Allegany yesterday morning after he cut his right ear on a wagon and Walter Hardesty, 44, Valley Road, was treated in the afternoon for a laceration above the eyes. He said he was hit by a hammer while at work for the John I. Vandegrift construction company.

Twenty - months - old Gerald Young, son of Mrs. Mabel Young, 24 Pennsylvania Avenue, was treated and discharged from Memorial Hospital last night for injuries suffered when he was struck by a bicycle near his home.

Another child, Whitney Singhass, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Singhass, Fort Ashby, received treatment for a fractured arm. The boy was hurt when he fell last night from his bicycle.

Red Cross Disaster Plan Is Discussed

Plans for the setting up of an efficient Red Cross committee which would act in case disaster should strike Allegany County were discussed last night at the office of the Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross, Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, secretary, announced.

The meeting, called to set up a Red Cross Disaster plan, was attended by Harland Lasher, chief of the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company; Lynn Walker, safety director of the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory; Magnus Work, safety director of the Celanese plant; Thomas Gulland, of the Ballistics Laboratory, and H. Lee Silcox, Red Cross first aid chairman.

Mrs. Witherup said another meeting will be held in September to co-ordinate all Red Cross disaster committees.

Pet And Hobby Show At Park Tonight

A pet and hobby show will feature Boys' Week at Constitution Park at 6:30 o'clock tonight, followed by a stage presentation by amateur signers and dancers.

The program today is sponsored by the South End Boys Club, with any boy under 15 eligible to bring his pet or display his particular hobby. Prizes will be awarded the winners. An amateur talent hour is also planned with prizes for the best performances. Mrs. Ralph Stein, city playground supervisor, and Edgar M. Lewis will be in charge of tonight's program.

Last night a series of bicycle races for various age groups was held with several score boys and girls on hand to participate.

Saturday a full day of activity is planned beginning with swimming and diving events at 10 a. m. followed by archery matches and jitney races in the afternoon. A musical concert is being arranged for Sunday night, with a free picnic planned for Monday.

Local Man Completes Air Training Course

Army Headquarters, Keesler Field, Ala., has announced that Pfc. James W. Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Barnes, 626 North Mechanic Street, was graduated this week from the Air Training Command airplane mechanic training course at the field.

Pvt. Duane E. Fowler, Paw Paw, W. Va., is stationed at the Fourth Replacement Depot southwest of Toyko, and is assigned as a troop movement driver. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Fowler and entered the Army in March, 1946. Prior to his enlistment he was a merchant seaman.

Veterans To Cash Bonds

Allegany GI's are expected to start cashing their terminal leave bonds September 2 although no official notification has been received. Approximately 10,000 former service men and women hold an estimated $2,000,000 worth of bonds in the county. The average bond is $214.

Southern States Service To Meet Here August 13

The Cumberland Service of the Southern States Co-Operative will hold its annual meeting in Centre Street Methodist Church August 13 at 8 p. m. when officers will be elected, annual reports made and a contest held in conjunction with the evening's entertainment.

President Albert O'Neal said two members will be elected to the Board of Directors and two women will be elected to the Farm Home Advisory Committee. The Nominating Committee has already submitted four names for each election, he explained, but nominations may also be made from the floor. The committees nominees are:

Directors: Joseph Pollock, Cumberland; Floyd Buser, Oldtown; Lawrence Henckel, Mt. Savage and Paul Greise, Cumberland.

Advisory Committee: Mrs. Roy Shryock, Oldtown; Mrs. Edward Lundien, Cumberland; Mrs. W. T. McLaughlin, Oldtown and Mrs. Ralph Buser, Oldtown.

The invocation will be given by Rev. E. H. Davis, followed by an explanation of the meeting and appointment of committees and secretaries, according to O'Neal.

R. T. Jaquette, district manager, will make the Southern States annual report and Earl Morgan, Jr., will report for the Cumberland District and a discussion on "How Farmers own and control Southern States" and Southern States, Cumberland Service will follow.

A feed bag style show for the women and girls will be held following the business meeting, when the contestents will be permitted to enter garments made from feed bags, Prizes will be awarded by District Manager Jaquette.

A program of string music will be presented under the direction of Melvin R. Stewart. Refreshments will be served during the entertainment period.

President O'Neal said the meeting is open to all farmers trading in the Cumberland area and their families.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Conley, Route 6, this city, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fairall, 201 Gleason Street, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson, 213 South Spruce Street, a son, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Aman, 546 North Centre Street, a son, Monday.

WAVE Gets Medal

The first Cumberland WAVE to receive the Victory Medal for service in World War II is Virginia Miller Leasure, 517 Furnace Street, the Navy Recruiting Station, announced yesterday.

Chief Edgar L. Schrader, who presented the medal, said the local girl served as a yeoman second class during the war. Forty-two Victory Medals and two American Defense Medals have already been awarded to Navy veterans of the Cumberland area, he added.
